CHAPTER VIII.

MORTGAGE INSURANCE.

Sec. 453aa. Mortgage insurance companies subject to insurance laws; may do mortgage insurance business.

Sec. 453bb. Policy of mortgage insurance defined.

Sec. 453c. Capital stock of mortgage insurance companies.

Sec. 453dd. Kind and amount of investments they may be permitted.

Sec. 453ee. Guaranteed mortgages and trust deeds to be legal investments. Premiums may be paid from income.

Sec. 453ff. Must have certificate of authority; revocation.

Sec. 453gg. Loans and investments.

Sec. 453hh. Quarterly reports to insurance commissioner.

453aa. The insurance commissioner shall have the same power and authority regarding any mortgage insurance corporation that he may exercise in relation to other insurance corporations incorporated under the laws of this state, including the right to examine and inspect the business, methods and affairs of such corporation, and to compel compliance with the provisions of law governing the same in every respect.

453bb. A certificate or guaranty issued by a mortgage insurance company organized under the laws of this state, whereby such company guarantees or insures to be paid certain sum or sums of money secured by mortgage or trust deed upon real property, or guarantees or insures as to the validity of title thereto, or as to the payment of principal or interest of a bond or bonds secured by mortgage or trust deed, or as to a group of mortgages, bonds or bonds and in the mortgages and trust deeds securing the same, which certificate or guaranty purports to guarantee the payment of the principal thereof, or other sums agreed to be paid under the terms of any such bond or bonds secured by mortgage or trust deed, or other sums secured under the terms of any such mortgage or trust deed and the guaranteeing or insuring thereby or otherwise agreed upon thereby, shall be deemed a policy or mortgage insurance.

When such certificate or guaranty guarantees or refers to the validity of title or other partial interest as above stated, the policy guaranteeing the same may be endorsed to that and is hereby designated as a "mortgage guarantee policy," and when such certificate or guaranty guarantees or refers to the entire interest in fee simple, the policy guaranteeing the same may be endorsed to be and is hereby designated as a "mortgage guaranty" or as "mortgage insurance" policy.

453cc. No mortgage insurance company shall issue or deliver and policy of mortgage insurance without having a capital stock of at least one hundred thousand dollars fully paid in, in cash.

453dd. No mortgage insurance company shall guarantee the payment of any note or bond secured by any mortgage or trust deed except the same be a first lien upon a marketable title in fee to the property therein described. No mortgage insurance company shall guarantee under any mortgage or trust deed a principal amount exceeding sixty per centum of the market value of the real estate upon its security therefor. No mortgage insurance company shall have at any time outstanding policies of mortgage insurance exceeding in amount of principal guaranteed thereunder twenty times the amount of its paid-up capital and surplus: and provided, further, that certificates so issued or guaranteed so made or proposed so issued by mortgage insurance companies organized under the provisions of this Act shall not be deemed to be debts created by the directors in violation of, or contrary to the provisions of section three hundred nine of the Civil Code, nor make the directors or any of them liable thereon. No loan shall be made by any mortgage insurance company directly or indirectly to any of its officers or directors. A violation of any of the terms or provisions of this section shall not make any policy or guarantee of such company void or voidable, but any officer, director, agent or other employee of any such company who knowingly consents to any violation of any of the terms or provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

4336*e*. Mortgages or trust deeds executed by any such mortgage insurance company, in compliance with the terms of this chapter and the rules and bonds secured thereby and mortgage participation certificates, mortgage guaranties and other mortgages or securities declared by Section 4336*d* shall be legal investments for all trust funds held by any executor, administrator, guardian, trustee or other person holding trust funds for investment and by the funds of insurance companies, banks, banking associations and trust companies, and all premiums paid on such guaranties and certificates may be charged to or paid out of the income from such loans or bonds, or may be paid by any such copayment to be in a mortgage participation certificate or certificates, the mortgage or mortgages and deed or deeds of trust referred to in such certificates, together with the note or notes and bond or bonds secured by the same, shall be assigned to a trust company organized and doing business under the laws of this state, and shall be held by such trust company as security for the payment of said mortgage participation certificates, including all of the mortgages and other securities assigned by such mortgages and deeds of trust so assigned, and for the performance of all of the conditions of said mortgage participation certificates imposed thereby upon the mortgage insurance company issuing the same; and such trust company shall certify on each such mortgage participation certificate that the aggregate amount of the certificates issued evidencing and conferring participation in such mortgages and deeds of trust and to the notes and bonds secured thereby does not exceed the principal of the notes evidenced and secured by such mortgages and deeds of trust; and provided, also, that such investment shall be accompanied by a duplicate copy of the appraisement and of the certificate of the directors required by the provisions of this chapter.

4336*f*. No corporation shall make any insurance contract or issue any policy of mortgage insurance, or engage in the business of a mortgage insurance company until it has obtained from the insurance commissioner his certificate that such company has complied with the provisions of this chapter and is duly authorized to do business as such mortgage insurance company; provided, that any corporation heretofore organized under the laws of this state for the purpose of guaranteeing the payment of mortgages shall have the right to transact business as a mortgage insurance company until the first day of January A. D. 1914; provided, also, that the failure of such company to obtain the certificate of the insurance commissioner required by the terms of this Act as to future applications shall terminate such right to transact such business until such certificate shall be obtained.

4336*g*. A mortgage insurance company may invest its capital and accumulations in the following named securities:

1. In the purchase of, or loans upon interest-bearing bonds of the United States, or those for which the faith and credit of the United States are pledged for the payment of principal and interest.

2. In the purchase of, or loans upon interest-bearing bonds of any of the states of the United States not in default for interest on such bonds, including bonds of this state or those for which the faith and credit of the State of California are pledged for the payment of principal and interest.

3. In the purchase of, or loans upon interest-bearing bonds of any of the counties and incorporated cities and towns and duly organized school districts of any state or territory of the United States not in default for interest on such bonds.

4. In the purchase of, or loans upon interest-bearing bonds of irrigation districts as provided or authorized by Section 8 of an Act entitled "An Act relating to bonds of irrigation districts, providing under what circumstances such bonds may be made legal investments for the funds of banks, banking associations, trust companies, insurance companies, and for the state school funds and trust funds and providing for the deposit of such bonds as security for public moneys and providing for a commission for approving certain bonds of irrigation districts for a report thereon for the filing of such report for a certificate of the state controller and for the recording of such bonds in the office of the state controller," approved December 18, 1911.

5. In loans secured by mortgage or deed of trust upon real estate, improved or unimproved, or in the purchase of or loans upon notes or bonds so secured: provided, that the principal so loaned or the entire note or bond issue under such mortgage or deed of trust shall not exceed sixty per centum of the market value of such real estate with improvements taken as security: and provided further, in case said loan is made or said note or bond issue secured by a building not on real estate, that at no time shall the principal so loaned, or the entire note or bond issue, exceed sixty per centum of the market value of the real estate and the actual cost of the improvements thereon taken as security. No mortgage insurance company shall invest in, hold or own any of the capital stock of any other corporation, nor make any loan, in whole or in part, on the security of the capital stock of any other corporation.

[illegible] Every mortgage insurance company shall make a report to [illegible] the mortgage commissioner, which report shall be made annually and shall be verified by the oath of its president or vice-president and by the oath of its secretary or any two of its principal officers. Such report shall contain a statement in full and true detail of all such insurance issued by such company since the last preceding report, stating specifically and separately such facts relative to each insurance issued as may be required by the mortgage commissioner, and such other facts relative to the business of such company as may be required by the mortgage commissioner.

[illegible] Before such policy requires the use of such insurance agreement, such report shall specify separately the following facts regarding the land on which the premises are located and regarding the security thereby granted, namely:

1. The assessed valuation of unimproved land;
2. A description of the improvements upon the land;
3. Separately, the assessed value of the said land and the assessed value of the improvements thereon, if any, as shown by the assessment records for the purposes of this section and the assessed value of such land and improvements;
4. The book and page in the records of the [illegible] in which the said deeds of trust securing the loan.

When such policy relates to a mortgage participation certificate or certificates, such report shall identify separately in connection with said said certificates the following facts regarding the loan or loans on which the participation certificate or certificates are issued and regarding the security thereby granted, namely:

1. The aggregate amount of principal thereof outstanding on the date as shown in bond or bonds secured by the mortgage or mortgages or deed or deeds of trust referred to in such certificate or certificates, said outstanding principal amounts to which such participation certificates or certificates are issued and evidencing the amount of principal payable by each such mortgagor on part of loan;
2. A description of the property securing any loan under such mortgage;
3. Separately, the assessed value of the said land and the assessed value of the improvements thereon, if any, securing any loan under such mortgage or deed of trust, the appraisement provided for by the terms of such policy, and the aggregate value of such land and improvements;
4. The book and page of the record of each such mortgage or deed of trust constituting such security.
5. The aggregate amount of such participation certificates issued against the mortgage or mortgages, or deed or deeds of trust forming the security for such participation certificate.

There shall be filed with such report by superintendent of such mortgage insurance of property taken as security as mentioned in such report an official appraisement, which appraisement shall be made by a person or corporation designated or approved by the mortgage commissioner, and approved by him as otherwise fitted for the insurance commissioner to be competent to make such appraisement. In such appraisement the assessed value of land apart from any and all of the improvements thereon, if any, and the aggregate value of such parcel of land and improvements shall be stated, together with a general statement of the appearance of such land and of the kind and condition of such improvements, if any.

Such appraisement shall be signed and verified by such appraiser, or by an officer of the company making such appraisement, and shall be dated by said officer to at least thirty days prior to the date of the issuance of such mortgage insurance company certifying to the effect that the statements therein are substantiated with the said property upon situating the security, and that to the actual of the officers and such of their such appraisement is correct, and that the said property described therein is fairly worth the amount of the appraisement, and the said appraiser may also state and also certify that the principal amount loaned on the security of such property does not exceed sixty per centum of the market value of such property which is security for such loan, and also that the mortgage or deed of trust securing such loan is a first lien upon a marketable title to the property securing [illegible].

In case of the neglect or failure of any such mortgage insurance company to make any such quarterly report as herein provided, such company shall be liable therefor, and shall forfeit to the State of California the sum of one hundred dollars for each day during which such neglect or failure continues, provided, however, that the insurance commissioner shall have the authority to extend the time within which any such report may be filed for not exceeding a period of ten days.

Amendment adopted.

Bill read second time, and ordered to print, engrossment and third reading.

Senate Bill No. 1478—An Act to amend the Civil Code by changing the headings of the title to Chapter II, of Title II, of Part IV, of Division First, of said Civil Code, and to amend Sections 421 and 429 of said Civil Code, and to repeal Section 432 of said Civil Code, forming part of said Chapter II, and to add to said Civil Code a new chapter, to be known as Chapter VII, of Title II, of Part IV, of Division First, of said Civil Code, relating to title insurance companies.

During second reading of the bill, the following amendment was offered by the committee:

On page 1, line 1, of the printed bill, after the words "Section 1," strike out the whole of the printed bill, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

The headings of the title of Chapter II, of Title II, of Part IV, of Division First, of the Civil Code are hereby changed to read as follows:

CHAPTER II.

FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE CORPORATIONS.

Sec. 424. Payment of subscriptions. Capital to be all paid in twelve months.
Sec. 425. Certificate of capital stock paid up to be filed, and when.
Sec. 426. Property which may be insured.
Sec. 428. Limit of one risk.
Sec. 429. Amounts to be reserved before making dividends.
Sec. 430. Reservations by companies with less than two hundred thousand dollars capital.

SEC. 2. Section 421 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

421. Companies organized under the laws of this state for the transaction of business in any kind of insurance may invest their capital and accumulations in the following named securities:

1. In the purchase of, or loans upon interest-bearing bonds of the United States, or those for which the faith and credit of the United States are pledged for the payment of principal and interest.

2. In the purchase of, or loans upon interest-bearing bonds of any of the states of the United States not in default for interest on such bonds, including bonds of this state, or those for which the faith and credit of the State of California are pledged for the payment of principal and interest.

3. In the purchase of, or loans upon interest-bearing bonds of any of the counties and incorporated cities and towns and duly organized school districts of any state or territory of the United States not in default for interest on such bonds.

4. In the purchase of, or loans upon interest-bearing bonds of irrigation districts as provided or authorized by Section 8 of an Act entitled "An Act relating to bonds of irrigation districts, providing under what circumstances such bonds may be made legal investments for the funds of banks, banking associations, trust companies, insurance companies, and for the state school funds and trust funds, and providing for the deposit of such bonds as security for public moneys, and providing for a commission for approving certain bonds of irrigation districts, for a report thereon, for the filing of such report, for a certificate of the state controller, and for the recording of such bonds in the office of the state controller," approved December 18, 1911.

5. In loans secured by mortgage or deed of trust upon real estate, improved or unimproved, or in the purchase of, or loans upon notes or bonds so secured; provided, that the principal so loaned, or the entire note or bond issue under such mortgage or deed of trust shall not exceed sixty per centum of the market value of such real estate with improvements taken as security; and provided, further, in case said loan is made, or said note or bond issue created for a building loan on real estate, that at no time shall the principal so loaned or the entire note or bond issue exceed sixty per centum of the market value of the real estate and the actual cost of the improvements thereon taken as security.

6. Companies organized for and engaged in the business of fire, life and marine insurance, may, after the investment of two hundred thousand dollars, and companies duly formed or organized for the transaction of business in any other kind of insurance except mortgage insurance may, after the investment of one hundred thousand dollars, in the manner provided in subdivisions one, two, three, four and five of this section, invest the balance of their capital and any accumulations in the purchase of, or loans upon the stock of any corporation (except mining companies) organized and carrying on business under the laws of the State of California which have at the time of investment a market value of not less than their paid in value, and which are rated as first-class securities, or in interest bearing bonds of any corporation of any state or territory of the United States not in default for interest on such bonds; provided, that a two-thirds vote of all the directors of such corporation shall appears such is necessary. It shall be the duty of the officers of said corporations to report quarterly during the months of January, April, July and October of each year to the insurance commissioner a list of such transfers as may be made by them, and the insurance commissioner may at such times as he may deem necessary require to be made under oath a statement of any or all of the assets and liabilities of the company. But no investments in the securities named in subdivisions one, two, three, four and five of this section shall be made to an amount exceeding the market value of such securities, at the date of such investment.

7. Life insurance companies may loan upon their own policies, provided that the amount so loaned upon such policy shall not exceed the reserve actually held at the time said loan is granted; further that no policy loan hereafter shall ever be paid or secretly agreed upon or negotiated with the intention of circumventing under Section 643 of the Penal Code, and provided further, that whenever any such loan is not repaid or liquidated in full, the amount of such loan, with interest as provided in Section 634 of the Penal Code, may appropriately be charged with the insurance commissioner, and evidence of title shall consist either of a full abstract of title, a full certificate of title, or a policy of title insurance, and such evidence of title shall be examined and approved by or under the direction of the insurance commissioner. The value of the property covered by each such mortgage or deed of trust, shall be appraised by one or more appraisers selected or approved by the insurance commissioner. The appraisers shall be residents of the county in which the property or some part thereof is situated. The reasonable cost of examining such evidence of title and of making such appraisement, shall be paid by the title insurance company making such deposit, and shall not exceed twenty dollars for examining the title to the property covered by each mortgage or deed of trust, nor five dollars for each appraiser not exceeding two, besides the necessary expenses of such appraisers. Any such corporation organized under the laws of this state and having a capital stock paid in, in cash, of more than one hundred thousand dollars and after depositing said guarantee fund as above provided, may invest an amount not exceeding fifty per cent of its subscribed capital stock in the preparation and purchase of materials or plant necessary to enable it to engage in such title insurance business; and such materials or plant shall be deemed an asset, valued at the actual cost thereof, in all statements and proceedings required by law for the ascertainment and determination of the condition of such corporation, or at such lesser value as may be estimated by such corporation in any such statement or proceeding, or omitted entirely therefrom.

453*a*. Every title insurance company shall annually set apart a sum, equal to ten per cent of its premiums collected during the year, which sums shall be allowed to accumulate until a fund shall have been created equal in amount to twenty-five per cent of the subscribed capital stock of such corporation. Such fund shall be maintained as a further security to holders of the guarantees and policies of insurance issued by such corporation, and shall be known as the "Title insurance surplus fund"; and if at any time such fund shall be impaired by reason of a loss, the amount by which it may be impaired shall be restored in the manner hereinabove provided for its accumulation. The reporting of a loss shall be deemed an impairment of such fund for the purposes of this section. Such corporation must not make any dividends except from profits remaining on hand after retaining unimpaired:

1. The entire subscribed capital stock.

2. The amount set apart as a surplus fund under the provisions of this section.

3. A sum sufficient to pay all liabilities for expenses and taxes, and all losses reported or in course of settlement, without impairment of the title insurance surplus fund required to be set apart as hereinabove provided.

453*b*. Any written contract or instrument purporting to show the title to real property, or furnish information relative thereto, which shall in express terms purport to insure or guarantee such title or the correctness of such information, shall be deemed a policy of title insurance.

453*c*. Every title insurance company organized under the laws of this state shall also have power to guarantee or insure the identity, due execution, and validity of any note or bond secured by mortgage or trust deed, and the identity, due execution and validity and recording of any such mortgage or trust deed, and the identity, due execution and validity of bonds, notes or other evidence of indebtedness issued by this state, or by any county, city and county, city, school district, irrigation district or other municipality or district therein, or by any private or public corporation, and to act as registrar or transfer agent of this state or of any county, city and county, city, school district, irrigation district, or other municipality or district therein, or of any private or public corporation, and to transfer or countersign any such bonds, notes or other evidence of indebtedness and to transfer or countersign certificates of stock of any private or public corporation.

453*d*. Any title insurance corporation incorporated under the general incorporation laws of this state, authorized by its articles of incorporation to act as executor, administrator, guardian, assignee, receiver, depositary, agent or trustee, or to do a general trust business, and having a capital of not less than three hundred thousand dollars actually paid in, in cash, may also do business as a trust company, and maintain a trust department as well as a title insurance department, or compliance with the following conditions:

1. When such title insurance company desires to do such a department of business, it shall first obtain the consent of both the superintendent of banks and of the insurance commissioner, and in its application for such consent, must file a statement making a segregation of its capital and surplus for each such department. At least two hundred thousand dollars of its capital must be apportioned by such statement to its trust department. The respective portions of such capital and surplus, when such apportionment has been approved by the superintendent of banks and by the insurance commissioner, shall be considered and treated as the separate capital and surplus of each such department respectively, as if each such department was a separate business.

2. Such company, as to its title insurance department, shall be subject to and shall comply with all the requirements of the insurance laws and the rules and regulations of the insurance department of this state, and may invest its capital apportioned to its title insurance department, and the accumulations therefrom, in

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 8.

Relative to the training and education of orphan children, and instructing the State Board of Education to investigate the training and education now received by orphan children and the feasibility of expanding the public school system of the state to provide for their training and education, and to report thereon to the forty-first session of the Legislature of the State of California.

WHEREAS, The education of youth is a duty of the State, a recognized safeguard of its institutions and liberties, and the basis of a free government; and

WHEREAS, The public school system of this commonwealth, from the primary grades to the specialized courses in the universities, commends itself to the children from the homes of its citizens, and the State has provided liberal institutions for the defective and imbecile young, and special courses, schools and institutions have been established for the wayward juvenile offenders; and

WHEREAS, In all this elaborate system maintained at great cost to the taxpayers no provision of any kind has been made for the training or education of orphan children, physically and mentally sound and potentially capable of becoming useful and able citizens; and

WHEREAS, These little ones, all innocently and hopelessly bereft of the affectionate care of parents and whose only offense against society is their lack of such protecting and aid to secure for them the advantages of the educational system maintained by the state, are left to the well intentioned but inadequate efforts of private, unorganized charities, barely supported by sporadic appeals to a busy public; and

WHEREAS, Such children are at best thereby equipped only for the hardest walks of life and are given no opportunity to develop the latent powers which beyond question are the heritage of many; and

WHEREAS, These conditions and the lack of educational facilities afforded orphan children are opposed to the principles of an enlightened and progressive government; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, the Assembly thereof concurring, That the State Board of Education be and it is hereby directed to investigate the conditions surrounding and affecting the orphan children of this State, the education and training which they now receive, and to investigate and consider measures and ways and means to provide for their care, education and training by the state, and to make its report thereon, with its recommendations resulting and relating to the enactment of the proper general statutes of this State to provide the education of orphans, and ways and means therefor, to the forty-first session of the Legislature.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 27

Relative to the purchase by the United States of the Tioga road.

WHEREAS, The State of California has, by legislation and appropriation therefor, established, maintained and completed a system of state highways, among which is a highway from Lake Tahoe in [illegible] a distance of [illegible] miles, and a highway from Bridgeport, in Mono County, to Lone Pine, in Inyo County, a distance of seventy-eight miles, and known as the Sonora and Mono road, and is now constructing a highway from said Lake Tahoe road to a point known as the junction on said Sonora and Mono roads, a distance of eighty-one miles, and has constructed a highway from the said end of the Owens road to a point near Mono Lake, and known as the Mono Lake Road, a distance of nine miles, and there is now pending in this session of the Legislature a bill for the construction of a state highway from Bridgeport to Lake Tahoe, a distance of one hundred and [illegible] miles, which, when completed, will be opened to travel of all kinds thereover; and

WHEREAS, There is now pending in Congress a bill to purchase by the United States, said Tioga road from its owners and to maintain the same by said government as a free public road for travel thereover, and which bill has been favorably acted upon by the committees in Congress to which it had been referred; and

WHEREAS, Said Tioga road connects at Lakeside, with the Big Oak Flat road, and if the purchase of said Tioga road be completed, and said road be maintained as a free public highway for travel, it makes a complete highway system from Sacramento to Lake Tahoe, thence over the Alpine highways to Death Valley, Yosemite Valley and San Francisco, traversing the Sierra Nevada Mountains and passing most beautiful scenery thereon; be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, That we request our Senators and Congressmen to use all honorable means to secure the early passage of said bill, providing for the purchase of said Tioga road, and its maintenance as a free public highway for travel, and to provide for free travel over it by all kinds of vehicles thereover; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be directed to send a copy of these resolutions to the President of the United States Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

The following communication was received:

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14, 1913.

To the Honorable the State Senate, Sacramento, California.

GENTLEMEN: We are in receipt of a letter from your Secretary, Mr. W. N. Parrish, transmitting copy of a resolution of your honorable body, asking this commission's comments with reference to Senate Bill No. 1649, introduced by the Committee on Rules and referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

This is a bill to add a new section to the Penal Code, to be numbered 369*b*, and referring to the trespassing upon railroad tracks, cars or engines. The bill provides in effect that it shall be unlawful for any person to trespass by walking along or going upon any railroad track or tracks, at a place other than a regular crossing, without right or permission from the person, firm or corporation operating cars or trains thereon. The bill further provides that it shall be unlawful for any person other than a passenger or employee to get on or off of any train, except railroad train cars or engines without right or permission from the person, firm or corporation operating cars or trains thereon. Appropriate penalties are provided.

We desire to make the following comments on this bill:

The bill is objectionable in that it does not specify where a person has a right to walk along a railroad track and the case mentioned a while ago is apropos. To say that a person can not do these things without stating upon the statute books of when the right to do so exists. We would suggest that if this bill is to be passed it be made definite with respect to the circumstances under which the acts named in these acts exists.

We are also in accord with the proposition to prevent the loitering on the railroad tracks, but we have grave doubt as to whether or not the bill in its present form is sufficient to accomplish the purpose. For instance, as it now stands it is unlawful for a person to walk along a railroad track where the railroad company should have fenced the track but has failed to do so.

Again, is it a wise state policy to make anything but a railroad (such a construction in cases in which it is a great convenience to use the tracks and in which the surrounding circumstances are such that there is very little or no danger arising from such use of the tracks)?

Again, would it be wise to apply the foregoing provisions of the bill to a case in which, we will say, only a train or two may use the track and in which such trains are not during the time upon which the train is running, with persons going to or coming from their work or other persons? And is it good policy to be able to use the track during periods of the day when no trains are running?

We are not prepared to say whether or not the foregoing terms of the bill are justified, and we desire that we shall be given further information upon the question of your honorable body to make such investigations as will enable us to advise you with assurance on the matter.

Respectfully,

RAILROAD COMMISSION OF CALIFORNIA.
[illegible]

On motion of Senator Wright, Senate Bill No. 1430 was ordered re-referred to Committee on Judiciary.

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California, an amendment to the Constitution of the State of California, by amending Section 18 of Article XI, thereof, relating to restrictions on the power of counties, cities and other subdivisions of the state to incur indebtedness.

The legislature of the State of California, at its regular session, commencing on the sixth day of January, 1913, two thirds of all of the members elected to each of the houses voting in favor thereof, hereby proposes to the qualified electors of the State of California an amendment to the Constitution of the State of California, by amending section eighteen of article eleven thereof.

SECTION 1. Section eighteen of article eleven is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 18. No county, city, town, township, board of education, or school district, shall incur any indebtedness or liability in any manner or for any purpose exceeding in any year the income and revenue provided for such year without the assent of two thirds of the qualified electors thereof, voting at an election to be held for that purpose, nor unless before or at the time of incurring such indebtedness provision shall be made for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such indebtedness as it falls due, and also provision to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof on or before maturity, which shall not exceed forty years from the time of contracting the same; provided, however, that the city and county of San Francisco may at any time pay the unpaid claims, with interest thereon at the rate of five per cent per annum, for materials furnished to and work done for said city and county during the forty-first, forty-second, forty-third, forty-fourth, and fiftieth fiscal years, and for unpaid teachers' salaries for the fiftieth fiscal year, out of the income and revenue of any succeeding year or years, the amount to be paid in full of said claims not to exceed in the aggregate the sum of five hundred thousand dollars, and that no statute of limitations shall apply in any manner to these claims; and provided, further, that the city of Vallejo, of Solano county, may pay its existing indebtedness, incurred in the construction of its waterworks, whenever two thirds of the electors thereof, voting at an election held for that purpose, shall so decide, and that no statute of limitations shall apply in any manner. Any indebtedness or liability incurred contrary to this provision, with the exceptions hereinbefore recited, shall be void. The city and county of San Francisco, the city of San Jose, and the town of Santa Clara may make provision for a sinking fund, to pay the principal of any indebtedness incurred, or to be hereafter incurred by it, to commence at a time after the incurring of such indebtedness of no more than a period of one fourth of the time of maturity of such indebtedness, which shall not exceed seventy-five years from the time of contracting the same. Any indebtedness incurred contrary to any provision of this section shall be void; and provided, further, that the county of Alameda may, upon the assent of two thirds of the qualified electors thereof voting at an election to be held for that purpose, incur a bonded indebtedness of not to exceed one million dollars, and the legislative authority of said county of Alameda shall issue bonds therefor and grant and turn over to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Company, a corporation organized under the laws of the State of California, March 22, 1910, the proceeds of said bonds for stock in said company or under such other terms and conditions as said legislative authority may determine, the same to be used and disbursed by said exposition company for the purposes of an exposition to be held in the city and county of San Francisco to celebrate the completion of the Panama canal; said bonds, so issued, to be of such form and to be redeemable, registered and converted in such manner and amounts, and at such times not later than forty years from the date of their issue as the legislative authority of said county of Alameda shall determine; the interest on said bonds not to exceed five per centum per annum, and said bonds to be exempt from all taxes for state, county and municipal purposes, and to be sold for not less than par at such times and places, and in such manner, as shall be determined by said legislative authority; the proceeds of said bonds, when sold, to be payable immediately upon such terms or conditions as said legislative body may determine, to the treasurer of said Panama-Pacific International Exposition Company, upon demands of said treasurer of said exposition company, without the necessity of the approval of such demands by other authority, than said legislative authority of Alameda county, the same to be used and disbursed by said Panama-Pacific International Exposition Company for the purposes of such exposition, under the direction and control of said exposition company; and, the legislative authority of said county of Alameda is hereby empowered and directed to levy a special tax on all taxable property in said county each year after the issue of said bonds sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds as the same becomes due, and to create a sinking fund to pay the principal thereof when the same shall become due.

THIRD READING OF BILLS— RESUMED.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 34.

Relative to the amendment of the postal law of the United States, to permit inspection and subsequent treatment or destruction of nursery stock, shrubbery, ornamental plants and fruits, upon arrival in the state to which it is consigned through the parcel post.

WHEREAS, The present statutes of the United States prohibit any postmaster from delaying the delivery of any package or parcel or to open or inspect the same; and

WHEREAS, The new parcel post law is bringing into the several states nursery stock, shrubbery, ornamental plants, fruits, etc., in great quantities; and

WHEREAS, Our inspection officers are finding on some of these shipments serious insect and fungoid pests not yet in our State, which if introduced would do us incalculable damage; and

WHEREAS, Order 6696 of the United States Postmaster General states that any postmaster "may" if requested inform the horticultural officer of any parcel of plants, trees or fruits received at his office and to whom delivered; and

WHEREAS, It is impossible to search out all of said importations for purpose of inspection; and

WHEREAS, It is imperative for the safety of the great fruit interests that there be thorough and universal inspection of all trees, plants and fruits received through the mails at the points of delivery; and

WHEREAS, This under the present law is entirely impossible; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, and the Assembly, jointly, That Congress be and hereby is requested to take immediate and necessary measures permitting and requiring the Postmaster General of the United States to order all nursery stock, shrubbery, ornamental plants, fruits, etc., sent through the mails, to be forwarded to certain conveniently located points where they may be inspected, and if found free from injurious pests or diseases, to be repacked and remailed to the consignee, and if infected, to be treated and remailed, or destroyed; and be it further

Resolved, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be requested to use all honorable means to secure the action desired in this matter, for the purpose aforesaid; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the President of the United States, the Postmaster General, the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

Resolutions ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

ASSEMBLY CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 12.

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to the constitution amending Article VI thereof, by repealing section 4 thereof, relating to Section 16, providing for the location of certain sessions of the District Courts of Appeal, and the selection, assignment and compensation of members of any Court of Appeal as judges of any Superior Courts, or pro tempore as Justices of said District Courts of Appeal, or both such duties, and providing therefor a new section to be known as Section 16, relating to the same subject.

The Legislature of the State of California, at its forty-fourth session, commencing on the second day of January, 1913, two-thirds of all of the members elected to each of the houses of said Legislature voting on the same, hereby proposes that Article VI of the Constitution of the State of California be amended by adding thereto a new section, to be known as Section 16, which section shall read as follows:

Section 16. The Governor of the State of California may, with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of California, direct that an extra session or extra sessions of the District Courts of Appeal of any district be held, and upon the request of the presiding justice of the District Courts of Appeal of any district, shall direct that an extra session of such court be held. Upon such session of such Court of Appeal of any district being held, the Justices of the Supreme Court or judges of the Superior Courts within the state, or all thereof, shall be assigned by the Governor of the State of California, according to the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of California, and the order of the presiding judge of the District Court of Appeal of the particular district in which the extra session is to be held, as may be necessary to hold such session or sessions and to dispose of the business of said Courts of Appeal for the purpose of holding such extra sessions or sessions of said courts. More than one extra session of the Court of Appeal of any particular district may be held at one time; provided, that such sessions shall be held in separate districts. Justices pro tempore of the District Courts of Appeal of other districts, or judges of the Superior Court, selected as hereinabove set forth. During any extra session of the District Courts of Appeal, the presiding justice of the District Court of Appeal of such district may sit during such extra session with the said justices pro tempore holding such extra session, or he may designate one of the said justices pro tempore so holding said session, to act during such extra session as presiding justice thereof: provided, however, that whenever the presiding justice of the District Court of Appeal of such district shall so sit during such extra session with said other justices pro tempore holding such extra session, the concurrence of the three justices pro tempore holding such session, or of two of said justices and such presiding justice of the District Court of Appeal of such district, shall be sufficient to pronounce a judgment of said District Courts of Appeal of said district in any of the appeals, actions, proceedings or matters heard by, or submitted to such extra session of said court or the justices thereof. The presiding justice of the Court of Appeal of the district in which any such extra session is being held or to be held shall have power to assign causes and appeals pending in said court to such extra session, for consideration and decision. Said extra session of said District Court of Appeal and the said justices pro tempore holding the same, shall have jurisdiction to determine all causes, appeals, proceedings and matters that shall be so assigned to them for consideration and decision during such extra session, with like force and effect as though such causes, appeals, proceedings and matters had been heard by, submitted to and determined by the duly elected, qualified and acting justices of said District Court of Appeal of the district in which such extra session is, or extra sessions are being held, or by such court. No justices pro tempore of the Court of Appeal of any district shall be qualified to participate upon the hearing of any cause in which, or in any proceeding in which he has acted as judge in any other court. No justice pro tempore of any Court of Appeal of any district shall receive any compensation for acting as such, other than that attached to the office which he holds at the time of his selection as such justice pro tempore, but shall be entitled to his actual expenses. Whenever any justice pro tempore of the Supreme Court is for any reason disqualified or unable to act in a cause pending before it, or any extra session thereof, the Governor or justice by whom he has been selected shall forthwith select some other justice of the District Court of Appeal or judge of the Superior Court to act in his place. At any time after the causes and matters which shall have been assigned to such extra session of any District Court of Appeal or the justices pro tempore thereof, shall have been finally determined, the Supreme Court of the State of California, by an order entered upon its minutes, may terminate such extra session or extra sessions.

MINORITY REPORT.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, April 16, 1913.

MR. PRESIDENT: The undersigned members of your Committee on Municipal Corporations submit a minority report on Assembly Bill No. 556, and recommend that it do not pass.

This bill represents another attempt to legislate for the relief of John J. Conlin, who many years ago lost a considerable sum of money under a street contract in San Francisco by reason of defects in proceedings. All previous attempts of the Legislature along this line have been set aside in the courts: Conlin vs. Board of Supervisors, 99 Cal. 17; Conlin vs. Board of Supervisors, 114 Cal. 404.

The Act, in our opinion, violates Section 13 of Article IV of the Constitution.

Furthermore, it does not accomplish the published purpose. The subject of contest or action against the only qualified voter of San Francisco is fully provided by the election. That is a complete affair and is in part accomplished by the Legislature by the wipe out such special legislation which might attempt to be done.

Should this Act be considered on its merits solely, that is, without regard to its unconstitutionality, it is manifest on the most cursory examination. In considering the subject of the latter basis, which imposes burdens on the personal immunities and rights of the people. In general terms, the effect of imposing such duties will cost the State extensive liabilities, the amount of which can not be estimated.

Respectfully submitted

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 38.

Relative to the protection of the California beet sugar industry by the imposition by the Congress of some effective tariff on sugars from the United States.

WHEREAS, By the passage of tariff laws by Congress the national sentiment is toward the abolition of all duties on imported sugar; and

WHEREAS, Such a policy would be suicidal to the vast and best paying industry of the entire Pacific coast, especially to the beet sugar industry of the State of California, which produces 10% [illegible] tons per annum, or one quarter of the beet sugar output of the United States; and

WHEREAS, The annual consumption of sugar in our country is over 3,000,000 tons per annum supplied, viz.:

From domestic cane grown in Porto Rico, Louisiana and Southern Islands [illegible] tons

From beet sugar manufactured in eastern states [illegible] tons

[illegible] tons

the balance being purchased from foreign countries and subject to a low [illegible] on the Atlantic seaboard who are competing for "free sugar" in order that they may check the further progress of these markets by the substantial growing beet sugar industry; and

WHEREAS, Our nation's beet sugar output has increased from 10,000 tons in 1897 to 650,000 tons in 1912—a rate of increase greater than can be equaled in any country in Europe during an equal period of time, while our cane-producing districts have apparently reached the limit of their possibilities; and

WHEREAS, Free sugar would have a most disastrous effect upon the welfare of the sugar industry, the development of the beet sugar industry now promising the use of only 450,000 acres of land against 274,000,000 acres adapted to the cultivation of the sugar beet; and

WHEREAS, The development of this industry is retarded by the success of a few sugar beet [illegible] which will exhibit this condition in comparison with some good field crops produced under the best agricultural conditions, the [illegible] and [illegible] delivered at our sugar beet factories [illegible] in addition, a good [illegible] of our State for the sugar in the beet, before it is [illegible] and [illegible] of our State for the sugar in the beet, before it is [illegible]; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Legislature of the State of California [illegible] of all members elected to the Senate and Assembly, joining [illegible] and [illegible] and conveying [illegible] memorials the Senate and House of Representatives of Congress at Washington and the President of the United States, that they [illegible] in the consideration of tariff revision for the [illegible] of the beet sugar industry, which is so full of promise to our nation, and that the principle governing the making of the tariff in this regard be, that the tariff should equalize the difference between the cost of production of sugar at home and abroad.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to each of the members of Congress from the State of California, to be presented to the President and Congress.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution.

The roll was called and Assembly Joint Resolution No. 18 adopted by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Anderson, Avey, Beban, Birdsall, Boynton, Breed, Brown, Bryant, Butler, Campbell, Carr, Cartwright, Cogswell, Cohn, Curtin, Finn, Flint, Gates, Gerdes, Jones, Juilliard, Larkins, Mott, Rush, Thompson, Tyrrell, and Wright—27.

MINORITY REPORT

SACRAMENTO, April 17, 1913.

MR. PRESIDENT: The undersigned, being [illegible] of the Committee on Public Health and Quarantine, respectfully submit the following minority report to Senate Bill No. 134:

The committee has had several public hearings on this bill, has heard [illegible] testimony and has received reports and statistics. The undersigned minority have made as careful an investigation of the effects of cement [illegible] as has been possible with the time at their disposal; some of the undersigned having visited several of the cement plants in this State.

After such investigation we find that the present manufacturing methods in the present conditions, as a whole, [illegible] and that upon the contrary are in the interests of health of employes very much [illegible]. From the [illegible] and statistics available, however, pertaining to cement workers in the vicinity of the south [illegible] of dust encountered. We believe, however, that the [illegible] that cement dust is [illegible] and that the effect upon workmen is [illegible] mechanical work as that of coal dust.

The necessity of the immediate [illegible] and that like the [illegible] of the bill [illegible] sufficiently absorb the deleterious effects of cement dust [illegible] would become extra work [illegible] and the [illegible].

We are not [illegible] but [illegible] that [illegible] and must be [illegible] to some extent but in the regulation of [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] of dust encountered.

We therefore recommend that the bill do not pass, and that a [illegible] should be made by the Board of Health on some other [illegible] tional disease among dust workers as a whole, and [illegible] workers, to establish the best [illegible] report to be used by the [illegible].

CONSIDERATION OF BILL—(OUT OF ORDER).

On motion of Senator Birdsall, the Senate took up for consideration, Senate Bill No. 5, out of order.

Senate Bill No. 5—An Act to amend Section 671 of the Civil Code of the State of California, relating to the taking, holding, succession to and disposition of property, real and personal, within said State of California.

Read third time.

MOTION TO REFER TO SPECIAL COMMITTEE OF ONE.

Senator Birdsall moved to refer Senate Bill No. 5, as amended, to Senator Lyon, as a special committee of one, to amend as follows:

AMENDMENT NO. 1.

By striking out all of the title after the words "An Act", in line 1 of the title, and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "defining and limiting the right of aliens and of corporations a majority of the issued and outstanding capital stock of which is held or owned by aliens ineligible to citizenship under the naturalization laws of the United States, to acquire title to, own, hold or lease real property in the State of California, providing for the period of time any alien or any such corporation may lease real property in the State of California, providing for the escheat of property acquired, owned or held by any alien or any such corporation to the State of California, and providing for divesting title to real property so acquired, owned or held and for the disposition of the proceeds, and repealing conflicting Acts."

By striking out all that portion of the Act after the word "provided", at the end of Section 1, page 1, line 4, and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

SEC. 2. Title to real property situated in this state may be acquired and held by aliens, whether resident or non-resident, under the restrictions, terms and conditions set forth in this Act, but not otherwise:

(a) Any alien may hereafter acquire by purchase, or otherwise (excepting by devise or descent which are hereinafter provided for) any right, title or interest in or to any real property situated in this state, and may hold the same for the period of one year after the date of so acquiring such right, title or interest, but no longer; provided, however, that if any such alien be a minor or an insane or incompetent person at the date of so acquiring title, he may hold such title for the period of one year after a guardian of his estate is appointed by a court having jurisdiction thereof, or, in case of a minor, if no such guardian be appointed prior to the time said minor shall have attained his majority, then he may hold such title for the period of one year after attaining his majority. At the expiration of said period of one year in any of the cases above stated, all real property so held by such alien, and all right, title and interest therein so held by such alien, shall be subject to escheat to the State of California, and proceedings for such purpose shall be taken as hereinafter provided:

(b) Any alien may hereafter acquire by devise or descent any right, title or interest in or to any real property situated in this state and may hold the same for the period of one year after the date of final distribution thereof to such alien: provided, however, that if any such alien be a minor or an insane or incompetent person at the date of such final distribution, and no guardian of his estate has been previously appointed by a court having jurisdiction thereof, he may hold such title for the period of one year after a guardian of his estate is appointed by such court, or in case of a minor, if no such guardian be appointed prior to the time such minor shall have attained his majority, then he may hold such title for the period of one year after attaining his majority. At the expiration of said period of one year, in any of the cases above stated, all real property so held by such alien, and all right, title and interest therein so held by such alien shall be subject to escheat to the State of California, and proceedings for such purpose shall be taken as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 3. Any corporation, whether formed under the provisions of the laws of this state or of any other state or country, a majority of the issued and outstanding capital stock of which shall be owned or held by any alien or aliens, ineligible to citizenship under the naturalization laws of the United States, may hereafter acquire by purchase or devise, any right, title or interest in or to any real property situated in this state, and may hold the same for the period of one year after the date of so acquiring such right, title or interest, but no longer; provided, however, that if such right title or interest be conveyed by such corporation by virtue of the same may be held by the escheat to take effect upon the sale of land aforesaid thereof to such corporation. At the expiration of such period of time prior to any of the times above mentioned as fixed by such corporation, and all right, title or interest therein or held by such corporation shall be escheat to the State of California, and proceedings for such purpose shall be thereafter had as provided.

SEC. 4. No mutual agreement or bona fide mortgage or trust conveyance thereof is hereafter to remain in force for a longer period than five years from the time of the execution of the same, unless a copy of such agreement or mortgage or trust conveyance, duly certified by the recorder of the county in which the land is situated, shall be made accessible and posted up in some public and conspicuous position, and such certified agreement or mortgage or trust conveyance shall be kept posted up during the whole of the time such agreement or mortgage or trust conveyance may remain in force, and any failure to comply with the provisions of this section shall render such agreement or mortgage or trust conveyance void as against the State.

SEC. 5. Any alien or any corporation not qualified to acquire, hold or convey real property under the provisions of this Act hereafter acquiring, owning or holding real property or any right, title or interest therein, in the State of California, in contravention of the provisions of this Act, or subject to escheat to the State of California under the provisions of this Act, shall nevertheless convey, assign or sell, mortgage or otherwise encumber or dispose of the same, and all instruments executed by such alien or corporation purporting to convey, assign or sell, mortgage or otherwise encumber or dispose of such real property or any part thereof, shall be valid to all intents and purposes whatsoever as against all persons except the State of California in any action or proceeding commenced by the State of California for the escheat of such real property to the State of California, or to enforce the forfeiture thereof, or to recover the same by reason of the alien or corporation holding the same contrary to the provisions of this Act, and prior to the commencement of such action or proceeding by the State of California for the escheat of such real property to the State of California, or to enforce the forfeiture thereof, or to recover the same by reason of the alien or corporation holding the same contrary to the provisions of this Act, and prior to the filing of a notice of pendency of such action or proceeding as in this Act provided, and no such conveyance or mortgage or encumbrance or disposition of such real property or any part thereof by such alien or corporation shall be impeached or questioned by the prosecution

SEC. 8. The provisions of this Act shall not impair or destroy any right secured to any alien under the provisions of any treaty between the United States and the country of which such alien shall be a citizen or subject.

SEC. 9. It shall be the duty of the district attorney of any county in this state wherein any real property, or any portion thereof, acquired, owned or held contrary to the provisions of this Act, is situated, when he shall be informed, or shall have reason to believe, that any property in said county is being held contrary to the provisions of this Act, to file a complaint on behalf of and in the name of the people of the State of California, as plaintiff, in the superior court of the county in which such property, or some portion thereof, is situated, setting forth a description of the property, the names of all persons or corporations owning or holding, or claiming to own or hold the same, or any interest therein on any lien thereon as shown by the records of the county where the land is situated, who shall be named as parties defendant; that the same is owned or held contrary to the provisions of this Act, and the facts and circumstances in consequence of which the property is claimed to be subject to escheat to the state, with an allegation that by reason thereof, the State of California has right by law to such property. Upon such complaint being filed, a summons must issue directed to the defendants requiring defendants to appear and answer the complaint within ten days, if the summons is served in the county in which the action is brought or within thirty days if served elsewhere, which said summons shall contain all the matters required by section four hundred seven of the Code of Civil Procedure. Summons shall be issued and served in accordance with the provisions of title five of part two of the Code of Civil Procedure. At the time the complaint is filed, a notice of the pendency of such escheat proceedings must be filed in the office of the recorder of the county where the land or any part thereof is situated, containing the names of the parties and the object of the action, and a description of the property in that county affected thereby.

SEC. 10. The court upon the complaint being filed and upon application of the district attorney, either before or after answer is filed, upon such notice as the court shall direct to the person or corporation claiming to own said property, or any right, title or interest therein, may upon sufficient cause therefor being shown, appoint a receiver to take charge of such property, or any part thereof, and to receive rents, income and profits of the same until the title thereof is finally settled.

SEC. 11. In any action brought to foreclose a mortgage or lien upon any land which has theretofore been the subject of escheat proceedings hereunder or in any suit to quiet title or to determine adverse claims to such real property or any portion thereof, the State of California may be made a defendant and process directed against the state shall be served upon the governor or acting governor and the attorney general.

SEC. 12. All persons or corporations named in the complaint may appear and answer and traverse or deny the facts stated therein at any time before the time for answering or appearing expires, and any other person claiming any interest in such property may appear and intervene in said action, or be made a defendant therein, by motion for such purpose, in open court, within the time allowed for answering. If any person appears, and denies the facts set up in such complaint or traverses any material fact set forth therein, the issue of fact must be tried as issues of fact are tried in civil actions. In all such proceedings the state shall be deemed to have established prima facie that any defendant is an alien or that any stockholder of a corporation defendant therein is an alien ineligible to citizenship under the naturalization laws of the United States by proof that such defendant owner or stockholder is not registered as an elector of the county where said action is commenced and that no copy of any declaration by such defendant owner or stockholder, of intention to become a citizen of the United States, can be found among the existing and available public records of said county. If, after the issues are tried it appears from the facts found, or admitted, that the property described in the complaint or any part thereof has escheated to the state judgment must be rendered declaring the same escheated to the state, and that the state is the owner and entitled to the possession thereof, and that it recover costs of suit against the defendants who have appeared and answered. In any such judgment rendered by the court declaring property escheated to the state on motion of the district attorney, the court must make an order that such property be sold by the sheriff of the county wherein it is situated at public sale to the highest bidder for gold coin after giving such notice of the time and place of sale as may be prescribed by the court in such order, and must in its judgment determine the validity and rank of all liens on said real property or any portion thereof, and must also determine who is entitled to the proceeds of such sale. The sheriff within five days after such sale must make a report thereof to the court, and upon the hearing of such report the court may examine the same and witnesses in relation thereto, and if the proceedings were unfair, or if the sum bid is disproportionate to the value, or if it appears that a sum exceeding said bid at least ten per cent exclusive of the expense of a new sale, may be obtained the court may vacate the sale and direct another to be held, of which notice must be given, and such sale in all respects conducted as if no previous sale had taken place. If an offer greater in amount than that named in the report is made to the court in writing by a responsible person, the court may in its discretion accept such offer and confirm the sale to such person, or other a new sale. If it appears to the court that the sale was legally made, and fairly conducted and that no loss has been or disproportionate to the value of the property sold, and that a new appraisal will be at least ten per cent greater than the appraisal of a new sale, one has been ordered, or if the appraisal and notice required to make and ascertain the value shall have been made in order concerning the sale, and directing the sheriff, in the name of the state, to execute to the purchaser or purchasers a conveyance of said property, and upon such conveyance being made to the purchaser in accordance with the right and title of the state thereto, and the sheriff shall, out of the proceeds of such sale, pay the cost of such proceedings, including the costs of advertising, and the expenses of keeping said property, as provided in section [illegible] of this act, and the balance thereof shall be paid to said county or the clerk of said court, who shall forthwith account for the same with the county treasurer together with a certificate under oath of his judgment, and he shall retain the same as a special deposit for one period of one year from the date of application, at the end of which time the claimant, [illegible] under the provisions of this act, shall be entitled to have repaid the amount of one year thereafter, the same shall be paid over to the state treasurer.

Sec. 13. The prohibitions in this Act contained shall not extend to [illegible] or any natural liquids, where the [illegible] shall be [illegible] or shall not be [illegible] or [illegible] which are being used for the [illegible] or [illegible] or shall be sold for [illegible] purposes, [illegible] or [illegible] the [illegible] or [illegible] of any of the [illegible] or [illegible] or [illegible] or

AMENDMENT No. 2

Strike out all of the bill after the enacting clause, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 1. For the purpose of providing free treatment of any person or persons exposed to the rabies who may desire not to go to a hospital for them to get the anti-rabic treatment, it is the duty of the state board of health to make provision for the purchase and administration of the anti-rabic virus, by a qualified physician, said virus to be purchased on a definitive prescription under United States government control and license, and to be administered to such persons either at their homes or at a convenient place in the community in which they reside, free of any and all expense to said persons for such treatment; provided, however, that if said persons reside in a community where a laboratory of the state board of health exists, such persons shall, on application to the physician in charge of said laboratory, be supplied with the anti-rabic virus furnished by the state board of health; and provided, further, that if there shall be six or more of such persons in a community where the said laboratory exists, in need of treatment at or about the same time, the board of supervisors of the county in which said persons were exposed to rabies may direct the state board of health to send a qualified physician to such community to administer to said persons, and the state board of health shall send such physician, if one is available to said board of health shall certify requisitions from said county to the state auditor for the payment of such physician's services, which shall not exceed in the case of any one physician more than one hundred and fifty dollars per month for not more than a month, to be paid by the county in which said persons reside.

Sec. 2. The written declaration of such persons, or their guardians, if said persons are minors or imbeciles, made to the board of supervisors of the county in which said persons were exposed to said disease, or such declaration made to the local health officer of the community in which they reside, shall be sufficient to entitle said persons to said free anti-rabic treatment in the community in which they reside, and if said free home treatment is not practicable within said community, day or which said persons entitled thereto may apply for treatment at such institution of the community in which they reside and the reasonable cost of the said anti-rabic virus used in such treatment and the reasonable cost of the physician administering same shall be paid by the county in which said persons were exposed to said disease.

Sec. 3. The reasonable charges of any laboratory other than the state laboratory supplying said virus and the reasonable charges of any physician administering same under the provisions of this Act shall be allowed by the board of supervisors of the county in which said persons were exposed to said disease, and it shall be the duty of the auditor of said county to draw his warrant for the said amounts allowed in the claims set forth, respectively, and it shall be the duty of the treasurer of said county to pay the same: provided, however, that said county shall not be liable for any charge for anti-rabic treatment administered at any laboratory of the state board of health, or for any virus furnished by said board, nor shall it be liable beyond the necessary traveling expenses and remuneration at the rate of one hundred and fifty dollars per month for the services of any physician sent by said board to administer anti-rabic treatment in communities where no laboratory of said board exists.

SEC. 4. This Act is not to be interpreted as in any way restricting the powers of either the state board of health or those of any local board of health, but is enacted to assure the speedy and effective treatment, at public expense of such persons as come within its scope.

Amendment adopted.

SEC. 2. No minor under the age of eighteen years shall be employed or permitted to work between the hours of ten o'clock in the evening and five o'clock in the morning.

SEC. 3. No minor between the ages of twelve and fifteen years shall be employed in any mercantile institution, office, laundry, manufacturing establishment, workshop, place of amusement, restaurant, hotel, apartment house, or in the transmission of messages or merchandise, except during the hours when the public schools are in session, and unless such minor has been regularly attending some day school for a period of not less than six months during the preceding twelve months, or has been granted a permit to work as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 4. The commissioner of labor statistics, or any deputy commissioner of labor statistics, or any truant officer of any county, city or city and county, or any police officer, may issue to any minor between the ages of twelve and fifteen years, a permit to work in any place mentioned in section 3 hereof, upon the following conditions and not otherwise:

(1) When such minor has completed the seventh grade, provided such minor is physically fitted for the labor contemplated; and

(2) When such child's dependent father, mother, or both the parents, or legal guardian of such minor, shall make application in writing to the commissioner of labor statistics, or deputy commissioner of labor statistics, or truant officer, or police officer, for such permit, stating the name, age and residence of such minor, the name and address of the employer by whom such minor is to be employed, the nature of the business or employment in which such minor is to be employed, the hours of labor required of such minor, and the compensation to be paid such minor; and

(3) When such application is approved by the commissioner of labor statistics, or deputy commissioner of labor statistics, or truant officer, or police officer, and such permit issued thereon; provided, however, that no permit shall be issued to any minor under the age of fifteen years, except upon the written request of the parent, guardian or other person having the custody of such minor, stating that such minor has been employed by the person making such request for a period of not less than one month next preceding the application for such permit, and that such employment is necessary for the support of such parent, guardian or other person having the custody of such minor authority issuing such permit, whenever such commissioner, or the authority issuing such permit shall find that the conditions for the legal issuance of such permit do not exist. Such permit shall be always open to the inspection of the attendance and probation officers, or of the officers of the state bureau of labor statistics. A duplicate copy of each permit to work granted under the provisions of this Act shall be kept by the person issuing such permit, such copy to be filed with the superintendent of schools of the city, or city and county, or county, as the case may be: provided, that all copies of permits issued between June 25th and December 25th of any year shall be filed not later than December 31st of each year; and those issued between December 25th and June 25th of the ensuing year shall be filed not later than June 30th of each year. Corresponding semi-annual reports of all such permits issued shall be made by such superintendents in such form as may be required by the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics of the State of California.

SEC. 6. The attendance officer of any county, city and county, or school district in which any place of employment, in this Act named, is situated, or the probation officer of such county, shall have the right and authority, at all times to enter into any such place of employment for the purpose of investigating violations of the provisions of this Act, or violations of the provisions of an Act entitled "An Act to enforce the educational rights of children and providing penalties for the violation of the Act," approved March 24, 1903, and any Act amending or superseding the same: provided, however, that if such attendance or probation officer is denied entrance to such place of employment, any magistrate may, upon the filing of an affidavit by such attendance or probation officer setting forth the fact that he has a good cause to believe that the provisions of this Act, or the Act hereinbefore referred to, are being violated in such place of employment, issue an order directing such attendance or probation officer to enter said place of employment for the purpose of making such investigations: and provided that any such minor over the age of twelve years may be employed at any of the occupations mentioned in this Act on the regular weekly school holidays, or during the regular vacation of the public schools of the city, county, or city and county, in which the place of employment is situated, upon the production of a permit signed by the principal, vice-principal of the school, or secretary of the board of school trustees or board of education of the school which such minor is attending, or has attended during the term next preceding any such vacation. Such permit shall contain the name and age of the minor to whom it is issued, and when issued for the regular vacation, the date of the termination of the vacation for which it is issued, and in any case shall be kept on file by the employer during the period of employment, and at the termination of such employment shall be returned to the minor to whom it was issued.

SEC. 7. No minor who is under sixteen years of age shall be employed or permitted to work at any gainful occupation during the hours that the public schools of the city, town or school district in which his place of employment is situated are in session, unless he or she has completed the prescribed grammar school course, or unless he or she is a regular attendant for the then current term at a regularly conducted night school; provided, however, that if the bodily or mental condition of said minor is such as to render inadvisable attendance at school or application to study, a certificate from any licensed physician that said minor should not attend school shall be sufficient excuse for such non-attendance.

SEC. 8. Every person, firm or corporation employing minors under eighteen years of age, in any manufacturing establishment, shall post and keep posted, in a conspicuous place in every room where such minors are employed, a written or printed notice stating the number of hours per day for each day of the week required of such minors.

SEC. 9. Every person, firm, or corporation, agent or officer of a firm or corporation, employing or permitting minors under sixteen and over fifteen years of age to work in any mercantile institution, office, laundry, manufacturing establishment, workshop, place of amusement, restaurant, hotel, apartment house, or in the distribution or transmission of merchandise or messages, shall keep a record of the names, ages, and places of residence of such minors, and shall have on file a certificate of age and schooling, as provided in this Act, for every such minor so employed, said record and certificate to be open at all times to the inspection of the school attendance and probation officers of the city and county, city, or county, in which the place of employment is situated, or of the officers of the state bureau of labor statistics.

SEC. 10. An age and schooling certificate shall be approved only by the superintendent of schools of the city or city and county, or by a person authorized by him in writing, or where there is no city or city and county superintendent of schools, by a person authorized by the local school trustees: provided, that the superintendent or principal of any school of recognized standing shall have the right to approve an age and schooling certificate, and shall have the same rights and powers as the superintendent of public schools to issue the certificates herein provided for the children attending such schools. The person authorized to issue age and schooling certificates shall have the authority to administer the oaths necessary for carrying out the provisions of this Act, but no fees shall be charged for issuing such certificates.

Age and schooling certificate shall be issued only upon the written request of the prospective employer of such minor child, which request shall be filed by the person issuing the certificate.

Age and schooling certificate shall not be approved unless the child applying therefor is examined by the said school nurse. The examination shall be made at the time of such issuing, the parent, guardian or person in the loco parentis of such child to be present, that such child may be assured to avoid embarrassment. A physician shall be employed by the county superintendent of schools of each county to assist the school nurse in the examination of children applying for age and schooling certificates provided under the provisions of this Act and shall be the person making such examination only shall be filed with the county superintendent of schools in the county where the employment is intended to be had and no copies of certificates issued thereon. Upon filing such examination blank of the said school nurse and physician, the county superintendent of schools shall issue to the said child the age and schooling certificate provided for in this Act. Such certificate shall be good for thirty days from the date of issuance. Provided, that said school nurse and physician shall not be entitled to receive any fees for such examination.

The county superintendent of schools of each county shall deal with the various duties of the office of county superintendent of schools of such county under the provisions of this Act. The county superintendent of schools shall keep a record of all age and schooling certificates issued to male and female minors, and such other detailed information as the commissioner may require. Such report to be filed during the months of January and July of each year and the preceding six months during which said certificates were issued. Such record shall be open to the inspection of the commissioner and his assistants. Said thereof, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars or more than two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than sixty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment, for each and every offense. A failure to produce any age and schooling certificate or permit to work or to post any notice required by this Act, shall be prima facie evidence of the illegal employment of any minor whose age and schooling certificate or permit to work is not produced, or whose name is not so posted. Any fine collected under the provisions of this Act shall be paid into the school funds of the county, or city, or city and county in which the offense occurred; except such fines imposed and collected as the result of prosecutions by the officers of the bureau of labor statistics. In such cases one half of the resultant fine or fines shall be paid into the state treasury and credited to the contingent fund of the bureau of labor statistics, and one half paid into the school funds of the county, or city, or city and county in which the offense occurred.

SEC. 14. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to prohibit the employment of minors at agricultural, horticultural, or viticultural, or domestic labor during the time the public schools are not in session, or during other than school hours. For the purpose of this Act, horticultural shall be understood to include the curing and drying, but not the canning, of all varieties of fruit. Nor shall anything in this Act be construed to prohibit any minor between the ages of fifteen and eighteen years, who is by any statute or statutes of the State of California, now or hereafter in force, permitted to be employed as an actor, or actress, or performer in a theater, or other place of amusement, previous to the hour of ten o'clock p.m., in the presentation of a performance, play or drama, continuing from an earlier hour till after the hour of ten o'clock p.m., from performing his or her part in such presentation as such employee between the hours of ten and twelve o'clock p.m.: provided, the written consent of the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics is first obtained. Nor shall anything in this Act prevent, or be construed to prohibit, the employment of any minor, whether resident or nonresident, in the presentation of a drama or dramatic play with the written consent of the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics, but no such consent shall be given unless the officer giving it is satisfied that the environment in which the drama or dramatic play is to be produced is a proper environment for the minor, and that the conditions of such employment are not detrimental to the health of such minor, and that the minor's education will not be neglected or hampered by its participation in such drama or dramatic play, and every such written consent shall specify the name and age of the minor, together with such other facts as may be necessary for the proper identification of such minor, and the dates when, and the theaters or other places of amusement in which, such dramas or dramatic plays are to be produced, and shall specify the dramas or dramatic plays in which the minor is permitted to participate, and every such consent shall be revocable at the will of the officer giving it.

SEC. 15. The bureau of labor statistics shall enforce the provisions of this Act. The commissioner, his deputies and agents, shall have all the powers and authority of sheriffs or other peace officers to make arrests for the violations of the provisions of this Act, and to serve any process or notice throughout the state.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 18.

Memorializing the Congress of the United States for favorable consideration of the request of the Legislature of the State of California, for investigations and surveys by the California Debris Commission under the provisions of an Act of Congress approved March 1, 1907, as well for the preservation and building of a project for a channel for the river from Suisun Bay to the San Joaquin River and the delta of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers and the tributaries to aid of drainage and navigation.

WHEREAS, Conditions imperatively affecting vast areas of valuable and advancing land and the business of commerce and navigation in the river systems of the San Joaquin Valley, within the power of the California Debris Commission to correct under the provisions of an Act of Congress approved March 1st, 1907, creating said commission and defining its duties, are identical with those existing in the river systems of the Sacramento Valley and require the remedy contained; and

WHEREAS, The Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers form a delta common to both, and in connecting waterways, deep draft vessels which frequently navigate great distance to proceed to and to navigate; and

WHEREAS, The work [illegible] and plans contemplated in said recent [illegible] under the requirements of said Act, should be coordinated [illegible]

WHEREAS, The report of such engineers made in accordance with the [illegible] people of said Act including some and recommending a project [illegible] with [illegible] of the river thereof, has the relief from floods in the Sacramento Valley, recommended by the Congress of the United States by the Secretary of War, June 25th, 1910, and approved and recommended to the Congress by the President, said documents as House Document No. 81, sixty-second Congress, first session, with such modifications thereto as have since said last named date been made and approved, applies only to the Sacramento River conditions, and said recommended project does not work [illegible] and [illegible] the many complications; and

WHEREAS, As delay in putting these conditions in the river systems of the Sacramento Valley, has greatly added to the injury done as well as to the cost of the proposed project, the same results will follow delay in remedying like conditions in the river systems of the San Joaquin Valley; and

WHEREAS, As [illegible] and surveys are necessary preliminary to the making of a report by said commission on said river systems in the San Joaquin Valley, it is of the utmost importance that such investigations and surveys be completed without unnecessary delay; and

WHEREAS, As said preceding work necessary in said river systems and said [illegible] make the problem a vital one pressing for an early solution the Legislature of the State of California has by appropriate legislation adopted the project contained in said report, has appropriated funds therefor and has in other ways indicated its willingness to co-operate with the United States, in furtherance of this great work; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California, in regular session assembled, memorializes the Congress of the United States, for such legislation and direction, as will provide for such investigations and surveys by the California Débris Commission under the provisions of said Act, thereby hastening the preparation and making of the report on a project for the relief from floods in the San Joaquin Valley and said delta and for improvements in aid of commerce and navigation; be it further

Resolved, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress, be and they are hereby requested to use all honorable means to secure favorable consideration of this memorial; and be it further

Resolved, That duly authenticated copies of this memorial be transmitted by the Governor of the State of California, to the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, the Secretary of War, the Chief of Engineers, United States Army, the California Débris Commission, and to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 19.

Memorializing the Congress of the United States for favorable consideration of the project contained in the report of the California Débris Commission, relating to "control of floods in the river systems of the Sacramento Valley and the adjacent San Joaquin Valley, California".

WHEREAS, The Secretary of War, on the 29th day of June, 1911, submitted to the House of Representatives of the United States, duly approved and recommended for adoption, the report of the California Débris Commission, relating to "control of floods in the river systems of the Sacramento Valley and the adjacent San Joaquin Valley, California", now known and designated as House Document No. 81, sixty-second Congress, first session; and

WHEREAS, The approval of said report contains the suggestion "that work begin at once, and provision be made for its early completion"; and

WHEREAS, The construction and completion of the project proposed in said report is of vital importance to the people of this State and of the whole country; and

WHEREAS, The Legislature of the State of California, in extraordinary session assembled, did by an Act of said Legislature adopt the project and recommendations set forth in said report of the California Débris Commission, and appropriate funds therefor, and has also in said Act provided for co-operation between the State of California and the government of the United States in putting into effect the proposed project and recommendations; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That the said Legislature memorializes the Congress of the United States for favorable consideration of the report of said California Débris Commission transmitted as aforesaid by the Secretary of War to Congress, together with all modifications thereof as approved by the said commission, the Secretary of War and Chief Engineers, and also for early action on appropriations to carry out the recommendations of said report and said project; be it further

Resolved, That duly authenticated copies of these resolutions be transmitted to the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, the Secretary of War, Chief of Engineers, and to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress; be it further

Resolved, That our Senators in Congress be instructed, and our Representatives in Congress requested, to use all honorable means to secure favorable action on said report and said project.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message was received from the Governor:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, April 18, 1913.

To the Legislature of the State of California:

Upon the question of legislation concerning the ownership of land by aliens, I am this morning in receipt of a telegram from Mr. Bryan, Secretary of State, expressing the views of the President.

The telegram is as follows:

"WASHINGTON, D. C., April 18, 1913.

"Governor Hiram Johnson, Sacramento, Cal.:

"The President desires me to say that while he fully recognizes the right of the people of California to legislate according to their judgment on the subject of land tenure, he feels it his duty to urge a recognition of the international character of such legislation. Being anxious to preserve and strengthen the long standing friendly relations existing between this country and the nations of the Orient, he very respectfully, but most earnestly, advises against the use of the words 'ineligible to citizenship.' He asks that you bring this view to the attention of the Legislature. He believes the Senate bill as telegraphed to the Department of State is greatly to be preferred. That bill limited ownership to citizens and to be (those) who had declared their intention to become citizens.

"W. J. BRYAN."

Respectfully, HIRAM W. JOHNSON, Governor.

ASSEMBLY CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 28.

WHEREAS, The farmers of the Sacramento-Sacramento Delta, who in years farming operations bought grain bags [illegible] of the acreage grain bags planted into the contracts with the Board of State Prison Directors for the purchase of grain bags, and in accordance with a rule of said board paid a deposit thereon of ten per cent of the amount of such contracts; and

WHEREAS, Since the making of such payments by said farmers the dry season has caused a failure of the grain crops in said senatorial district, and such failure seems the necessity for the purchase of the number of grain bags that they had originally contracted for as aforesaid; and

WHEREAS, Owing to said crop failures, it is the judgment of the members of the Legislature, that an exception should be made under the circumstances in favor of the farmers of said senatorial district, as well as others in the State similarly situated who may desire to be so relieved; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring, That the Legislature respectfully requests the Board of State Prison Directors to consider and grant the requests of farmers of said senatorial district and such other farmers of the State who may ask for such relief for a return of said deposit and cancellation of the contracts entered into under the conditions aforesaid; be it further

Senate Bill No. 1034—An Act to amend "An Act regulating the employment and hours of labor of children, prohibiting the employment of minors under certain ages, prohibiting the employment of certain illiterate minors, providing for the enforcement hereof by the Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, and providing penalties for the violation hereof," approved February 20, 1905, approved April 14, 1911, as amended.

During second reading of the bill, the following amendment was offered by the committee:

Amend by striking out all following the period in line 7, page 2, of the printed bill, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

SEC. 3. No minor between the ages of twelve and fifteen years shall be employed in any mercantile institution, office, laundry, manufacturing establishment, workshop, place of amusement, restaurant, hotel, apartment house, or in the distribution or transmission of merchandise or messages, unless such minor is supplied with a permit to work as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 4. The superintendent of schools of any city, or of any city and county, or of any county (over such portions of any such county as are not within the jurisdiction of any superintendent of city schools) shall have authority to issue a permit to work to any minor between the ages of twelve and fifteen years, in any of the following circumstances:

(1) Where such minor has completed the prescribed grammar school course, and is physically fitted for the labor contemplated; or

(2) Where upon the sworn statement being made by the parent, or foster-parent, or guardian of such minor, that such minor is past the age of twelve years, that the parent or parents, or foster parent or foster-parents, or guardian, of such minor is incapacitated for labor through illness or injury, or that through the death or desertion of the father of such minor, the family is in need of the earnings of such minor, and that sufficient aid can not be secured in any other manner. The person authorized to issue such permit shall make a signed statement in granting such permit that he, or a competent person designated by him for this purpose, has carefully investigated the conditions under which the application for such permit has been asked, and has found that in his judgment the earnings of such minor are necessary for such family to support such minor, and that in his judgment sufficient aid can not be secured in any other manner.

SEC. 5. No permit as specified in Section 4 of this Act shall be issued except upon written evidence that suitable work is waiting for such minor, and such permit shall specify the kind of labor. Permits issued under subdivision (2) of said Section 4 shall in no case be issued for a longer period than shall seem necessary, nor for longer than six months, at the end of which period such superintendent shall see that such minor returns to school, unless a new permit to labor is issued. Such permit shall be kept on file by the person, firm or corporation employing the minor therein designated, during the term of said employment, and shall be given up to such minor upon his quitting such employment. Where such minor works for himself and not for others, such minor shall keep in his possession such permit. Such permit shall be issued on forms in accordance with this Act, which shall be prepared and provided by the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics of the State of California. Such permit shall be subject to revocation at any time by such commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics, or by the authority issuing such permit, whenever such commissioner, or the authority issuing such permit shall find that the conditions for the legal issuance of such permit the per cent. Said permit shall be issued upon the application of the employer and employee entering into or the adoption of the rules known as local agreements. A duplicate copy of such permit to work granted under the provisions of this Act shall be kept by the person having such permit, and a copy to be filed with the superintendent of schools of the city or the county clerk, as the case may be, prescribed time on receipt of notice issued by the Labor Commissioner, and shall be kept open for inspection by the Labor Commissioner or his agent at any time during business hours. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars for each offense. Each day that any person shall employ a minor without having such permit as herein provided for shall be deemed a separate offense.

SEC. 6. The attendance officer of any county, city and county, or school district in which any place of employment, to which this Act applies, is situated, or the attendance officer of such county shall have the right and authority, at all times to enter into any such place of employment for the purpose of investigating compliance with the provisions of this Act, or ascertaining if any minor is employed therein in violation of this Act, or ascertaining if the employment of any minor therein is in violation of the provisions of this Act, or ascertaining whether the age certificate required by this Act is kept on file as herein provided. The Act to enforce the provisions of the Act entitled "An Act establishing industrial farm colonies for women and girls, providing for the appointment of a board of trustees, defining their powers and duties, providing for the support of said colonies, and making an appropriation therefor," approved March 31, 1913, and any Act amending or supplementing the same, approved, February, 1913, shall grant authority to attendance officers of school districts to such place of employment, and inspection and issuing age certificates to minors attendance or education officers acting under the law, when he has a good cause to believe that the provisions of this Act, or the Act hereinbefore referred to are being violated in such place of employment, shall be under obligation to issue age certificates to minors and parents, when any under attending such employment or persons other to enter said place of employment for the purpose of making such investigations, and parents, that any such minor under the age of fifteen years has not completed the eighth grade of the public schools, or any of the equivalent grades in a private school, or is not regularly attending some day school, or is not lawfully excused from attending school under the provisions of this Act, or any minor between the ages of fifteen and eighteen years who has not obtained a certificate of completion of the eighth grade of the public schools, or any of the equivalent grades in a private school, or is not regularly attending some day school, or is not lawfully excused from attending school under the provisions of this Act, such attendance officer shall notify the parent, guardian or person having control of such minor that such minor is required to attend school and will be required to attend school during the entire time school is in session during the period of compulsory education, and such attendance officer shall report to the truant officer of the district in which such minor resides any violation of this section.

SEC. 7. No minor who is under fourteen years of age shall be employed, permitted or suffered to work in any public or private establishment during the hours that the public schools of the city, town or school district in which the place of employment is situated are in session, unless he or she has completed the eighth grade of the public schools, or any of the equivalent grades in a private school, or unless he or she is employed under the provisions of this Act, or unless he or she is a pupil regularly enrolled for not less than four hours in a day in a part-time school or continuation school, provided, however, that if the health or physical condition of said minor is such as to render inadvisable his or her immediate attendance at school, or such as to render inadvisable his or her attendance at school for the full time required, the board of trustees or board of education of the school district in which said minor resides may excuse said minor from attendance at school for such length of time as said board of trustees or board of education may deem necessary, and may issue to said minor a certificate to that effect, which certificate shall be sufficient warrant for the absence from school of the minor mentioned therein during the time stated therein.

SEC. 8. Every person, firm or corporation employing minors under fourteen years of age, in any manufacturing establishment, shall post and keep posted, in a conspicuous place in every room where such minors are employed, a printed notice stating the number of hours per day and days per week and the hours of the week during which such minors are employed.

SEC. 9. Every person, firm or corporation, agent or officer of a firm or corporation employing or permitting minors under fourteen years of age to work in any manufacturing establishment, factory, mercantile establishment, workshop, place of amusement, restaurant, hotel, apartment house, or in the delivery, sale or transportation of merchandise or messenger service, having in control of the books, age and proof of residence of such minors, and shall furnish the Labor Commissioner or his duly authorized agent, upon demand, such information as he may require for the purposes of this Act, and shall permit such Commissioner, agent, officer and employee to inspect at all times the employment of any minor employed and performing services in any of the establishments, factories, workshops, places of amusement, restaurants, hotels, apartment houses

An age and schooling certificate shall not be approved unless satisfactory evidence is furnished by the last school census, the certificate of birth or baptism of such minor, the public register of birth of such minor, or in some other manner, that such minor is of the age stated in such certificate. A duplicate copy of each age and schooling certificate granted under the provisions of this Act shall be kept by the person issuing such certificate, such copy to be filed with the county superintendent of schools in the county where the certificate is issued; provided, that all such copies of certificates issued between June 25th and December 25th of any year shall be filed not later than December 31st of such year; and those issued between December 25th and June 25th of the ensuing year, shall be filed not later than June 30th of each year.

The county superintendent of schools of each county shall file with the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics, a report showing the number of age and schooling certificates issued to male and female minors and such other detailed information as the commissioner may require. Said report to be filed during the months of January and July of each year for the preceding six months, ending June 25th and December 25th of each year, and cover certificates issued during said periods and on file in the office of the county superintendent of schools as described in this section.

SEC. 11. Age and schooling certificates shall be issued on forms which shall be prepared and provided by the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics of the State of California, and shall be substantially in the following form, to wit:

Age and schooling certificate. This certifies that I am the (father, mother, or guardian) of (name of the minor) and that (he or she) was born at (name of the city or town), in the county of (name of county, if known), and state (or country) of (name) on the day (day and year of birth), and is now (number of years and of months) old.

Signature, as provided in this Act.

City or town, and date.

There personally appeared before me the above named (name of person signing) and made oath that the following certificate by (him or her) signed is true to the best of (his or her) knowledge and belief.

I hereby approve the foregoing certificate of (name of minor), height (feet and inches), complexion (fair or dark), hair (color), having no sufficient reason to doubt that (he or she) is of the age therein certified, and I hereby certify that (he or she) (has or has not) completed the prescribed grammar school course.

Signature of the person authorized to sign, with his official character and authority.

Town or city and date.

This certificate belongs to the minor in whose behalf it is drawn and it shall be presented to (him or her) whenever (he or she) leaves the services of the person, firm or corporation holding the same.

The certificate as to the birthplace and age of the minor under sixteen years of age shall be signed by his father, his mother, or his guardian; if a minor has no father, mother or guardian living in the same city or town, his own signature to the certificate may be accepted by the person authorized to approve the same. Every person authorized to sign the certificate prescribed by this Act, who knowingly certifies to any false statement therein, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than five nor more than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment not more than thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 12. No minor having a permit to work, as described in Sections 3, 4 and 5 of this Act, and no minor having an age and schooling certificate, as described in Sections 9, 10 and 11 of this Act, and no other minor under sixteen years of age, who would by law be required to attend school, shall, while the public schools are in session, be and remain idle and unemployed for a period longer than two weeks but must enroll and attend school; provided, that within one week after any minor having such a permit to work or such age and schooling certificate shall have ceased to be employed by any employer, such employer shall, in writing, giving the latest correct address of such minor known to such employer, notify the county superintendent of schools of such county, that such minor is no longer employed by such employer; and such county superintendent of schools, shall thereupon immediately notify the attendance officer having jurisdiction in the place of such minor's residence, giving the said latest known correct address of such minor, that such minor is neither at work nor in school; and provided, further, that no such minor shall be permitted to cease school attendance, without securing a permit to work, or an age and schooling certificate as provided in this Act.

SEC. 13. Any person, firm, corporation, agent, or officer of a firm or corporation that violates or omits to comply with any of the foregoing provisions of this Act, or that employs or suffers or permits any minor to be employed in violation thereof, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars or more than two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than sixty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment, for each and every offense. A failure to produce any age and schooling certificate or permit to work or to post any notice required by this Act, shall be prima facie evidence of the illegal employment of any minor whose age and schooling certificate or permit to work is not produced, or whose name is not to appear. Any fine collected under the provisions of this Act shall be paid into the school funds of the county or city or city and county in which the offense occurred. Upon such fines collected as the result of prosecutions by the officers of the county or town corporation, in such cases one half of the proceeds of the fine shall be paid into the county treasury and accredited to the contingent fund of the bureau of labor statistics, and one half into the school funds of the county, or city, or city and county in which the offense occurred.

Sec. 14. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to prohibit the employment of persons as apprentices, learners, or assistants, or employment without wages for time the public schools are not in session, or during school hours. For the purposes of this Act, horticultural shall be understood to include the raising and drying, but not the canning, of all varieties of fruit. Nor shall anything in this Act be interpreted as prohibit any minor between the ages of fifteen and eighteen years, who is by any ability or provision of the laws of California, now or hereafter in force, permitted to be employed in an office, or upstairs, or anywhere in a theatre or other place of amusement, previous to the hour of five o'clock p. m., in the presentation of a performance, play or theatre entertaining. Nor any minor under the age of fifteen the hour of six o'clock p. m. Only nothing has in this Act shall be such presentation as said employees between the hours of said time, without the permission of the written consent of the superintendent of the bureau of labor statistics first obtained. Nor shall anything in this Act prevent or be interpreted to prohibit the employment of any minor, whether resident or nonresident, in the presentation of a drama or dramatic play under the auspices of the superintendent of the bureau of labor statistics, but no such consent shall be given unless the officer acting is satisfied that the environment in which the drama or dramatic play is to be produced is in proper environment for the minor, and that the production of such entertainment will not be detrimental to the health of such minor, and that the minor's education will not be neglected or hampered by the participation in such drama or dramatic play, and every such written consent shall specify the name and age of the minor engaged with such other facts as may be necessary for the proper identification of such minor, and the dates when and the theatres in which such play is permitted to be given, such dramas or dramatic plays not to be produced, and shall specify the dramas or dramatic plays in which the minor is permitted to participate, and every such consent shall be revocable at the will of the officer acting."

Sec. 15. The bureau of labor statistics shall enforce the provisions of this Act. The commissioner, his deputies and agents shall have all the powers and authority of sheriffs or other police officers to make arrests for violations of the provisions of this Act and to serve any process or notice throughout the state."

Strike out all after the enacting clause, and insert in lieu thereof:

SECTION 1. An Act entitled "An Act limiting the hours of labor of females employed in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, or restaurant, or telegraph or telephone establishment or office, or by any express or transportation company; compelling each employer in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel or restaurant, or other establishment employing any female, to provide suitable seats for all female employees and to permit them to use such seats when they are not engaged in the active duties of their employment; and providing a penalty for failure, neglect, or refusal of the employer to comply with the provisions of this Act, and for permitting or suffering any overseer, superintendent, foreman or other agent of any such employer to violate the provisions of this Act," approved March 22, 1911, hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1. No female shall be employed in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, public lodging house, apartment house, hospital, place of amusement, or restaurant, or telegraph or telephone establishment or office, or by any express or transportation company in this state more than eight hours during any one day or more than forty-eight hours in one week. The hours of work may be so arranged as to permit the employment of females at any time so that they shall not work more than eight hours during the twenty-four hours of one day, or forty-eight hours during any one week, provided, however, that the provisions of this section in relation to hours of employment shall not apply to nor affect the harvesting, curing, canning or drying of any variety of perishable fruit or vegetable, nor to graduate nurses in hospitals.

SEC. 2. Every employer in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, or restaurant, or other establishment employing any female, shall provide suitable seats for all female employees, and shall permit them to use such seats when they are not engaged in the active duties of their employment.

SEC. 3. The bureau of labor statistics shall enforce the provisions of this Act. The commissioner, his deputies and agents, shall have all powers and authority of sheriffs or other peace officers, to make arrests for violations of the provisions of this Act, and to serve all processes and notices thereunder, throughout the state.

SEC. 4. Any employer who shall permit or require any female to work in any of the places mentioned in section one more than the number of hours provided for in this Act during any day of twenty-four hours, or who shall fail, neglect or refuse to so arrange the work of females in his employ so that they shall not work more than the number of hours provided for in this Act during any day of twenty-four hours, or who shall fail, neglect, or refuse to provide suitable seats as provided in section three of this Act, or who shall permit or suffer any overseer, superintendent, foreman, or other agent of any such employer to violate any of the provisions of this Act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished for a first offense, by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than fifty dollars; for a second offense, by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than two hundred and fifty dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than sixty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. All fines imposed and collected under the provisions of this Act shall be paid into the state treasury and credited to the contingent fund of the bureau of labor statistics.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE FOR SENATE BILL NO. 1253

An Act declaring certain corporations, individuals or associations of individuals engaged, directly or indirectly, in the transportation of crude oil or petroleum or the products thereof, into, out of or within the State of California by means of pipe lines, to be common carriers, regulating such common carriers and the transportation thereby of crude oil or petroleum or the products thereof and providing penalties for the violation of this Act, and repealing Section 2½ of the Public Utilities Act of the State of California, approved December 23, 1911.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Every private corporation and every individual or association of individuals

(a) Owning, operating, managing or controlling any pipe line or any part of any pipe line, plant or equipment within the State of California for the transportation of crude oil or petroleum or the products thereof, either directly or indirectly to or for the public, for hire, compensation or consideration of any kind, paid, given, extended or received, directly or indirectly, for such transportation, or engaged, directly or indirectly, in the business of so transporting the same; or

(b) Owning, operating, managing or controlling any pipe line or any part of any pipe line, plant or equipment for the transportation, directly or indirectly, of crude oil, petroleum or products thereof to or for the public, for hire, compensation or consideration of any kind, paid or received, directly or indirectly, for such transportation, and which said pipe line, plant or equipment is constructed or maintained upon, along, over or under any public highway, and in favor of whom the right of eminent domain exists; or

(c) Owning, operating, managing or controlling, directly or indirectly, any pipe line or pipe lines, or any part of any pipe line or pipe lines, plant or equipment, or any pipe line system or any part thereof, for the transportation, directly or indirectly, to or for the public, for hire or otherwise, of crude oil, petroleum or products thereof, and which said pipe line, or pipe lines, or plant or equipment, or system, is, or are, constructed, operated or maintained across, upon, along, over or under the right of way of any railroad corporation or other common carrier required by law to transport crude oil, petroleum or products thereof as a common carrier, or

(d) Owning, using, operating, managing or controlling, directly or indirectly, or participating in the ownership, use, operation, management or control, directly or indirectly, under lease, contract of purchase, agreement to buy and sell, or other contractural or tacit agreement or arrangement of any kind or character whatsoever, of any pipe line, or pipe lines, or any part of any pipe line, or pipe lines, plant or equipment, or pipe line system, or any part of any pipe line system, for the transportation of crude oil, petroleum or the products thereof, of and from, or of, or from any oil field or place of production within the State of California, to any distributing, refining or marketing center or reshipping point therefor within said state, whereby, or under, or through which directly or indirectly, such corporation, or any corporation or association of corporations, or individual or association of individuals secures, or is enabled to secure, or attempts to secure, or tends to secure, the control of, or monopoly of the purchasing of, or the control of, or monopoly of the transportation of such crude oil, petroleum or the products thereof;

Is hereby declared to be a common carrier and subject to the provisions of the Act known as the "Public Utilities Act," approved December 23, 1911.

SEC. 2. Every corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of California or under the laws of any other state to transport, or to engage in the business of transporting, within the State of California, any crude oil, petroleum, or the products thereof, or for the purpose of acquiring, constructing, leasing, owning, maintaining or operating, directly or indirectly, or of controlling or participating in the control of any pipe line or pipe lines with pumping station or stations, or other appurtenant equipment or plant constructed and maintained, or to be constructed or maintained for the transportation of crude oil, petroleum or the products thereof, actually engaged or engaging in such operation or transportation, directly or indirectly, or shares, directly or indirectly, in the business of such operation or transportation, is hereby declared to be a common carrier and subject to the provisions of the "Public Utilities Act" of the State of California, approved December 23, 1911.

SEC. 3. Any pipe line constructed, acquired, owned, operated, maintained, managed or controlled by any private corporation or individual or association of individuals for any of the purposes or under any of the conditions specified in Section 1 or Section 2 of this Act is hereby declared to be a public utility and subject to the provisions of the "Public Utilities Act" of the State of California, approved December 23, 1911.

SEC. 4. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this Act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Act. The legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this Act and each section, subsection, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more other sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional.

SEC. 5. The provisions of this Act are not to be construed as applying to any corporation, individual or association of individuals where the nature and extent of their business is such that the public needs no use in the same, and the conduct of the same is not a matter of public consequence.

SECOND READING OF BILL

On motion of Senator Bryant, the Senate took up the consideration of the second reading of Senate Bill No. 1429, ordered on file this day.

Senate Bill No. 1429—An Act to amend Section 894 of the Political Code, relating to the classification of insurance business and to the capital stock of insurance companies.

During second reading of the bill, the following amendment was offered by the committee:

On page 1, line 1, of the printed bill, after the words "Section 1," strike out the entire ground and insert in lieu thereof the following:

Section 894 of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

894. All insurance business in the State of California is hereby classified in the following seventy-three kinds, namely:

1. Life insurance, including every kind of insurance upon the lives of persons, and every insurance appertaining thereto, and the granting, purchasing and disposing of annuities.

2. Life insurance, including every kind of industrial insurance, that is to say, insurance by any person, association or corporation doing business in this State, whether such insurance be written upon the life of the insured or upon the life of any person in which the insured has an insurable interest, in which premiums are payable monthly or more frequently, and in which the agent or collector of the insurer is required to call at the home of the insured for the premium.

3. Marine insurance, including every kind of insurance upon ships, vessels, freights, goods, wares, merchandise, moneys, bullion, precious stones, pearls, plate, jewelry, household goods, furniture, and personal property, and every interest therein, or relative thereto, against loss or damage by fire, lightning, perils of the sea, pirates, assailing thieves, barratry of the master or mariners, and all other perils, losses and misfortunes that may lawfully be insured against, and also against losses, damages, costs, charges, and expenses arising from capture, detention, or the perils, dangers, and accidents of war, or of any person or persons, vessel or vessels, acting with hostile purpose or design, whether in time of peace or war, and against all losses, damages, costs, charges, and expenses that may lawfully be insured against, relative to any and all of the matters aforesaid, however such loss, damage, cost, charge or expense may arise or happen; and also upon the body, tackle, apparel, ordnance, munitions, artillery, boats, and other furniture of any ship or vessel, and upon the earnings of any steamer, and upon all fixtures, personal property, profits, commissions and moneys, and all interests therein, which may appertain to the business of navigation or to the owning, chartering, shipping or employing of any ship or vessel, and against any and all losses, damages, costs, charges, and expenses which may lawfully be insured against, relative to any and all of the matters aforesaid, however such loss, damage, cost, charge or expense may arise or happen.

4. Title insurance, including guaranteeing, assuring or indemnifying owners of real or personal property, or others interested therein, against loss or damage suffered by reason of defects in, liens or encumbrances upon, or adverse claims to title to, or interest in, such property.

5. Fidelity and surety insurance, including every insurance guaranteeing the fidelity of persons holding places of trust, or the performance of contracts other than insurance policies, and executing or guaranteeing bonds and undertakings required or permitted in all actions or proceedings or by law allowed, and every bond or undertaking conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties of any office or position, and every bond or undertaking for the due execution, prosecution or performance of any act, contract or proceeding, or for the payment or repayment of money, or the delivery or production of property of any kind, which may be lawfully required, and every insurance against loss or damage by reason of the failure of any principal in any such bond or undertaking duly to perform the duties or obligations undertaken by him.

6. Accident insurance, and other insurance on persons, including every insurance against bodily injury, disablement or death resulting from accident, and against disablement resulting from sickness and every insurance appertaining thereto.

7. Plate glass insurance, including every insurance against breakage of plate, tempered or ornamental glass.

8. Liability insurance, including every insurance against liability arising out of the ownership, maintenance or use of any property, real or personal, not specifically mentioned in this section, or arising out of the conduct of any business not specifically mentioned in this section, or arising out of the conduct of any business not specifically mentioned in this section, and every insurance against loss or damage resulting from any liability to or for injury to or death of persons, not specifically mentioned in this section, and every insurance incidental to any business, not specifically mentioned in this section, but not including insurance against liability arising out of the ownership, maintenance or use of railroads, vehicles or aircraft, or against liability arising out of the ownership, maintenance or use of any vessel, except as provided in subdivision 13 of this section, or against liability arising out of the operation of elevators, or against liability arising out of the business of an employing printer, or against liability arising out of the publication or circulation of libelous matter, or against liability arising out of assault and battery, or against liability arising out of false arrest, detention or imprisonment, or malicious prosecution, or against liability arising out of libel, slander, defamation or violation of the right of privacy, or against liability arising out of wrongful entry or eviction, or other invasion of the right of private occupancy, or against liability arising out of the use of automobiles, or against liability arising out of the operation of aircraft, or against liability arising out of the ownership, maintenance or operation of any automatic sprinkler system, or against liability arising out of the maintenance or use of explosives, or against liability arising out of the use of any device for the transmission of electric current for light, heat, power or any other purpose, or against liability arising out of the maintenance or use of any elevator by or on behalf of any person other than the insured, or against liability arising out of the ownership, maintenance or use of any aerial tramway, or against liability arising out of the maintenance or use of any structure or property by or on behalf of any person other than the insured.

9. Boiler and pressure insurance, including vessels, boilers, fly wheels, machinery, steam, electric and power, by whatever motive power operated, appurtenances connected therewith, or operated thereby, against explosions and accidents and against loss and damage to the property of the insured, or for which he is responsible, caused by explosion, accident or breakage of the said property, and against loss of use and occupancy arising therefrom, and against loss of the said property caused by explosion, accident or breakage.

10. Burglary insurance, including policies or contracts against loss by burglary or theft or both.

11. Credit insurance, including effects for insuring merchants, manufacturers, traders, and those engaged in business and giving credit for loss and damage by means of giving and extending credit to their customers and those dealing with them, and insurance of guarantees either by endorsement or contract guaranteeing them or otherwise against loss or damage from the default of persons indebted or to become indebted to the insured, or to meet existing or contemplated liabilities.

12. Sprinkler insurance, including every insurance against loss or damage by water or substances thrown or issued from sprinkler pipes and extinguishing apparatus and accidentally or otherwise coming in contact with property insured, and against damage to such sprinkler pipes and apparatus.

13. Inland and vessel insurance, including every insurance against loss or legal liability for loss, damage or detention of vessels or property caused by the navigation of vessels, whether by perils of the sea or otherwise, and also for loss, damage or detention of the vessel or property caused by the upsetting, collision, sinking or stranding of any vessel with which or any part of which the vessel insured may come in contact, and also for general average and salvage charges and for the proportion of losses of vessels or property which the insured may be liable to pay or contribute to in case the vessel insured or the property thereon is sacrificed for the general safety, and also for loss, damage or detention of the vessel or property caused by the insolvency or wrongful act of the master, officers or crew of the vessel, and also for loss, damage or detention of the vessel or property caused by the negligence of pilots, engineers, lightermen, mariners or other persons employed by the insured or by any other person or corporation towing, assisting or navigating the vessel insured, and also for loss, damage or detention of the vessel or property caused by explosion, bursting of boilers, breakage of shafts or any latent defect in the machinery or hull, or any other accident of navigation, and also for loss, damage or detention of the vessel or property caused by the negligence of the insured or of any person or corporation towing, assisting or navigating the vessel insured any hazard or risk upon an automobile unless authorized to assume hazards or risks of that character by its charter or articles of incorporation. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent a fire insurance company from issuing a policy of insurance upon an automobile covering the fire hazard only, nor be construed to prevent a marine insurance company from issuing a policy of insurance upon an automobile covering the marine hazard of transportation only, nor be construed to prevent a life insurance company which also transacts liability insurance from issuing a policy of insurance upon an automobile, covering the liability hazard only.

15. Mortgage insurance, including within its meaning the guaranteeing of the payment of the principal, interest and other sums agreed to be paid under the terms of any note or bond secured by mortgage or trust deed, or other sums secured under the terms of any such mortgage or trust deed, in its entirety, or of an undivided or other partial interest in any such mortgage or trust deed, or in a group of such mortgages or trust deeds, and the guaranteeing or insuring, directly or indirectly, against loss thereon.

16. Miscellaneous insurance, including within its meaning lightning, windstorm, tornado and earthquake insurance, and any and all casualty insurance not included in any of the foregoing kinds, and which is a proper subject of insurance.

No company shall do any of the foregoing sixteen kinds of insurance unless authorized to do so by its charter. No company having a capital stock of less than two hundred thousand dollars, nor shall any such company do in California any other of said kinds of insurance, except the sixth and eighth classes, provided that any such insurance company desiring to do either the sixth or eighth class, must have in addition to such two hundred thousand dollars of capital stock, at least fifty thousand dollars of capital stock for each class it desires to do, and one hundred thousand dollars additional capital stock to do both such additional classes. No company having a capital stock shall do in California any fire insurance without having a capital stock of at least two hundred thousand dollars nor shall any such company do in California, any other of said kinds of insurance, except the third, tenth, twelfth, fourteenth and sixteenth classes. To do both fire and marine insurance such company must have a capital stock of at least four hundred thousand dollars, and to do any other class of insurance, such company must have an additional capital stock of at least fifty thousand dollars for each such additional class it desires to do, in addition to the two hundred thousand dollars required if it does fire insurance or the four hundred thousand dollars required if it does both fire and marine insurance. No company having a capital stock shall do in California any of said third kind of insurance without having a capital stock of at least two hundred thousand dollars, nor shall any such company do in California any other of said kinds of insurance except the second, thirteenth, fourteenth and sixteenth classes. To do both fire and marine insurance such company must have a capital stock of at least four hundred thousand dollars, and to do any other class of insurance, such company must have an additional capital stock of at least fifty thousand dollars for each such additional class it desires to do, in addition to the two hundred thousand dollars required if it does marine insurance or the four hundred thousand dollars required if it does both marine and fire insurance. No company having a capital stock shall do in California any of the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth or sixteenth of said kinds of insurance without having a capital stock of at least one hundred thousand dollars for the first class of insurance such company desires to do, nor do any other of such classes without having in addition to such one hundred thousand dollars of capital stock at least fifty thousand dollars additional capital stock for each additional kind of insurance that it desires to do. Except as above prescribed, no company doing either the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth or sixteenth classes of insurance, shall do any of the first, second or third classes of insurance. No company doing the fourth class of insurance shall do any other class of insurance, and no company doing the fifteenth class of insurance shall do any other class of insurance, and no company doing any other class of insurance shall do either the fourth class or the fifteenth class of insurance.

Such capital stock required must be fully paid up before doing any such business in the State of California, except that companies incorporated under the laws of California, must have at least twenty-five per cent of their capital stock paid in previous to the issuance of any policies and the residue within twelve months of the filing of the articles of incorporation with the secretary of state. If such residue is not paid within twelve months, the insurance commissioner must cancel any certificate of authority previously issued to such company. The capital stock required must be unimpaired and shall be exclusive of all liabilities for losses reported, expenses, taxes and re-insurance of all outstanding risks as provided in sections six hundred and two and six hundred and two a of the Political Code. Every company organized or formed under the laws of any other state or country as a mutual or as a joint stock and mutual company having a capital stock less than as above prescribed must have in lieu of such capital stock available cash assets of at least two hundred thousand dollars above all liabilities for losses reported, expenses, taxes and re-insurance of all outstanding risks as provided in sections six hundred and two and six hundred and two a of the Political Code. No company shall do an insurance without having at least one hundred thousand dollars of capital stock fully paid in in cash, previous to the issuance of any policy; and no company shall do fire insurance without having at least one hundred thousand dollars of capital stock fully paid in in cash, previous to the issuance of any policy.

Amendment adopted.

Bill read second time, and ordered to print, engrossment and third reading.

Senate Bill No. 5—An Act to amend Section 973 of the Civil Code of the State of California, relating to the taking, holding, conveyance to and disposition of property, real and personal, within said State of California.

Read third time on a previous day.

The question being on the report of the special committee of one, submitted on a previous day, to amend as follows:

AMENDMENT No. 1.

By striking out all of the title after the words "An Act" in line 1 of the title, and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "relating to the right of aliens and of corporations a majority of the stock and controlling control stock of which is held or owned by aliens ineligible to citizenship under the naturalization laws of the United States to acquire title to, take, hold or dispose of property in the State of California, providing for the escheat of such real estate to the State of California, providing for the recovery of property escheated thereto or held by any alien or such ineligible corporation in the State of California, and providing for ensuring title to real property to purchasers thereof or such land for the protection of the purchaser, and repealing Section 973 of the Civil Code."

By striking out all that portion of the Act after the word "provided," in line 6 of Section 1 on page 1, line 4, and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

SEC. 2. Title to real property situated in this State shall be acquirable only by aliens, whether natural or non-resident, under the conditions, rights and limitations set forth in this Act and not otherwise.

SEC. 3. Any alien may hereafter acquire by succession or inheritance lands by devise or descent which are hereafter conveyed to him, may retain title to lands in or to any real property acquired in the manner and may hold the same for the period of one year after the date of acquiring such right, title or interest, and no longer, provided, however, that if any such alien be a person who is engaged in business at the time of so acquiring title he may hold such lands for the period of one year after a guardian or his estate is appointed to act in such business capacity, or, in case of a minor, if no such guardian or conservator prior to the time said minor shall have attained his majority. Any alien may hold such lands for the period of one year after the date of such appointment and no longer, provided, however, that if any such alien be a person who is engaged in business at the time of such appointment and the guardian or his estate shall have previously terminated by a court having jurisdiction thereof, he may hold such lands for the period of one year after a guardian of his estate is appointed to such business, or, in case of a minor, if no such guardian or conservator is appointed to such business prior to the time said minor shall have attained his majority, then he may hold such title for the period of one year after attaining his majority. At the expiration of said period of one year in any of the cases above named, all real property so held by such aliens, and all right, title and interest therein so held by such aliens, shall be escheated to and become the property of the State of California, and proceedings for such purpose shall be taken as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 4. Any corporation, whether formed under the provisions of the laws of this state or of any other state or country, a majority of the stock and corporate control stock of which shall be owned or held by such aliens or persons ineligible to citizenship under the naturalization laws of the United States may hereafter acquire by purchase or devise any right, title or interest in or to any real property situated in this state, and may hold the same for the period of one year from the date of so acquiring such right, title or interest, but no longer; provided, however, that if such right, title or interest be acquired by such corporation by devise, then such may be held for the period of one year after the date of such distribution thereof to such corporation. At the expiration of said period of one year in any of the cases above named, all real property so held by such corporation, and all right, title or interest therein so held by such corporation shall be subject to escheat to the State of California, and proceedings for such purpose shall be taken as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 4. No contract, agreement or lease whereby real property, or any interest therein, is hereafter let, leased or rented for a longer period than four years shall be made to any alien or to any corporation of the class described in section three of this Act, and no renewal or extension of any such contract, lease or agreement shall be made extending said period of four years, as hereinabove specified, and any such contract, agreement or lease hereafter made to any alien or any such corporation contrary to the provisions of this section shall be null and void.

SEC. 5. Any alien or any corporation of the class described in section three of this Act hereafter acquiring, owning or holding real property or any right, title or interest therein, in the State of California, in contravention of the provisions of this Act, or subject to escheat to the State of California, under the provisions of this Act, may nevertheless convey, either by way of security or otherwise, or mortgage, or otherwise, encumber, or demise and let the same at any time before the commencement of escheat proceedings and the recording of the notice of pendency of such proceedings as in this Act provided, and in such case any such conveyance, or mortgage, or encumbrance, or lease, shall not be impaired or affected by the provisions of this Act; provided, however, that if any such conveyance, or mortgage, or encumbrance or lease, be made to any alien or to any corporation of the class described in section three of this Act, then such alien or corporation shall take and acquire title under the restrictions and subject to the terms and conditions set forth in sections two and three of this Act, respectively; provided further, however, that if any such conveyance, or mortgage, or encumbrance or lease shall be made with the intent or for the purpose of evading the provisions of this Act, and not in good faith or for substantial consideration, such conveyance or mortgage, or encumbrance or lease, shall render the property thereby conveyed or mortgaged, or encumbered or leased, subject to escheat to the State of California for the benefit of the state school fund, and such conveyance or mortgage, or encumbrance or lease, may in the proceedings, taken as hereinafter provided for the purpose of declaring such escheat, be declared null and void, and in such case the grantee, lienholder or lessee in any such conveyance, mortgage, or encumbrance or lease, if an alien, shall not be entitled to the right given by section six of this Act to prevent such escheat by becoming a citizen of the United States, or by filing a declaration of intention to become such citizen; provided further, however, that if no proceedings are brought to have any property affected by any conveyance or mortgage, or encumbrance or lease of the character mentioned in this section declared escheated to the state, within one month after any such conveyance has been duly recorded in the office of the county recorder of the county wherein the land so attempted to be conveyed, mortgaged, encumbered or leased, is situated, then it shall be conclusively presumed that such conveyance, mortgage, encumbrance or lease, was made in good faith and not with the intention of evading the provisions of this Act, and thereafter no escheat proceedings for such purpose by reason of such conveyance, mortgage, encumbrances or lease shall be commenced; provided further, however, that if any such conveyance, mortgage, encumbrance or lease be to an alien or to a corporation, of the class mentioned in section three, the title thereby conveyed shall, nevertheless, be subject to escheat under the provisions of this Act as though such alien or corporation had acquired such title in any other manner.

SEC. 6. The title, interest, or lien granted, conveyed or created by any deed, deed of trust, or other conveyance, or mortgage of land, which shall have been duly recorded in the office of the recorder of the county where the land is situated prior to the recording of the notice of pendency of escheat proceedings herein provided for, shall not be impaired or affected in any way by the provisions of this Act, or by such escheat proceedings.

SEC. 7. Nothing in this Act contained shall apply to any real property, or any right, title or interest therein, or lien thereon, acquired, owned or held by any alien who shall have declared his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States, according to law, or who shall have become a citizen of the United States, and if any proceedings for the escheat to the State of California of any real property acquired, held or owned by any such alien shall have been commenced prior to such declaration of intention or prior to such alien owner becoming a citizen of the United States, such proceedings shall, upon proof of such fact, be discontinued and judgment in accordance with the facts shall thereupon be entered, and the recordation in the office of the county recorder of the county wherein the real property is situated of a certified copy of such declaration of intention by any such alien, or of proof of citizenship, duly certified by the officer having the custody or control of the original, or of a certified copy of the judgment entered in such action, shall establish the right of such person to own and hold real property free from the restrictions or limitations in this Act provided.

SEC. 8. The provisions of this Act shall not impair or destroy any right secured to any alien under the provisions of any treaty between the United States and the country of which such alien shall be a citizen or subject.

SEC. 9. It shall be the duty of the district attorney of any county in this state wherein any real property, or any portion thereof, acquired, owned or held contrary to the provisions of this Act, is situated, when he shall be informed, or shall have reason to believe, that any property in said county is being held contrary to the provisions of this Act, to file a complaint on behalf of and in the name of the people of the State of California as plaintiff, or the attorney-general of the county in which such property or some portion thereof is situated, setting forth a description of the property, the names of all persons or corporations owning or holding or claiming to own or hold the same, or any portion thereof, so far as the same can be ascertained by the records of the county in which the land is situated, who shall be named as sole defendant; that the right to escheat to the State of California the property of said A. B. and the facts and circumstances in connection therewith, shall be stated; that the same is to be subject to the provisions of this Act; that all persons claiming to be entitled to the whole or any portion of the property sought to be escheated to the State shall be required to appear and answer the complaint within the time fixed by the court in which the action is brought, not less than thirty days from the date of the first publication of the summons, which said summons shall contain all the matters required by the provisions of law relating to the service of the summons in other civil actions. Summons shall be issued and served in accordance with the provisions of law, but no costs shall be allowed Plaintiff or Defendant. At the time the complaint is filed, a notice of the pendency of such escheat proceeding must be filed in the office of the recorder of the county where the land or any part thereof is situated, containing the names of the parties and the object of the action, and a description of the property in that county affected thereby.

SEC. 10. The court upon the completion of the trial and upon examination of the district attorney, either before or after judgment in favor of the State, shall declare in the decree or supplemental decree as the case may be, that the title to escheat thereby upon shall be forever quieted and settled in the State of California, and that the defendant or defendants have no right, title or interest in the property, or any part thereof, and the decree shall further declare the property to be escheated to the State of California, and that the State is entitled to the possession thereof, and shall direct the sheriff of the county where the property is situated to take possession thereof, and shall direct the disposition of the rents, income and profits of the same, and such matters as may be deemed necessary.

SEC. 11. In any action brought by the attorney-general or any district attorney under the provisions of section [illegible] of this Act, or any suit to quiet title or to determine adverse claims in which said property or any portion thereof the State of California may be made a defendant and having answered, setting forth the state that he never owns the property or any portion and the amount thereof.

SEC. 12. All persons or corporations named in the complaint may appear and answer and traverse or deny the facts stated therein or any thereof within the time for answering or appearing expires, and any other person claiming any interest in such property may appear and intervene in said action, on his own behalf or through his attorney, by motion for such purpose, at such time within the time allowed for answering. If any person appears and denies the facts set out in said complaint or introduces any material fact not both parties shall be entitled to a trial by jury, and the issue shall be tried in civil actions. In all such proceedings the state shall be deemed to have established prima facie that said defendant is an alien or that said corporation defendant therein is an alien ineligible to citizenship under the naturalization laws of the United States to prove that such defendant person or corporation is not registered as an owner of the property where said action is commenced and that no copy of any declaration by such defendant person or corporation of intention to become a citizen of the United States can be found among the archives and records of public records of said county. If after the issues are tried, it appears from the facts found or admitted that the property described in the complaint or any part thereof has escheated to the state, judgment must be rendered vesting the right to the same in the state, and that the right is the absolute and entitled to the possession thereof, and that it forever quiets all and against the defendants who have appeared and answered. In any such judgment rendered by the court declaring property escheated to the state or portion of the district attorney, the court must order and decree that such property be sold by the sheriff of the county wherein it is situated at public sale to the highest bidder for cash after giving such notice of the time and place of sale as may be prescribed by the court in such order and must in the judgment determine the value of said property or any portion thereof and must also determine who is entitled to the proceeds of such sale. The sheriff within ten days after such sale must make a report thereof to the court, and upon the hearing of such report the court may examine the same and witnesses in relation thereto, and if the proceedings were regular, or if not, but if in the opinion of the court the sale was disadvantageous to the state, or if it appears that a sum exceeding ten per cent in excess of the expense of a new sale may be obtained the court may vacate the sale and direct another to be held, of which notice must be given, and such sale in all respects conducted as if no previous sale had taken place. If no other property of sufficient value to satisfy the amount that may remain in the county is made to the court in writing by a responsible person, the court may in its discretion permit such offer and confirm the sale to such person, or order a new sale. If it appears to the court that the sale was legally made and fairly conducted and that the sum bid is not disproportionate to the value of the property sold, and that a sum exceeding sixty per cent has been obtained, or if the expense of a new sale, can not be obtained, or if the proposed bid above mentioned is made and accepted by the court, the court must make an order confirming the sale, and directing the sheriff, in the name of the state, to execute forthwith to the purchaser or purchasers a conveyance of said property sold and said conveyance shall vest in the purchaser or purchasers all the right and title of the state thereto, and the sheriff must, out of the proceeds of such sale, pay the cost of said proceedings incurred on behalf of the state, including the expenses of making such sale, and also an attorney's fee, if additional counsel be employed in said proceedings, to be fixed by the court, not exceeding twenty per cent of the amount of such sale, and the residue thereof must be paid by said sheriff to the clerk of said court, who shall forthwith deposit the same with the county treasurer, together with a certified copy of the judgment, and he shall retain the same as a special deposit for the period of one year from the date of payment to him, and he shall pay the same to the persons entitled thereto under the judgment, and if not claimed by them within the period of one year thereafter, the same shall be paid into the state school fund. The term alien owner shall include any corporation of the class mentioned in section three of this Act. In no event, however, shall the state be liable to any person or corporation for a greater sum than the amount so paid to the state treasurer.

SEC. 13. The prohibitions of this Act contained shall not extend to lands, or any interest therein, which are valuable chiefly for mines or minerals, or which are being operated as mines, nor to lands chiefly valuable for the production of oil, or which are being used for the production of oil, nor to timber lands, nor to lands owned or used as sites for warehouses, wharves, refineries, or factories for the treatment, refining, reduction, processing, manufacturing, shipping, storing, or otherwise handling or disposing of any of the products of such lands, nor to pipe lines for the conveyance of oil or other fluid substances except water, nor to rights of way for such pipe lines, and any alien or any corporation may take, hold or dispose of any such lands, pipe lines and rights of way, or any interest therein.

SEC. 14. This Act shall not apply to the acquisition by aliens or corporations of lands or any interest therein, which are now, or may hereafter become subject to a deed of trust, mortgage, or other lien to secure a debt or other obligation to any alien or corporation, where such lands or interest therein are acquired at a sale under such deed of trust, mortgage, or other lien, for default of the debtor in the debt or obligation secured thereby, or upon a judicial sale upon the foreclosure of such deed of trust, mortgage, or other lien.

SEC. 15. This Act shall apply to corporations of the class described in section three, and to none other.

SEC. 16. No right now vested shall be impaired or affected in any way by the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 17. If any section, sentence, clause or phrase of this Act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of the Act. The legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this Act, and each section, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more other sections, sentences, clauses or phrases unconstitutional.

SEC. 18. All Acts and parts of Acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Report read and refused adoption.

SENATOR CURTIN IN THE CHAIR.

At four o'clock and thirty minutes p.m., Senator Curtin, of the Twelfth District, in the chair.

MOTION TO REFER TO SPECIAL COMMITTEE OF ONE.

Senator Birdsall moved to refer Senate Bill No. 5, as amended, to Senator Boynton, as a special committee of one, to amend as follows:

AMENDMENT NO. 1.

By striking out all of the title after the words "An Act", in line 1, of the title, and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "defining and limiting the right of aliens and of corporations, a majority of the issued and outstanding capital stock of which is held or owned by aliens ineligible to citizenship under the naturalization laws of the United States, to acquire title to, own, hold or lease real property in the State of California, providing for the period of time any alien or any such corporation may lease real property in the State of California, providing for the escheat of property acquired, owned or held by any alien or any such corporation to the State of California, and providing for divesting title to real property so acquired, owned or held and for the disposition of the proceeds, and repealing conflicting Acts."

By striking out all that portion of the Act after the word "provided", at the end of Section 1, page 1, line 4, and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

SEC. 2. Title to real property situated in this state may be acquired and held by aliens, whether resident or non-resident, under the restrictions, terms and conditions set forth in this Act, but not otherwise.

(a) Any alien may hereafter acquire by purchase, or otherwise (excepting by devise or descent which are hereinafter provided for) any right, title or interest in or to any real property situated in this state, and may hold the same for the period of one year after the date of its acquisition such rights, title or interest, but no longer; provided, however, that if any such alien who is entitled by the provisions of this section to hold real property shall die seized of such real property, or shall acquire such title by the operation of law upon the death of any such person, such real property may be held by such alien for the period of one year after such title shall vest in such alien and all rights, title and interest thereto are hereby declared to be subject to escheat to the State of California, and proceedings for such escheat shall be taken as hereinafter provided.

(b) Any alien may hereafter acquire by devise or descent any right, title or interest in or in any real property situated in this state and may hold the same for the period of one year after the date of final distribution thereof to such alien; provided, however, that if any such alien be a minor or an insane person at the date of such final distribution, and the proceedings of the county here previously appointed by a court having jurisdiction thereof, he may hold such title for the period of one year after a guardian of his estate is appointed by such court, or in case of a minor, if no such guardian be appointed prior to the time such minor shall have attained his majority. After the expiration of such period of one year in any of the cases above stated, all such property so held by such alien, and all right, title and interest thereto so held by such alien shall be subject to escheat to the State of California, and proceedings for such escheat shall be taken as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 3. Any corporation whether formed under the provisions of the laws of this state or of any other state or country, a majority of the issued and outstanding capital stock of which may be owned or held by any alien or aliens, ineligible to citizenship under the naturalization laws of the United States, may hereafter acquire by purchase or devise, any right, title or interest in or to any real property situated in this state, and may hold the same for the period of one year after the date of its acquiring such right, title or interest, but no longer; provided, however, that if any such right, title or interest be acquired by such corporation by devise, the same may be held by the parent of any such alien, the date of final distribution thereof to such corporation. At the expiration of said period of one year in any of the cases above stated, all real property so held by any of the cases above stated, all such corporations so held by such corporations, and all right, title or interest thereto so held by such corporations, shall be subject to escheat to the State of California, and proceedings for such escheat shall be taken as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 4. No corporation organized for any educational or charitable purpose, or any corporation, a majority of the capital stock of which is owned by any such corporation, or any corporation formed for the purpose of holding title to property for the benefit of any such corporation, shall be affected by the provisions of this Act, and no limitation or extension of time herein contained shall be made to any alien or any corporation of the class described in section three of this Act, and no forfeiture or escheat of any such property, title or interest shall be made hereunder, until the period of four years from the passage of this Act; and no such corporation or person shall be affected by the provisions of this Act, if such corporation or person shall within two years after the passage of this Act, dispose of such property, title or interest to a person or corporation not within the prohibition of this section, and not prohibited from acquiring title to real property by the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 5. Any alien or any corporation of the class described in section three of this Act hereafter acquiring, owning or holding real property in violation of this Act, or any alien or any corporation of the class described in section three of this Act, or any corporation in which a majority of the capital stock is owned or held by any alien or corporation of the class described in section three of this Act, may nevertheless receive, hold and dispose of such property as hereinafter provided, and not otherwise; provided, that no such alien or corporation shall be entitled to the benefits of this section unless such alien or corporation shall, within two years after the passage of this Act, dispose of such property, title or interest to a person or corporation not within the prohibition of this section, and not prohibited from acquiring title to real property by the provisions of this Act; and provided further, that if any such alien or corporation shall fail to dispose of such property, title or interest within the time limited by this section, then such property, title or interest shall escheat to the State of California, and proceedings for such escheat shall be taken as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 6. Any alien or any corporation of the class described in section three of this Act, hereafter acquiring, owning or holding real property in violation of this Act, or any alien or any corporation of the class described in section three of this Act, or any corporation in which a majority of the capital stock is owned or held by any alien or corporation of the class described in section three of this Act, may nevertheless receive, hold and dispose of such property as hereinafter provided, and not otherwise; provided, that no such alien or corporation shall be entitled to the benefits of this section unless such alien or corporation shall, within two years after the passage of this Act, dispose of such property, title or interest to a person or corporation not within the prohibition of this section, and not prohibited from acquiring title to real property by the provisions of this Act; and provided further, that if any such alien or corporation shall fail to dispose of such property, title or interest within the time limited by this section, then such property, title or interest shall escheat to the State of California, and proceedings for such escheat shall be taken as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 7. Any conveyance, mortgage or lease made or taken in violation of section two or three of this Act, shall render the property thereby conveyed or mortgaged or encumbered or leased subject to escheat to the State of California for the benefit of the county wherein such property is situated, and such conveyance or mortgage or encumbrance or lease may be declared null and void by any court of competent jurisdiction in proceedings brought for that purpose by the district attorney of the county wherein such property is situated, or by the Attorney General of the State of California, in the name of the people of the State of California, upon information received from any source; provided, however, that in all cases where such conveyance, mortgage, encumbrance or lease was taken in good faith and without any intent to violate the provisions of this Act, and such property was acquired for a valuable consideration and not upon speculation, and such conveyance, mortgage, encumbrance or lease was executed before the passage of this Act, such property may be held for the period of two years after the passage of this Act, and shall not escheat or be forfeited to the State of California, or to any person or corporation, on account of any violation of the provisions of this Act, if such property be disposed of within such two years, or within such further time not exceeding three years as may be allowed by the court, as in this Act provided, to a purchaser without notice, for a valuable consideration, at not less than its reasonable value, or be encumbered bona fide to secure the payment of not less than its reasonable value, or be leased bona fide for not more than five years, and within such two years, or such further time as may be allowed by the court, as in this Act provided, the proceeds of such disposition, encumbrance or lease are applied in good faith to the purchase, payment or discharge of such property, or some part thereof, or of an interest therein, or of an obligation created thereby, or in the construction of improvements thereon owned by the person or corporation whose property has been affected by this Act at the time of the passage thereof, and not otherwise.

SEC. 8. Any conveyance, mortgage or lease made or taken in violation of section two or three of this Act, shall render the property thereby conveyed or mortgaged or encumbered or leased subject to escheat to the State of California for the benefit of the county wherein such property is situated, and such conveyance or mortgage or encumbrance or lease may be declared null and void by any court of competent jurisdiction in proceedings brought for that purpose by the district attorney of the county wherein such property is situated, or by the Attorney General of the State of California, in the name of the people of the State of California, upon information received from any source; provided, however, that in all cases where such conveyance, mortgage, encumbrance or lease was taken in good faith and without any intent to violate the provisions of this Act, and such property was acquired for a valuable consideration and not upon speculation, and such conveyance, mortgage, encumbrance or lease was executed before the passage of this Act, such property may be held for the period of two years after the passage of this Act, and shall not escheat or be forfeited to the State of California, or to any person or corporation, on account of any violation of the provisions of this Act, if such property be disposed of within such two years, or within such further time not exceeding three years as may be allowed by the court, as in this Act provided, to a purchaser without notice, for a valuable consideration, at not less than its reasonable value, or be encumbered bona fide to secure the payment of not less than its reasonable value, or be leased bona fide for not more than five years, and within such two years, or such further time as may be allowed by the court, as in this Act provided, the proceeds of such disposition, encumbrance or lease are applied in good faith to the purchase, payment or discharge of such property, or some part thereof, or of an interest therein, or of an obligation created thereby, or in the construction of improvements thereon owned by the person or corporation whose property has been affected by this Act at the time of the passage thereof, and not otherwise.

SEC. 9. Any conveyance, mortgage or lease made or taken in violation of section two or three of this Act, shall render the property thereby conveyed or mortgaged or encumbered or leased subject to escheat to the State of California for the benefit of the county wherein such property is situated, and such conveyance or mortgage or encumbrance or lease may be declared null and void by any court of competent jurisdiction in proceedings brought for that purpose by the district attorney of the county wherein such property is situated, or by the Attorney General of the State of California, in the name of the people of the State of California, upon information received from any source; provided, however, that in all cases where such conveyance, mortgage, encumbrance or lease was taken in good faith and without any intent to violate the provisions of this Act, and such property was acquired for a valuable consideration and not upon speculation, and such conveyance, mortgage, encumbrance or lease was executed before the passage of this Act, such property may be held for the period of two years after the passage of this Act, and shall not escheat or be forfeited to the State of California, or to any person or corporation, on account of any violation of the provisions of this Act, if such property be disposed of within such two years, or within such further time not exceeding three years as may be allowed by the court, as in this Act provided, to a purchaser without notice, for a valuable consideration, at not less than its reasonable value, or be encumbered bona fide to secure the payment of not less than its reasonable value, or be leased bona fide for not more than five years, and within such two years, or such further time as may be allowed by the court, as in this Act provided, the proceeds of such disposition, encumbrance or lease are applied in good faith to the purchase, payment or discharge of such property, or some part thereof, or of an interest therein, or of an obligation created thereby, or in the construction of improvements thereon owned by the person or corporation whose property has been affected by this Act at the time of the passage thereof, and not otherwise.

after any such conveyance has been duly recorded in the office of the county recorder of the county wherein the land so attempted to be conveyed, mortgaged, encumbered or leased is situated, then it shall be conclusively presumed that such conveyance, mortgage, encumbrance or lease was made in good faith and not with the intention of evading the provisions of this Act, and thereafter no escheat proceedings for such purpose by reason of such conveyance, mortgage, encumbrance or lease shall be commenced: provided further, however, that if any such conveyance, mortgage, encumbrance or lease be to an alien or to a corporation of the class mentioned in section three, the title thereby conveyed shall, nevertheless be subject to escheat under the provisions of this Act as though such alien or corporation had acquired such title in any other manner.

SEC. 6. The title, interest or lien granted, conveyed or created by any deed, deed of trust, or other conveyance or mortgage of land which shall have been duly recorded in the office of the recorder of the county where the land is situated prior to the recording of the notice of pendency of escheat proceedings herein provided for, shall not be impaired or affected in any way by the provisions of this Act, or by such escheat proceedings.

SEC. 7. Nothing in this Act contained shall apply to any real property, or any right, title or interest therein, or lien thereon, acquired, owned or held by any alien who shall have declared his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States, according to law, or who shall have become a citizen of the United States, and if any proceedings for the escheat to the State of California of any real property acquired, held or owned by any such alien shall have been commenced prior to such declaration of intention or prior to such alien owner becoming a citizen of the United States, such proceedings shall, upon proof of such fact, be discontinued and judgment in accordance with the facts shall thereupon be entered, and the recordation in the office of the county recorder of the county wherein the real property is situated of a certified copy of such declaration of intention by any such alien, or of proof of citizenship, duly certified by the officer having the custody or control of the original or of a certified copy of the judgment entered in such action, shall establish the right of such person to own and hold real property free from the restrictions of limitations in this Act provided.

SEC. 8. The provisions of this Act shall not impair or destroy any right secured to any alien under the provisions of any treaty between the United States and the country of which such alien shall be a citizen or subject.

SEC. 9. It shall be the duty of the district attorney of any county in this state wherein any real property, or any portion thereof, acquired, owned or held contrary to the provisions of this Act, is situated, when he shall be informed, or shall have reason to believe, that any property in said county is being held contrary to the provisions of this Act, to file a complaint on behalf of and in the name of the people of the State of California, as plaintiff, in the superior court of the county in which such property, or some portion thereof, is situated, setting forth a description of the property, the names of all persons or corporations owning or holding, or claiming to own or hold the same, or any interest therein on any lien thereon as shown by the records of the county where the land is situated, who shall be named as parties defendant; that the same is owned or held contrary to the provisions of this Act, and the facts and circumstances in consequence of which the property is claimed to be subject to escheat to the state, with an allegation that by reason thereof, the State of California has right by law to such property. Upon such complaint being filed, a summons must issue directed to the defendants, requiring defendants to appear and answer the complaint within ten days, if the summons is served in the county in which the action is brought or within thirty days if served elsewhere, which said summons shall contain all the matters required by section four hundred seven of the Code of Civil Procedure. Summons shall be issued and served in accordance with the provisions of title five of part two of the Code of Civil Procedure. At the time the complaint is filed, a notice of the pendency of such escheat proceedings must be filed in the office of the recorder of the county where the land or any part thereof is situated, containing the names of the parties and the object of the action, and a description of the property in that county affected thereby.

SEC. 10. The court upon the complaint being filed and upon application of the district attorney, either before or after answer is filed, upon such notice as the court shall direct to the person or corporation claiming to own said property, or any right, title or interest therein, may upon sufficient cause therefor being shown, appoint a receiver to take charge of such property, or any part thereof, and to receive rents, income and profits of the same until the title thereof is finally settled.

SEC. 11. In any action brought to foreclose a mortgage or lien upon any land which has theretofore been the subject of escheat proceedings hereunder, or in any suit to quiet title or to determine adverse claims to such real property or any portion thereof, the State of California may be made a defendant and process directed against the state shall be served upon the governor or acting governor and the attorney general.

SEC. 12. All persons or corporations named in the complaint may appear and answer and traverse or deny the facts stated therein at any time before the time for answering or appearing expires, and any other person claiming any interest in such property may appear and intervene in said action, as the parties to foreclosure by mention for such purpose by name, subject, however, to the time allowed for answering. If any person appearing and claiming any lien upon any of the above-described property shall traverse any material fact set forth therein, the issues of fact joined by such traverse shall be tried and determined by the court without a jury, unless a jury trial is demanded by some party entitled to such trial, and in such case the issues of fact shall be tried by a jury in the manner provided by law for the trial of issues of fact in civil actions. The court shall have power to make such orders, judgments and decrees in the premises as may be just and proper, and to enforce the same by its process, and may, in its discretion, appoint a receiver of the property pending the litigation and until the sale thereof, and may order the property sold in such manner as it may deem best for the interests of all parties thereto, and may confirm such sale and order the proceeds thereof distributed to the parties entitled thereto according to their respective rights and interests therein, and may enforce the payment of the purchase money by the purchaser at such sale, and may, in case of default in such payment, resell the property, and may enforce the payment of the purchase money on such res not disposed of within said four year period, shall be subject to escheat proceedings pursuant to sections nine, ten, eleven and twelve hereof.

SEC. 15. This Act shall apply to corporations of the class described in section three, and to none other.

SEC. 16. No right now vested shall be impaired or affected in any way by the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 17. If any section, sentence, clause or phrase of this Act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of the Act. The legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this Act, and each section, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more other sections, sentences, clauses or phrases unconstitutional.

SEC. 18. All Acts and parts of Acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Motion carried.

LYON, Chairman.

MINORITY REPORT.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, April 21, 1913.

MR. PRESIDENT: The following is submitted as a minority report on Senate Bill No. 905, entitled "An Act to promote the general welfare of the people of the State of California by creating and enforcing a liability on the part of employers to compensate their employees," etc.

It is the opinion of the minority of the Committee on Labor and Capital that Senate Bill No. 905 in its present form is unconstitutional and that it violates Section 24 of Article II of the Constitution, which provides that every Act shall embrace but one subject, which subject shall be embraced in the title. The title of the Act and the text of the bill deal with three subjects, to wit: Compensation to be paid employees by employers in the event of accident, regardless of the fault of either; second, the creation of an insurance department on the part of the State of California to insure employers against loss growing out of accidents to employees; and, third, the creation of a safety department for the purpose of preventing accidents.

The minority further realizes that many members of the Senate are in favor of compulsory compensation to employees and also of promoting the safety of employees, but do not approve of the State engaging in the business of insurance; and therefore, the minority recommend that Senate Bill No. 905 be divided into three separate and distinct bills, one dealing with the compensation feature, the other with insurance, and the last with the safety of employees.

In view of the fact that the present bill, however, is likely to pass the Senate, and in order that it may be put in as workable form as possible, the minority recommend the adoption of the following amendments to Senate Bill No. 905:

AMENDMENT NO. 1.

Amend title by substituting "an accident fund" for "a state compensation insurance fund", after the word "creating", in line 8.

AMENDMENT NO. 2.

Amend Section 1 by substituting "accident fund" for "state compensation insurance fund", in lines 19 and 20, page 2.

AMENDMENT NO. 3.

Amend Section 7 by striking out subsection (c) and subsection (d), lines 31 to 37, inclusive, on page 4, and lines 1 to 8, inclusive, page 5.

AMENDMENT NO. 4.

Amend Section 7 (c) by striking out the words "officers, experts, statisticians, actuaries, accountants, inspectors," in lines 9 and 10, page 5.

Amend Section [illegible] page 7, by striking out lines [illegible] and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

AMENDMENT NO. 13.

Amend Sections 36 to 48, inclusive, by striking out such entire sections and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

"SEC. 36. Whenever ten or more employers (of the same kindred classes of industry) who have become subject to the provisions of this Act, and who have on their payrolls in this state an aggregate number of not less than ten thousand employees, shall, in writing, request the insurance commissioner of California so to do, he shall assume charge of levying and collecting from them such premiums, assessments and dividends as may, from time to time, be necessary to pay the sums which shall become due to their employees, or dependents of their employees, as compensation under the provisions of this Act, and for its administration and shall disburse the same to the persons entitled to receive said compensation: provided, however, that neither the insurance commissioner nor the State of California shall become or be liable or responsible for the payment of claims for compensation under the provisions of this Act beyond the extent of the funds so collected and received by him as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 37. The insurance commissioner shall immediately upon assuming the administration of the collection and disbursement of the moneys referred to in the preceding section, cause to be created in the state treasury a fund to be known as 'accident fund.' Each such employer shall contribute to this fund to the extent of such premiums or assessments as the commissioner shall deem necessary to pay the compensation accruing under this Act to employees of such employers or to their dependents, and to provide the reserve hereinafter referred to, which premiums and assessments shall be levied in the manner and proportion as hereinbefore and hereinafter set forth. Said premiums and assessments levied for such purposes shall be subject to readjustment from time to time by the insurance commissioner as may become necessary.

SEC. 38. The insurance commissioner shall be entitled to inspect the plant, workroom, shop or premises of any subscriber contributing to said accident fund, and for such purposes to appoint inspectors who shall have free access to all such premises during the regular working hours.

SEC. 39. Said insurance commissioner shall determine the amount of the premiums or assessments which the subscribers of said accident fund shall pay for said administration and the payment of said compensation benefits by him, in accordance with the nature of the business in which said subscribers respectively are engaged, and the probable risk of injury to their employees, the experience of said risk and the conditions under which said work is performed, and shall fix the premiums and assessments at such amounts as in his judgment shall be sufficient to enable him to pay to the employees, or their dependents, of such subscribers all sums which may become due and payable to them under the provisions of sections thirty-six to forty-eight, inclusive, of this Act, together with the expense of conducting said business. In fixing said premiums or assessments payable by such subscribers, said insurance commissioner may take into account the degree of hazard, the condition of the plant, workroom, shop or premises of such subscriber in respect to the safety of the employees therein, and the experience of the risk, together with the conditions under which said work is performed and he may, from time to time, change the amount of premiums payable by any of the subscribers, as circumstances may require, and as said conditions, risk and hazard may justify, and may increase the premium of any subscriber neglecting to provide safety devices required by law.

SEC. 40. If any employer shall make default in payment of any contribution, premium or assessment required as aforesaid by the insurance commissioner, the sum due shall be collected by an action at law in the name of the state as plaintiff, and such right of action shall be in addition to any other right of action or remedy.

SEC. 41. The insurance commissioner, annually, on the first day of January or within thirty days thereafter, shall prepare under oath, and file in his office, a statement of the condition of such accident fund on the thirty-first day of December, next preceding, exhibiting therein such facts as may be applicable to the business of operating, maintaining, investigating and disbursing said accident fund, together with such other information as is necessary to reveal the true financial condition of such accident fund and its liabilities.

SEC. 42. Any employer subject to the provisions of Sections 36 to 48, inclusive, of this Act, who has complied with all the rules, regulations and demands of the industrial accident commission and the insurance commissioner may withdraw from said accident fund at the expiration of the period of one year from the date upon which he became subject to the provisions of Sections 36 to 48, inclusive, of this Act; provided, however, that he shall give written notice of such withdrawal to said insurance commissioner at least thirty days before the expiration of such period; and provided, further, that if at the time of such withdrawal liability may exist against such employer for any contribution, premium or assessment as provided in Section 39 hereof, such employer shall either pay into said accident fund such contribution, premium, or assessment in cash, or shall otherwise protect and indemnify said insurance commissioner against such liability in such reasonable manner as he may require. If there be not, at any time, in said accident fund, in cash over and above the unearned premium on undetermined risks, sufficient money for the payment of accrued losses and expenses under insurance contracts shall apply to companies for the benefit thereof to the said funds and contracts made the committee to said fund under an assessment or proportion as under section [illegible] In ascertaining the accrued premiums and the accrued losses and expenses for the purposes of Section 28 of the provisions of this Act and insurance contracts shall be subject to and governed by the provisions of the applicable to such companies contained in Insurance and Building Associations against loss under the terms and provisions of this Act.

Sec. 27. Such premiums, contributions shall accrue and have become due to and accepted fund, respectively made until not more be construed as the suspending of the business thereof, to funds and until actually in the form named as an alternative by the laws of this state, with respect to investments of the funds and obligations of corporations, funds, associations and other instruments engaged in the business of [illegible] fund from liability on account of damages claimed for personal injuries and against [illegible] or property of the corporation provided for in this Act.

Sec. 28. It shall [illegible] shall also provide for employer contributions and any employee entitled to the provisions of Section 28 of the provisions of this Act, relative to any sum or sums to be expended for such insurance contributions of any damage liable to him to account to the [illegible] administration and investment of such funds, and to the said sum contributions which may accrue and employer arising the compensation under the provisions of this Act and said insurance contributions all such instruments of [illegible] shall also be subject to [illegible] by the insurance provided contemplated by this section and with the same force and effect to all respects as the others for compensation under this Act.

(a) "If the accident causes disability a disability indemnity which shall be payable for one week in advance as wages on the fifteenth day after the injured employee leaves work as a result of the injury, and thereafter on the employer's regular weekly pay day but not less frequently than twice in each calendar month, unless otherwise provided by the commission, subject however to the following conditions:

(1) If the period of disability does not last longer than two weeks from the day the employee left work as the result of the injury, no disability indemnity whatever shall be recoverable.

(2) If the period of disability lasts longer than two weeks from the day the employee left work as the result of the injury, an disability indemnity shall be recoverable for the first two weeks of such disability.

2. The disability indemnity payable shall be as follows:

(1) If the accident causes temporary total disability, sixty per cent of the average weekly earnings during the period of such disability.

(2) If the accident causes temporary partial disability, sixty-five per cent of the weekly loss in wages during the period of such disability.

(3) If the temporary disability caused by the accident is at times total and at times partial, the weekly indemnity during the periods of such total temporary or partial disability shall be in accordance with paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subdivision numbered 2.

(4) Paragraphs (1), (2) and (3) of this subdivision shall be limited to [illegible] aggregate disability indemnity for a week having temporary disability shall not exceed forty times the average weekly earnings of the employee, nor shall the aggregate disability period for such temporary disability in any event exceed two hundred [illegible] from the date of the accident.

(5) In the payment compensation provided for the percentage of disability to total disability shall be ascertained and the disability indemnity computed and based as follows, to wit: [illegible] per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of four weeks; for a subsequent period [illegible] per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of eight weeks; for a subsequent period [illegible] per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of twelve weeks; for a subsequent period [illegible] per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of sixteen weeks; for a subsequent period [illegible] per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of twenty weeks; for a subsequent period [illegible] per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of twenty-four weeks; for a subsequent period [illegible] per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of one hundred weeks; for a fifty per cent disability specified and one of the average weekly earnings for a period of two hundred weeks, for a total or permanent disability other than one specified and one of the average weekly earnings for a period of two hundred forty weeks, for a temporary partial disability and one and one-half of the average weekly earnings for a period of two hundred weeks and compensation shall be paid only during the continuance of the disability. But no weekly payment shall exceed fifty dollars nor be less than five dollars, except that if the average weekly earnings of the employee at the time of the injury are less than five dollars per week then the full amount of such weekly earnings shall be paid.

(6) The schedule for permanent disabilities hereinafter in this Act referred to shall be construed and applied as follows: If total accident and occupational disability results from the loss of both hands at the wrist or above, or both feet at the ankle or above, or both eyes, or any two thereof, or from any injury rendering the employee permanently helpless and bedridden, or from any injury resulting in permanent mental incapacity, total disability shall be presumed. Loss of one hand at the wrist or above, or one foot at the ankle or above, or one eye, or any one thereof, or any injury rendering the employee permanently helpless but not bedridden, or any injury resulting in permanent mental incapacity but not rendering the employee helpless or bedridden, shall be presumed to result in permanent partial disability. Any other injury shall be presumed to result in temporary disability.

(7) In determining the percentages of permanent disability, account shall be taken of the nature of the physical injury or disfigurement, the occupation of the injured employee and his age at the time of such injury.

(8) Nothing contained in the foregoing schedule of permanent disability indemnity shall be held to limit the powers of commissioners hereinafter set out to award permanent total disability upon proof of total incapacity due to causes resulting from such injury, but any sum so awarded shall be deducted from the compensation payable in accordance with the said schedule.

(9) The following permanent disabilities shall be conclusively presumed to be total in character: Loss of both arms at the shoulder, loss of both hands at the wrist thereof, or injury resulting in a permanently helpless condition as hereinbefore set forth, according to reasonable probability or certainty. The following permanent total disabilities shall be presumed to be total in character: Loss of both feet at the ankle, loss of both eyes, or any two thereof, or any injury rendering the employee permanently helpless but not bedridden, or any injury resulting in permanent mental incapacity but not rendering the employee helpless or bedridden, shall be presumed to result in permanent partial disability. Any other injury shall be presumed to result in temporary disability.

3. The death of the injured employee shall not affect the liability of the employer under subsections (a) and (b) of this section, but he or his estate shall be entitled to such further compensation, if any, as he would have received had he lived, and the same shall be paid to his dependents, if any, entitled thereto, or, if there are no dependents to the payment of the deceased employee or to some person entitled thereto, that such death shall be deemed to be the termination of the disability.

(d) If the accident causes death either solely or without dependents, a death benefit which shall be payable to dependents named in section four hereof, of the average weekly earnings of the deceased employee, being the employee's highest rate for the last two thousand weeks, but not less than five dollars nor more than fifteen dollars per week, subject to the provisions of subsection (h) hereof, to make the total disability indemnity and death benefit equal to three times the average annual earnings of the deceased employee, which death benefit shall be as follows:

(1) In case any deceased employee leaves no person wholly dependent upon him for support, but leaves one or more persons partially dependent thereon, one death benefit shall be paid, commencing at once, and ending with the termination of the compensation as the person entitled thereto for the amount of the portion of persons as partially dependent upon such average annual earnings, provided, that the death benefit shall not be payable when a mere sufferance exists or when no liability to support exists, or the death has ceased and hereof payable under the provisions of subsection (h) hereof to make the total disability indemnity and death benefit equal to three times the average annual earnings, such annual earnings to be taken at not less than three hundred and fifty-three dollars and three cents nor more than seven thousand six hundred and sixty-six dollars and sixty-six cents.

(2) If the deceased employee leaves no person dependent upon him for support, the death benefit shall consist of the reasonable expenses of his burial not exceeding one hundred dollars and such further death benefit as may be provided for him.

(3) Payment of compensation in accordance with the rules and principles of the commission shall discharge the employer from all further liability.

SEC. 16. (a) Unless compensation as agreed or as provided for by payments made within the time limited by this section, or the commencement of proceedings for its collection, the right to institute such proceedings shall be absolutely barred.

(b) The periods within which proceedings for the collection of compensation may be commenced are as follows:

(1) Proceedings for the collection of the benefit provided by subsection (a) of section fifteen or for the collection of the disability indemnity provided by subsection (b) of said section fifteen must be commenced within six months from the date of the accident, except as otherwise provided in this Act.

(2) Proceedings for the collection of the death benefit provided by subsection (c) of said section fifteen must be commenced within one year from the date of death, and in any event within two hundred forty weeks from the date of the accident, and can only be maintained when it appears that death ensued within one year from the date of the accident, or that the accident causing death also caused disability which continued to the date of the death and for which a disability indemnity was paid, or an agreement for its payment made, or proceedings for its collection commenced within the time limited for the commencement of proceedings for the recovery of the disability indemnity.

(c) The payment of the disability indemnity or death benefit, or any part thereof, or agreement therefor, shall have the effect of extending the period within which proceedings for its collection may be commenced, six months from the date of the agreement or last payment of such disability indemnity or death benefit or any part thereof.

(d) If an injured employee, or in case of his death, one or more of his dependents, shall be a minor or incompetent at any time when any right or privilege accrues to such person under the provisions of this Act, a general guardian, appointed by the court or a guardian ad litem or trustee appointed by the commission or a commissioner may, on behalf of any such person, claim and exercise any such right or a privilege with the same force and effect as if no such disability existed, and no limitation of time provided by this Act shall run against any such minor or incompetent unless and until such guardian or trustee is appointed.

(e) No compensation shall be payable in respect of the death or disability of an employee if his death is caused, or if and so far as his disability is caused, continued, or aggravated, by an unreasonable refusal to submit to medical treatment, or to any surgical treatment, the risk of which is, in the opinion of the commission, inconsiderable in view of the seriousness of the injury.

(f) The fact that an employee has suffered a previous disability, or receives compensation therefor, shall not preclude him from compensation for a later injury, or his dependents from compensation for death resulting therefrom, but in determining compensation for the later injury, or death resulting therefrom, his average annual earnings shall be fixed at such sum as will reasonably represent his annual earning capacity at the time of the later injury.

(g) Any payment, allowance or benefit received by the injured employee during the period of his incapacity, or by his dependents in the event of his death, which by the terms of this Act was not then due and payable, or when there is any dispute or question concerning the right to compensation, shall not, in the absence of any agreement, be construed to be an admission of liability for compensation on the part of the employer, or the acceptance thereof as a waiver of any right or claim which the employee or his dependents may have against the employer, but any such payment, allowance or benefit may be taken into account by the commission in fixing the amount of the compensation to be paid.

SEC. 17. (a) The average weekly earnings referred to in section fifteen hereof shall be one fifty second of the average annual earnings of the employee, in computing such earnings his average annual earnings shall be taken at not less than three hundred and thirty-three dollars and thirty-three cents, nor at more than one thousand six hundred and sixty-six dollars and sixty six cents and between said limits shall be arrived at as follows:

(1) If the injured employee has worked in the same employment, whether for the same employer or not, during substantially the whole of the year immediately preceding his injury, his average annual earnings shall consist of three hundred times the average daily earnings, wage or salary which he earned as such employee during the days when so employed.

(2) If the injured employee has not so worked in such employment during substantially the whole of such immediately preceding year, his average annual earnings shall consist of three hundred times the average daily earnings, wages or salary which an employee of the same class, working substantially the whole of such immediately preceding year in the same or a similar kind of employment, in the same or a neighboring place, earned during the days when so employed.

(3) In every case where for any reason the foregoing methods of arriving at the average annual earnings of the injured employee can not reasonably and fairly be applied, such annual earnings shall be taken at such sum as, having regard to the previous earnings of the injured employee, and of other employees of the same or most similar class, working in the same or most similar employment, in the same or neighboring locality, shall reasonably represent the average annual earning capacity of the injured employee at the time of the injury in the kind of employment in which he was then working, or in any employment similar thereto.

(b) In determining such average weekly earnings, there shall be included the market value of board, lodging, fuel and other advantages received by the injured employee, as part of his remuneration and which can be estimated in money, but such average weekly earnings shall not include any sum which the employee paid to the injured employee to cover any special expenses entailed on him by the nature of his employment.

(c) If the injured employee is a minor, and his incapacity whether total or partial, is permanent, the average weekly earnings shall be deemed, within the three hundred, to be the weekly sum that under ordinary circumstances he would probably be able to earn after attaining the age of twenty-one years, in the employment in which he was employed at the time of the injury, if he had not been injured.

SEC. 18. The weekly loss in wages referred to in section fifteen hereof shall consist of the difference between the average weekly earnings of the injured employee, computed according to the provisions of said section, and the weekly amount which the injured employee, in the exercise of reasonable diligence, may probably be able to earn during the disability, to be determined by rule of the agency and court of the action. In computing such probable earnings due regard shall be had to the ability of the injured employee to overcome in no more hilly section.

SEC. 19. (a) The following shall be conclusively presumed to be wholly dependent for support upon a deceased employee:

(1) A wife upon a husband with whom she was living at the time of his death.

(2) A husband upon a wife upon whom he was in part or wholly dependent at the time of her death.

(3) A child or children under the age of eighteen years (or over said age, but physically or mentally incapacitated from earning) upon the parent with whom he or they are living at the time of such parent's death, or for whose maintenance such parent was legally liable at the time of his death, there being no surviving dependent parent.

(b) In all other cases, questions of entire or partial dependency and questions as to who constitute dependents and the extent of their dependency shall be determined in accordance with the fact, as the fact may be at the time of the death of the employee.

(c) No person shall be considered a dependent of any deceased employee unless a member of the family of such employee or unless such person lives in such employee the parent of husband or wife with whom such wife or husband, father or mother, father-in-law or mother-in-law, grandfather or grandmother, brother or sister, nephew or niece.

(d) 1. If there is one or more persons wholly dependent for support upon a deceased employee, such person or persons only within the same family unit, and any person or persons partially dependent shall receive no part thereof, unless otherwise ordered by the commission.

2. If there is more than one such person wholly dependent for support upon a deceased employee, the death benefit shall be divided equally among them, unless otherwise ordered by the commission.

3. If there is more than one person partially dependent for support upon a deceased employee and no person wholly dependent for support, the person entitled to the death benefit shall be divided among the persons so partially dependent in proportion to the relative extent of their dependency unless otherwise provided by the commission.

(e) The death benefits shall be paid to each one or more of the dependents of the deceased as to a trustee appointed by the commission, or a commissioner, for the benefit of the persons or persons entitled as may be determined by the commission and the commission may, according to the Act pursuant to the county notwithstanding, apportion such benefits among the dependents in proportion to their respective needs and as may be just and equitable, and may order payment to a dependent subsequent in right, or any employee entitled upon proof being given thereto. The person to whom the death benefit is paid for the use of the several dependents shall apply the same in accordance with the findings and directions of the commission.

SEC. 20. No claim to recover compensation under this Act shall be maintained unless within thirty days after the occurrence of the accident which is claimed to have caused the injury or death, notice in writing stating the name and address of the person injured, the time and the place where the accident occurred, and the nature of the injury, and signed by the person injured or some one in his behalf, or in case of his death, by a dependent or some one in his behalf, shall be served upon the employer; provided, however, that actual knowledge of such accident and injury on the part of such employer or his managing agent or superintendent in charge of the work upon which the injured employee was engaged at the time of the injury, shall be equivalent to such service and provided, further, that the failure to give any such notice or any defect or inaccuracy therein, shall not be a bar to recovery under this Act if it is found as a fact in the proceedings for the recovery of the claim that there was no intention to mislead or prejudice the employer, and that he was not in fact misled or prejudiced thereby.

SEC. 21. (a) Whenever in case of injury the right to compensation under this Act would exist in favor of any employee, he shall, upon the written request of his employer, submit from time to time to examination by a competent physician, who shall be provided and paid for by the employer and shall be duly qualified to practice in this State, and shall be selected by the employee or his representative from a list of three physicians named by the commission or any member or deputy thereof.

(b) The request or order for such examination shall fix a time and place therefor, due regard being had to the convenience of the employee and his physical condition and ability to attend at the time and place fixed. The employee shall be entitled to have a physician provided and paid for by himself present at any such examination. So long as the employee, after such written request of the employer, shall fail or refuse to submit to such examination or shall in any way obstruct the same, his right to begin or maintain any proceeding for the collection of compensation shall be suspended, and if he shall fail or refuse to submit to such examination after direction by the commission, or any member or referee thereof, or shall in any way obstruct the same his right to the weekly indemnity which shall accrue and become payable during the period of such failure, refusal or obstruction, shall be barred. Any physician who shall make or be present at any such examination may be required to testify as to the results thereof.

SEC. 22. Upon filing with the commission by any party in interest of an application in writing stating the general nature of any dispute or controversy concerning compensation, or concerning any right of liability arising out of, or incident thereto, jurisdiction over which is vested by this Act in the commission, a time and place shall be fixed for the hearing thereof, which shall be not less than ten days nor more than forty days after the filing of such application. The person filing such application shall be known as the applicant and the adverse party shall be known as the defendant. A copy of said application, together with a notice of the time and place of hearing thereof, shall forthwith be served upon all adverse parties and may be served either as a summons in a civil action or in the same manner as any other notice that is authorized or required to be served under the provisions of this Act. A notice of the time and place of hearing shall also be served upon the applicant.

SEC. 23. If any defendant desires to disclaim any interest in the subject matter of the claim in controversy, or considers that the application is in any respect inaccurate or incomplete, or desires to bring any fact, paper or document to the attention of the commission as a defense to the claim, or otherwise, he must within five days after the service of the application upon him, file with or mail to the commission his answer setting forth the particulars in which the application is inaccurate or incomplete, and the facts upon which he intends to rely. A copy of such answer must be forthwith served upon all adverse parties.

SEC. 24. (a) No pleadings, other than the application and answer, shall be required. The hearing on the application may be adjourned from time to time and from place to place in the discretion of the commission. Either party shall have the right to be present at any hearing, in person or by attorney or by any other agent, and to present such testimony as shall be pertinent under the pleadings, but the commission may, with or without notice to either party, cause testimony to be taken, or inspection of the premises where the injury occurred to be made, or the time-books and payroll of the employer to be examined by any commissioner or any referee appointed by the commission, and may from time to time direct any employee claiming compensation to be examined by a regular physician; the testimony so taken and the results of any such inspection or examination to be reported to the commission for its consideration.

(b) The parties to a controversy may stipulate the facts relative thereto in writing and file such stipulation with the commission. The commission may thereupon make its findings and award based upon such stipulation, or may in its discretion set the matter down for hearing and take such further testimony or make such further investigation as may be necessary to enable it to completely determine the matter in controversy.

AMENDMENT No. 36.

On page 21, line 24, before the word "shall," insert "(a) A."

AMENDMENT No. 37.

On page 22 [illegible] and on page 23 to [illegible] and at [illegible] line 11 thereof, on page 28, and in lieu thereof insert the following: "to be known as the rules of the [illegible] to such compensation, except as hereinafter provided.

(b) The Commission may by such determination and [illegible] as it may deem [illegible] to be paid as compensation.

(c) A reasonable attorney's fee for legal services performed in any claim for compensation or application filed thereon may be determined by the Commission as hereinafter provided.

(d) The reasonable expenses incurred by or on behalf of the injured employee and for which any employer is liable under the provisions of subdivision (a) of section [illegible] hereof.

(e) The reasonable burial expenses of the deceased employee not to exceed the sum of [illegible] dollars.

(f) If power to sue be given to the employee pursuant to [illegible] and extent of any claim that may be allowed as a lien, the said claim shall be a lien against any award [illegible] to the said employee, except as to the deductions of the employer and approved thereof by the Commission.

(g) No agreement by an employee to pay any portion of the premium paid by his employer to the insurance carrier for the insurance against his liability for compensation under this statute or any part thereof shall be valid, and any employer who makes such deduction for such purpose from the employee's wages shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(h) No agreement by any employee to waive his right to compensation under this statute shall be valid, and any employer who requires such waiver as a condition of employment shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(i) Any employer who shall fail to secure the payment of compensation under this Act when [illegible] shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(j) The provisions of this section shall not be construed as a waiver of any defense [illegible] to the employer in any action brought by an employee to recover damages for injuries sustained in the course of his employment or for death resulting from injuries so sustained.

(k) The amount awarded as such compensation shall be the only liability of the employer [illegible] to the employee, and of the widow, husband, children, or dependents of the latter, for injuries sustained by the employee, or for death resulting from injuries so sustained, except that if the employer fails to pay compensation for a period of [illegible] days after the same is due and payable, as provided in this Act, then the employee, or his dependents, may bring suit against such employer for the recovery of damages suffered by reason of such injuries, and in such suit it shall not be a defense that the injury was caused by the negligence of a fellow servant, or that the employee was guilty of contributory negligence, or that he assumed the risk of his employment.

SEC. 30. The Industrial Commission of [illegible] is hereby vested with full power and authority to make and enforce all rules and regulations necessary for the administration of this Act, and to require from employers and insurance carriers such reports as may be necessary from time to time in order to obtain full information relative to the operation of this Act. Any employer who refuses to furnish any report required by the Commission shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to furnish such report after the same is required by the Commission.

SEC. 31. The Industrial Commission shall have the right to examine the books, papers, and accounts of employers in so far as the same may relate to matters covered by this Act, and shall have the right to require the attendance of witnesses and their books, papers, and accounts in relation to any matter under investigation or in question before the Commission. Any member of the Commission may administer oaths to witnesses and may sign subpœnas for them, and the Commission may, upon application of any party to a proceeding, require the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers, and accounts before the Commission at any designated place of hearing. Any employer who refuses to obey such subpœna, or who refuses to testify or produce any books, papers, or accounts relative to any matter under investigation or in question before the Commission, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(a) Any party to a proceeding before the Commission may be represented by an attorney at law or other representative, but no fee or other compensation for services rendered to any claimant in connection with any proceeding before the Commission shall be valid unless approved by the Commission.

(b) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(c) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(g) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(h) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(i) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(j) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(k) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(l) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(m) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(n) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(o) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(p) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(q) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(r) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(s) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(t) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(u) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(v) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(w) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(x) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(y) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

(z) Any person who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to make any award or to take any action in favor of any claimant, or who shall wilfully make any false statement or representation for the purpose of influencing the Commission to withhold any award or to take any action against the interest of any claimant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of [illegible] dollars for each day during which he shall continue to refuse to obey such subpœna after the same has been served upon him.

or his dependents is entitled, shall not be admissible in evidence in any action brought to recover damages, but any amount collected by the employer, under the provisions of this section, in excess of the amount paid by the employer, or for which he is liable, shall be held by him for the benefit of the injured employee or other person entitled.

SEC. 32. (a) No contract, rule or regulation shall exempt the employer from liability for the compensation fixed by this Act, but nothing in this Act contained shall be construed as impairing the right of the parties interested to settle, subject to the provisions herein contained, any liability which may be claimed to exist under this Act on account of such injury or death, or as conferring upon the dependents of any injured employee any interest which such employee may not divert by such settlement or for which he, or his estate, shall, in the event of such settlement by him, be accountable to such dependents or any of them.

(b) The compensation herein provided shall be the measure of the responsibility which the employer has assumed for injuries or death that may occur to employees in his employment when subject to the provisions of this Act, and no release of liability or settlement agreement shall be valid unless it provides for the payment of full compensation in accordance with the provisions of this Act or until it shall be approved by the commission.

(c) A copy of any such release or settlement agreement signed by both parties shall forthwith be filed with the commission. When such release or settlement agreement is filed with the commission and approved by it, the commission may of its own motion, or on the application of either party, without notice, enter its award based upon such release or settlement agreement.

(d) Every such release or settlement agreement shall be in writing, duly executed and attested by two disinterested witnesses, and shall specify the date of the accident, the average weekly wages of the employee, determined according to section seventeen hereof, the nature of the disability, whether total or partial, permanent or temporary, the amount paid or due and unpaid to the employee up to the date of the release or agreement or death, as the case may be, and, if any, the amount of the payment or benefits then or thereafter to be made, and the length of time that such payment is to continue. In case of death there shall also be stated in such release or settlement agreement the date of death, the name of the widow, if any, the names and ages of all children, if any, and the names of all other dependents, if any, and whether such dependents be total or partial, and the amount paid or to be paid as a death benefit and to whom such payment is to be made.

SEC. 33. (a) At the time of making its award or at any time thereafter the commission on its own motion, either with or without notice, or upon application of either party with due notice to the other, may in its discretion, commute the compensation payable under this Act to a lump sum, if it appears that such commutation is necessary for the protection of the person entitled thereto, or for the best interest of either party, or that it will avoid undue expense or hardship to either party, or that the employer has sold or otherwise disposed of the greater part of his assets, or is about to do so, or that the employer is not a resident of this state, and the commission may order such compensation paid forthwith or at some future time.

(b) The amount of the commuted payment shall be determined in accordance with the following provisions:

(1) If the accident causes temporary disability, the commission shall estimate the probable duration thereof and the probable amount of the temporary disability indemnity payable therefor in accordance with the provisions of section fifteen hereof and shall fix the lump sum payment at such amount so determined.

(2) If the accident causes permanent disability or death, the commission shall fix the total amount of the permanent disability indemnity or death benefit payable therefor in accordance with the provisions of said section fifteen and shall estimate the present value thereof, assuming interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, disregarding the probability of the beneficiary's death in all cases except where the percentage of permanent disability is such as to entitle the beneficiary to a life pension, and then taking into consideration the probability of the beneficiary's death only in estimating the present value of such life pension.

(c) The commission in its discretion may order the lump sum payment, determined as hereinbefore provided, paid directly to the injured employee or to his dependents, or deposited with any savings bank or trust company authorized to transact business in this state, that will agree to accept the same as a deposit bearing interest at not less than four per cent. per annum, or the commission may order the same deposited with the state compensation insurance fund. Any such amount so deposited, together with all interest thereon, shall thereafter be held in trust for the injured employee, or in the event of his death, for his dependents, who shall have no further recourse against the employer. Payments from said fund, when so deposited, shall be made by the trustee only in the same amounts and at the same times as fixed by the order of the commission and until said fund and interest thereon shall be exhausted. In the appointment of the trustee preference shall be given, in the discretion of the commission, to the choice of the injured employee or his dependents. Upon the making of such payment, the employer shall present to the commission a proper release executed by the person entitled thereto or by the injured employee or his dependents, or by the trustee, and the commission shall thereupon issue its certificate in proper form releasing the same, and such certificate, upon filing with the clerk of the district court in which said judgment upon an award may have been entered, shall operate to be a satisfaction of said award and shall fully discharge the employer from any further liability on account thereof.

SEC. 24. (a) Nothing in this Act shall affect the organization of any mutual or other insurance company or any existing contract for insurance against liability for compensation or any existing contract for insurance against liability for the compensation provided for in this Act, or prevent the employer from insuring in part or entire his liability to pay such compensation, or relieve the said liability for the compensation provided for in this Act, or prevent the payment by such company of such compensation; nor shall anything in this Act affect the existing organization or rights of mutual benefit associations, or prevent the formation of such associations or the joining of employees therein, or their continuing membership therein, and participation in the benefits thereof, except that no such association shall be permitted to accept any part of the consideration for the hire of any employee, or to deduct any sum from the earnings of any employee as a condition to his employment or to the continuance thereof, unless such association shall first have been approved by the commission after a finding that the relationship between the association and its members, the powers and duties of its officers, the limitations upon its benefits, and the general scope and character of its activities are such as reasonably to assure the payment of the benefits promised within the realization of the fact that membership therein is optional with the employee and that the only consideration which the association may require for membership therein is the initiation fee and periodical dues necessary to maintain the association and provide the benefits, and that no fine, penalty, deduction, or forfeiture of any kind shall be imposed upon members thereof. Any such association may be required to submit annually, or oftener, a statement of its business to the commission in such form and detail as it may require, and shall at all times be subject to such reasonable supervision and inspection by the commission as it shall deem necessary. If at any time the commission shall find that the relationship between such association and its members, the powers and duties of its officers, the limitations upon its benefits, and the general scope and character of its activities are not such as reasonably to assure the payment of the benefits promised within the realization of the fact that membership therein is optional with the employee and that the only consideration which the association may require for membership therein is the initiation fee and periodical dues necessary to maintain the association and provide the benefits, and that no fine, penalty, deduction, or forfeiture of any kind shall be imposed upon members thereof, the commission shall withdraw its approval of such association, and thereafter no person shall be required or permitted to become a member thereof as a condition to employment or the continuance thereof.

(b) Liability for compensation shall not be reduced or affected by any contribution or other benefit whatsoever that is or may be granted to the person entitled to such compensation, except as otherwise provided in this Act, and the person so entitled shall, irrespective of any contribution or other benefit provided in this Act, have the right to receive such compensation arising from the employment and in addition thereto the right to enforce such liability arising from the employment and in addition thereto the right to enforce such liability in the manner provided in this Act either by suing the insurance carrier or by making the insurance carrier a party to the original proceeding on the claim of the employee for compensation, and the insurance carrier, which may be made a party to such suit upon application to the court, may interpose against liability for such compensation, provided however that payment in whole or in part of such compensation by either the employer or the insurance carrier shall be a bar to recovery against the other of the amount so paid; and provided further that as between the employer and the insurance carrier, payment by either directly to the employee or to the person entitled to compensation, shall be subject to the conditions of the insurance contract between them.

(c) Every contract insuring against liability for compensation or insurance policy evidencing the same shall contain a clause to the effect that the insurance carrier shall be directly and primarily liable to the employee and, in the event of his death, to his dependents, to pay the compensation, if any, for which the employer is liable; that, as between the employee and the insurance carrier, the notice to or knowledge of the occurrence of the injury on the part of the employee shall be deemed notice or knowledge, as the case may be, on the part of the insurance carrier; that jurisdiction of the employee shall, for the purposes of this Act, be jurisdiction of the insurance carrier and that the insurance carrier shall in all things be bound by and subject to the orders, findings, decisions or awards rendered against the employer under the provisions of this Act.

(d) Such policy must also provide that the employee shall have a first lien upon any moneys which shall become payable by reason of such policy to the employer from the insurance carrier, and that in case of the bankruptcy or inability of the employer to secure the said moneys and pay to same to the employee or his dependents the said accident carrier may and shall pay the same directly to the said employee or his dependents, limited nevertheless to the extent of such payment the obligations of the employer to the employee and said policy shall not contain any provision relieving the insurance carrier from payment when the employer becomes insolvent or is discharged in bankruptcy or otherwise during the period that the policy is in operation or the insurance contract.

(e) 1. If the employer shall be insured against liability for compensation with any insurance carrier, and if after the happening of any accident such insurance carrier shall serve or cause to be served upon any person claiming compensation against such employer a notice that it has assumed and agrees to pay the compensation, if any, for which the employer is liable and shall file a copy of such notice with the commission, such employer shall thereupon be released from liability for compensation to such claimant and the insurance carrier shall without answer be substituted in place of the employer in any proceeding then pending or thereafter instituted by such person to recover such compensation, and the employer shall be dismissed therefrom. Such proceeding shall not abate on account of such substitution but shall be continued against such insurance carrier.

2. If at the time of the happening of an accident for which compensation is claimed, or may be claimed, the employer shall be insured against liability for the full amount of compensation payable or that may become payable, the employer may serve or cause to be served upon any person claiming compensation on account of the happening of such accident and upon the commission or a member thereof a notice that the insurance carrier has, in its policy contract or contracts assumed and agreed to pay the compensation, if any, for which the employer is liable and shall file a copy of such notice with the commission. If it shall thereafter appear to the satisfaction of the commission that the insurance carrier has through the exception of its contract of insurance or otherwise assumed such liability for compensation, such employer shall thereupon be relieved from liability for compensation to such claimant and the insurance carrier shall, after notice, be substituted in place of the employer in any proceeding theretofore or thereafter instituted by such person to recover such compensation, and the employer shall be dismissed therefrom. Such proceeding shall not abate on account of such substitution, but shall be continued against such insurance carrier.

(f) Where any employer is insured against liability for compensation with any insurance carrier and such insurance carrier shall have paid any compensation for which the employer was liable, or shall have assumed the liability of the employer therefor, it shall be subrogated to all the rights and duties of the employer and may enforce any such rights in its own name.

SEC. 35. (a) If any insurance policy shall be issued covering liability for compensation, which policy shall contain any limitation as to the compensation payable, such limitation shall be printed in the body of such policy in boldface type and in addition thereto the words "limited compensation policy" shall be printed on the top of the policy in bold-faced type not less than eighteen point in size.

(b) No insurance carrier shall insure against the liability of the employer for damages recoverable at law by the injured employee under the optional provisions contained in section twelve hereof, and any insurance carrier liable to any such injured employee for compensation upon the payment of the same shall have the same option given by said section twelve to such employee and shall be fully subrogated to his rights, and may enforce such liability for damages against the employer in its own name, anything in the insurance contract to the contrary notwithstanding."

tion insurance fund. In the employer's general ledger this fund account must be carried account on a cash account, the actual payments of funds to the state treasurer, and thereon only the actual cash coming into the state compensation insurance fund shall be credited to such fund."

AMENDMENT No. 28.

On pages 34-38, strike out all of lines 8 to 27, inclusive, on page 34, all of pages 35 to 38, inclusive, and all lines 1 to 7, inclusive, on page 39, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

SEC. 46. Each county, city and county, city, school district, or other political corporation within the state may elect to come under the provisions of this act by ordinance or resolution duly passed and entered in the minutes of its proceedings, and thereupon and thereafter the provisions of this act shall apply to such county, city and county, city, school district, or other political corporation, and the officers thereof, with like force and effect as if they were specifically named herein; provided, however, that such ordinance or resolution shall not become operative in any such county, city and county, city, school district, or other political corporation until sixty days after a copy thereof has been filed with the state industrial accident commission.

SEC. 47. Upon the passage into the treasury of the state compensation insurance fund of any premium, the commission shall forthwith issue to the employer entitled thereto a certificate to the effect that such premium has been paid. Such certificate shall specify the period of time covered by such premium, and shall state the basis upon which the premium has been computed. Such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated.

SEC. 48. The commission shall keep an account with each employer insured by the state compensation insurance fund, which account shall show the premiums paid and the moneys to the credit of such employer, the losses sustained by employees of such employer entitled to compensation, and such other data as the commission may deem necessary for the safe and efficient administration of the state compensation insurance fund. Upon the termination of the liability of the state compensation insurance fund upon any risk, the commission shall furnish the employer a statement showing the premiums paid, the losses sustained, and the moneys to the credit of such employer, and shall order repaid to such employer the moneys to the credit of such employer, if any there be, in excess of the liability of the state compensation insurance fund upon such risk.

SEC. 49. The commission shall make annual reports to the governor, not later than the 1st day of October in each year, concerning the administration of the state compensation insurance fund, the receipts and disbursements thereof, the accident experience of the several classes of employers insured therein, the effect of the various rates of premium charged, the mortality among employees, the character of injuries for which compensation has been paid, and such other matters as may be specially required by the governor. The commission shall also report to the governor any suggestions it may have for the reduction of the number of accidents to employees and for the better administration of this act. The commission shall include in its report to the governor a report of the industrial accident board, and shall make such recommendations as it may deem proper based upon the experience of the industrial accident board in the administration of this act. The commission shall also report to the governor any violation of this act of which it has knowledge, and the action taken by it in connection therewith, and shall transmit with its report such reports as it may deem necessary to enable the governor to make his report to the legislature required by section 19 of article V of the constitution. The commission may make such investigations relative to the operation of this act as it may deem necessary, and may submit the results thereof in its report to the governor. The commission shall also report to the governor any evidence that it may obtain of the existence of any trust or combination in restraint of trade in connection with the business of insurance, and the facts relating thereto, and any action taken by it in connection therewith.

SEC. 50. Any person who wilfully misrepresents any fact in order to prevent himself or any other person from becoming entitled to compensation under this act, or to increase the amount of compensation payable under this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 51. For purposes of this act, unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context, the following words, as used in this act, and as used in sections 46 to 50, inclusive, of this act, shall, unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context, be construed as follows:

(1) The phrase "place of employment" shall mean and include every place, whether indoors or out or underground, or elsewhere, and the premises appurtenant thereto, where, either temporarily or permanently, and whether regularly or not, any business is carried on, or where any process or occupation incident or necessary to any business, trade, work or employment as defined herein is carried on, and where any employee is directly or indirectly employed by the employer, or is under the control of the employer, or is subject to any direct or indirect invitation, express or implied, of the employer, and shall not include any place where persons are employed solely in the construction, repair or alteration of private residences, or in agricultural pursuits, or in domestic service.

(2) The term "employment" shall mean and include any trade, profession, occupation or process of manufacture, or any method of carrying on such trade, work, business, occupation or process of manufacture in which any person may be engaged, except where persons are employed solely in the construction, repair or alteration of private residences, or in agricultural pursuits, or in domestic service.

(3) The term "employer" shall mean and include every person, firm, voluntary association, corporation, officer, agent, manager, representative of whom persons having control or custody of any employment, place of employment or of any employee.

(4) The term "employee" shall mean and include every person who may be required or directed by any employer to do anything in connection with any employment, or who receives compensation for personal services rendered to an employer, and who is not an employer as herein defined; provided, however, that any person who is a member of a partnership, association, corporation, or private corporation, including any official thereof, shall not be deemed an employee of such partnership, association, corporation, or private corporation, unless he has elected to be included in the coverage of his employer's insurance contract, as provided in section 4 of this act.

(5) The term "order" shall mean and include any decision, rule, regulation, direction, requirement or standard of the commission or any other determination arrived at or decision made by such commission under the terms, provisions of this act.

(6) The term "safety order" shall mean and include every order made under the safety provisions of this act, or under a reasonable construction thereof, to any persons, employments or places of employment, or all persons, employments or places of employment of a class under the jurisdiction of the commission. All other orders of the commission shall be considered special orders.

(7) The term "local order" shall mean and include any ordinance, order, rule or determination of any board of supervisors, city council, board of trustees or other governing body of any county, city and county, city or of any school district or other public corporation, or an order or direction of any other public official or board or department upon any matter over which the industrial accident commission has jurisdiction.

(8) The terms "safe" and "safety" as applied to an employment or a place of employment shall mean such freedom from danger to the life or safety of employees as the nature of the employment will reasonably permit.

(9) The terms "safety device" and "safeguard" shall be given a broad interpretation so as to include any practicable method of mitigating or preventing a specific danger.

SEC. 52. Every employer shall furnish employment which shall be safe for the employees therein and shall furnish a place of employment which shall be safe for employees therein, and shall furnish and use such safety devices and safeguards, and shall adopt and use such practices, means, methods, operations and processes as are reasonably adequate to render such employment and place of employment safe, and shall do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees.

SEC. 53. No employer shall require, permit or suffer any employee to go or be in any employment or place of employment which is not safe, and no such employer shall fail to furnish, provide and use safety devices and safeguards or fail to adopt and use methods and processes reasonably adequate to render such employment and place of employment safe, and no such employer shall fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees, and no such employer shall occupy or maintain any place of employment that is not safe.

SEC. 54. No employer, owner or lessee of any real property in this state shall construct or cause to be constructed any place of employment that is not safe.

SEC. 55. No employee shall remove, displace, damage, destroy or carry off any safety device or safeguard furnished and provided for use in any employment or place of employment, or interfere in any way with the use thereof by any other person, or interfere with the use of any method or process adopted for the protection of any employee in such employment, or place of employment, or fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees.

SEC. 56. The commission is vested with full power and jurisdiction over, and shall have such supervision of, every employment and place of employment in this state as may be necessary adequately to enforce and administer all laws and all lawful orders requiring such employment and place of employment to be safe, and requiring the protection of the life and safety of every employee in such employment or place of employment.

SEC. 57. The commission shall have power, after a hearing had upon its own motion or upon complaint, by general or special orders, rules or regulations, or otherwise:

(1) To declare and prescribe what safety devices, safeguards or other means or methods of protection are well adapted to render the employees of every employment and place of employment safe as required by law or lawful order.

(2) To fix such reasonable standards and to prescribe, modify and enforce such reasonable orders for the adoption, installation, use, maintenance and operation of safety devices, safeguards and other means or methods of protection, to be as nearly uniform as possible, as may be necessary to carry out all laws and lawful orders relative to the protection of the life and safety of employees in employments and places of employment.

(3) To fix and order such reasonable standards for the construction, repair and maintenance of places of employment as shall render them safe.

(4) To require the performance of any other act which the protection of the life and safety of employees in employments and places of employment may demand.

(5) To declare and prescribe the general form of industrial accidents reports, the accidents to be reported and the information to be furnished in connection therewith, and the time within which such reports shall be filed. Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to prevent the commission from requiring supplemental accident reports.

SEC. 58. Upon the fixing of a time and place for the holding of a hearing for the purpose of considering and issuing a general safety order or orders as authorized by section fifty-seven hereof, the commission shall cause a notice of such hearing to be pub-.

GRANT Chairman.

STATEMENT.

The following statement was filed and ordered printed in the Journal:

I am not recorded on page 67 of the Senate Journal of April 18th as voting on Assembly Bill No. 1080. An Act granting [illegible] in the city of Riverside, owing to the fact that this bill was brought up for consideration during my unavoidable absence and when quite a few members of the Senate were present. This was brought as something to all legislative members. I had the privilege [illegible] to call me to the telephone [illegible] in the Assemblyman who introduced the bill. Then Dan F. Cosgrave is trying one of the Assembly Districts in San Francisco [illegible] and the bill affected a purely local situation in his district. I attempted to obtain his pair on the measure on Monday, April 21st, while on the Senate floor, but [illegible] the bill should not be considered. Had I been present when the bill was up for passage I would have voted "aye."

EDWARD J. TYRRELL.

REQUEST FOR INTRODUCTION OF BILL.

The following request for permission to introduce a bill was presented:

By Senator Butler: Permission to introduce a Senate bill—An Act repealing an Act entitled "An Act to establish the Alpine state highway; to define its course; to provide for its supervision, construction, repair and maintenance and to make appropriation therefor [illegible] proved March 15, 1911; repealing an Act entitled "An Act to declare a part of the Sonora and Mono wagon road, commencing east of Sonora at a point known as Long Barn in Tuolumne County and running thence across the summit of the Sierra Nevada Mountains to Bridgeport in Mono County, a state highway;" which became a law under constitutional provisions without the Governor's approval, March 12, 1901; providing for the location, survey, construction, improvement and maintenance of a state highway from Osgood Station on the Lake Tahoe wagon road, El Dorado County, in a general southeasterly direction to Independence, Inyo County; also, from the Calaveras Big Tree Grove, located in Calaveras County, easterly along what has been known as the "Big Tree and Carson Valley Turnpike," to a point on the wagon road near the junction of Silver Creek near the east fork of Carson River, said highway to be named the Alpine-Inyo state highway, and making an appropriation therefor.

Request referred to Committee on Introduction of Bills.

"SEC. 13. The commission under the Arizona workmen's compensation act of 1912 [Act providing relief for injured wage earners] shall be held to have jurisdiction for the purpose of such assessment of a less wage than the employee was paid shall be excluded, and every employee so added pursuant to this section shall be entitled to all the benefits of the compensation act added hereby, and the employer shall pay to the state treasurer as a compensation act added hereby, and the employer shall pay to the state treasurer as a compensation act added hereby, and the employer shall pay to the state treasurer as a and industries in which women and minors are employed in the State of California, and to make investigations into the comfort, health, safety and welfare of such women and minors.

(b) It shall be the duty of every person, firm or corporation employing labor in this state:

1. To furnish to the commission, at its request, any and all reports or information which the commission may require to carry out the purposes of this Act, such reports and information to be verified by the oath of the person, or a member of the firm, or the president, secretary or manager of the corporation furnishing the same, if and when so requested by the commission or any member thereof.

2. To allow any member of the commission, or its secretary, or any of its duly authorized experts or employees, free access to the places of business or employment of such person, firm, or corporation, for the purpose of making any investigation authorized by this Act, or to make inspection of, or excerpts from, all books, reports, contracts, payrolls, documents, or papers of such person, firm or corporation, relating to the employment of labor and payment therefor by such person, firm or corporation.

3. To keep a register of the names, ages and residence addresses of all women and minors employed.

(c) For the purposes of this Act, a minor is defined to be a person of either sex under the age of eighteen years.

SEC. 4. The commission may specify times to hold public hearings, at which times employers, employees, or other interested persons, may appear and give testimony as to the matter under consideration. The commission or any member thereof shall have power to subpena witnesses and to administer oaths. All witnesses subpenaed by the commission shall be paid the fees and mileage fixed by law in civil cases.

In case of failure on the part of any person to comply with any order of the commission or any member thereof, or any subpoena, or upon the refusal of any witness to testify to any matter regarding which he may lawfully be interrogated before any wage board or the commission, it shall be the duty of the superior court or the judge thereof, on the application of a member of the commission, to compel obedience in the same manner by contempt proceedings or otherwise, that such obedience would be compelled in a proceeding pending before said court. The commission shall have power to make and enforce reasonable and proper rules of practice and procedure, and shall not be bound by the technical rules of evidence.

SEC. 5. If, after investigation, the commission is of the opinion that, in any occupation, trade or industry, the wages paid to women and minors are inadequate to supply the cost of proper living, or the hours or conditions of labor are prejudical to the health, morals or welfare of the workers, the commission may call a conference, hereinafter called "wage board," composed of an equal number of representatives of employers and employees in the occupation, trade or industry in question, and a representative of the commission to be designated by it, who shall act as the chairman of the wage board. The members of such wage board shall be allowed five dollars per diem and necessary traveling expenses while engaged in such conferences. The commission shall make rules and regulations governing the number and selection of the members and the mode of procedure of such wage board, and shall exercise exclusive jurisdiction over all questions arising as to the validity of the procedure and of the recommendations of such wage board. The proceedings and deliberations of such wage board shall be made a matter of record for the use of the commission, and shall be admissible as evidence in any proceedings before the commission. On request of the commission, it shall be the duty of such wage board to report to the commission its findings, including therein:

1. An estimate of the minimum wage adequate to supply to women and minors engaged in the occupation, trade or industry in question, the necessary cost of proper living and to maintain the health and welfare of such women and minors.

2. The number of hours of work per day in the occupation, trade or industry in question, consistent with the health and welfare of such women and minors.

3. The standard conditions of labor in the occupation, trade or industry in question, demanded by the health and welfare of such women and minors.

SEC. 6. (a) The commission shall have further power, after a public hearing had upon its own motion or upon petition, to fix:

1. A minimum wage to be paid to women and minors engaged in any occupation trade or industry in this state, which shall not be less than a wage adequate to supply to such women and minors the necessary cost of proper living and to maintain the health and welfare of such women and minors.

2. The maximum hours of work consistent with the health and welfare of women and minors engaged in any occupation, trade or industry in this state; provided, that the hours so fixed shall not be more than the maximum now or hereafter fixed by law.

3. The standard conditions of labor demanded by the health and welfare of the women and minors engaged in any occupation, trade or industry in this state.

(b) Upon the filing of a time and place for the holding of a hearing for the purpose of considering and acting upon any matters referred to in subsection (a) hereof, the commission shall give public notice by advertisement in at least one newspaper published in each of the cities of Los Angeles and Sacramento and in the city and

The commission, or any party aggrieved, by a decree entered upon the review of a determination, may appeal thereto within the time and in the manner provided for an appeal from the orders of the said superior court.

SEC. 13. Any employee receiving less than the legal minimum wage applicable to such employee shall be entitled to recover in a civil action the unpaid balance of the full amount of such minimum wage, together with costs of suit, notwithstanding any agreement to work for such lesser wage.

SEC. 14. Any person may register with the commission a complaint that the wages paid to an employee for whom a minimum rate has been established are less than such rate, and the commission shall investigate the matter and take all proceedings necessary to enforce the payment of a wage of not less than the living wage.

SEC. 15. The commission shall biennially make a report to the governor and the state legislature of its investigations and proceedings.

SEC. 16. There is hereby appropriated generally out of the moneys of the state treasury, not otherwise appropriated, the sum of fifteen thousand dollars to be used by the commission in carrying out the provisions of this Act, and the governor is hereby directed from time to time to draw his warrants on the general fund in favor of the commission for the moneys expended under its direction, and the treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to pay the same.

SEC. 17. The commission shall not act as a board of arbitration during a strike or lock-out.

SEC. 18. (a) Whenever this Act, or any part or section thereof, is interpreted by a court, it shall be liberally construed by such court.

(b) If any section, subsection, or subdivision of this Act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Act. The legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this Act, and each section subsection, subdivision, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, subdivisions, sentences, clauses or phrases is declared unconstitutional.

SEC. 19. The provisions of this Act shall apply to and include women and minors employed in any occupation, trade or industry, and whose compensation for labor is measured by time, piece or otherwise.

The superior court in every county of this state shall exercise the jurisdiction conferred by this Act, and, while sitting in the exercise of its said jurisdiction, shall be known and referred to as the "juvenile court," and is hereinafter so referred to. In counties having more than one judge of the superior court, the judges of such court shall annually designate one or more of their number whose duty it shall be to hear all cases coming under this Act; provided, that no judge shall be designated to serve in such capacity for less than one year; and that no judge shall be designated to serve in such capacity who has already or shall hereafter have served for three consecutive years, until an interval of one year has elapsed. provided, however, that nothing in this section contained shall be construed in conflict with that portion of Article VI, Section 6, of the Constitution of the State of California, applying to the city and county of San Francisco. The orders and findings, if any, of the superior court, in all cases coming under the provisions of this Act, shall be entered in a book to be kept for that purpose and known as the "juvenile court record," and the court when acting under this Act shall be called the "juvenile court." All cases coming under the provisions of this Act shall be heard at a special or separate session of the court, and no other matter shall be heard at such session, nor shall there be permitted to be present at such session any person on trial or awaiting trial, or under accusation of crime, who does not come under the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 6. Any person may file with the clerk of the superior court a petition showing that there is within the county, or residing therein a neglected, dependent or delinquent person, and praying that the superior court deal with such person as provided in this Act. Such petition shall be verified and shall contain a statement of facts constituting such neglect, dependency or delinquency, as defined in this Act, and the names and residence, if known to the petitioner, of the parents or guardian of said neglected, dependent or delinquent person. There shall be no fee for filing such petition.

SEC. 7. Upon the filing of the petition provided for in Section 6 hereof, a citation shall issue, requiring the person or persons having the custody or control of the alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person, or with whom such alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person may be, to appear with said alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person at a time and place stated in the citation. Service of such citation must be made at least twenty-four hours before the time stated therein for such appearance. The parents or guardians of said alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person, if residing within the county in which the court sits, and if their places of residence be known to the petitioner, or if there be neither parent nor guardian so residing, or if their places of residence be not known to the petitioner, then some relative of said alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person, if any there be residing within said county, and if his residence and relationship to such alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person be known to petitioner, shall be notified of the proceedings by service of citation requiring him or them to appear at the time and place stated in such citation. In any case the judge may appoint some suitable person to act in behalf of said alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person, and may order such further notice of the proceedings to be given as he may deem proper. If any person, cited as herein provided, shall fail, without reasonable cause, to appear and abide by the order of the court, or to bring said alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person, if so required in the citation, such failure shall constitute a contempt of said court and may be punished as provided for in other cases of contempt of court. In case such contempt can not be corrected by the party against whom it may be done, and in any case in which it shall be made to appear to the court that such contempt will probably be continued, a warrant of arrest shall issue on the order of the court, either against the person so guilty, or the person having the custody of such prisoner or prisoners, or delinquent person, or such other person as may be necessary, dependent or delinquent person, or such person to whom the said alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person may be so awarded; the said alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person himself, or any or all such persons, or, in lieu of or in addition to the warrant above provided, a warrant of arrest may be issued against the said alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person immediately. On the return of the warrant or other process, or any such custodian or such person, the court shall proceed to hear and dispose of the case in a summary manner. Until the final disposition of any case the said alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person may be returned to the possession of the parent having custody of such person, or may be kept upon the order of the court, or upon security given, provided by the court, or may be held otherwise, as the court may direct.

SEC. 8. When any alleged neglected person under the age of twenty-one years shall be found by said court or judge to be a neglected person within the meaning of this Act, the court shall have such order as relates to the permanent care and custody of such neglected person, which may be made applicable to persons of the age of said neglected person; provided, however, that no such neglected person shall be placed in the care of any county home, association, society, corporation, school or institution, unless there are dependents or delinquents assigned. When any alleged dependent or delinquent person under the age of twenty-one years shall be found by said court or judge to be dependent or delinquent, within the meaning of this Act, the court may make an order committing said dependent or delinquent person to the care of such reputable person as may be willing to receive such person, or to any association, society or corporation willing to receive it, embracing in its objects the purpose of caring for or procuring homes for dependent or delinquent children, or to the care of the probation officer, as other proper and dependent or delinquent person to provide up his or her home or in lieu other home provided for the benefit of the home and, if said dependent or delinquent person be a girl of an age to bring shame or disgrace to the Pioneer School of Industry or if under sixteen years of age to the Whittier State School during her minority. And if a girl, over the age of the Whittier State School or to any similar state institution for girls which may hereafter be established, however that such commitments under this act or either the Pioneer School of Industry or the Whittier State School shall permit the transfer of any girl from one institution to the other upon the agreement thereto by the superintendents of both of such institutions. Accompanying the commitment papers the court shall transmit to the superintendent of such institution a record of all the facts in the possession of the court, touching the history of the person committed, including a statement of the mental and physical condition.

Should it develop, either at the time of such commitment or after having become an inmate thereof, that any dependent or delinquent person who has been committed to either of such institutions, is an improper person to be there retained, or not amenable or susceptible of reformation under the discipline of the school to which such person may be committed as to render his or her continued retention in the interests of the school, the superintendent may, with the consent of the board of trustees of such institution, return such dependent or delinquent person to the committing court. And in the event of such return, the transportation of such dependent or delinquent person shall be made in the same manner and the compensation therefor of same shall be paid for as is provided for in the execution of an order of commitment to such institution. After making any of the above mentioned orders the court may, from time to time, change or modify the same, or set aside the same, or release such dependent or delinquent person to such prison or institution, and for such time as the court may deem fit, but not beyond the time when such person shall attain the age of twenty-one years.

SEC. 9. The judge of the superior court to act for such county, or any and every of the state, and in counties where there is more than one judge of the said court, the judges of the superior court in said county shall, by order entered in the minutes of the court, appoint seven citizens of good moral character, not more than four of whom shall be of the same sex, and of most one of whom shall have been members, to be known as the "probation committee," and shall fix the time for entering in such appointment. Six (or as possible three shall not be appointed more than one member of such probation committee from the same calling, business or profession. The clerk of said court shall immediately notify each person appointed on said committee, and thereupon said person shall appear before the judge of the superior court to whom has been assigned all proceedings under this Act and qualify by taking an oath which shall be entered in said records, that he will support faithfully the duties of a member of such probation committee.

SEC. 10. The members of such probation committee shall hold office for four years and until their successors are appointed and qualify; provided, that of those first appointed, one shall hold office for one year, two for two years, two for three years, and two for four years, the terms for which the respective members shall hold office to be determined by lot as soon after their appointment as may be. When any vacancy occurs in any probation committee by expiration of the term of office of any member thereof, his successor shall be appointed to hold office for the term of four years; when any vacancy occurs for any other reason, the appointee shall hold office for the unexpired term of his predecessor.

SEC. 11. The juvenile court or the judge thereof may at any time, and upon request of the county board of supervisors, shall require said probation committee or probation officer to examine into the qualifications and management of any society, association or corporation, other than a state institution, receiving, or applying for, any neglected, dependent or delinquent person under this Act, and to report thereon to the court. It shall be the duty of each probation committee to prepare each year one or more reports in writing on the qualifications and management of all societies, associations and corporations, except state institutions, applying for or receiving any neglected, dependent or delinquent person under this Act from the courts of their respective counties, and in such report said committee may make such suggestions or comments as to them may seem fit; such report to be filed as a public document with the clerk of the juvenile court appointing such committee. The probation committee shall also make to the court an annual report to be filed as a public document prior to the first day of December, copies of which shall be filed with the county board of supervisors and the state board of charities and corrections. It shall be the duty of the probation committee to exercise a friendly supervision and visitation over the neglected, dependent or delinquent person when so directed by the court, to furnish the court information and assistance whenever required, and, from time to time, to advise and recommend to the court any change or modification of the order made in the case of a neglected, dependent or delinquent person as may be for the best interests of such person. Upon request of the probation officer, any member of the probation committee shall investigate the case of any alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person coming under the provisions of this Act, and render a report thereon to the probation officer. The probation committee shall also have the control and management of the internal affairs of any detention home or branch detention home heretofore or hereafter established by the county board of supervisors; and it shall be the duty of said board of supervisors to provide for the payment of such employees as may be needed in the efficient management of such detention home or branch detention home or homes.

SEC. 12. Members of the probation committee shall serve without compensation, but shall be allowed their reasonable traveling expenses as approved by the judge of the juvenile court; and the same shall be a charge upon the county in which the court appointing them has jurisdiction, and said expenses shall be paid out of the county treasury upon a written order of the judge of the juvenile court of said county directing the county auditor to draw his warrant upon the county treasury for the specified amount of such expenses. All orders by the juvenile court judge upon the county treasury shall be filed in duplicate with the county board of supervisors.

SEC. 13. There shall be appointed, as hereinafter provided, a probation officer in every county, and he may appoint as many deputies as he may desire; provided, however, that such deputies shall not have authority to act until their appointment shall have been approved by the majority vote of the probation committee, and by the judge of the juvenile court. The term of office of such deputies shall expire with the expiration of the term of office of the probation officer making such appointments, but either the probation officer, or the probation committee by a majority vote of the judge of the juvenile court, may at any time in his or their discretion, revoke and terminate any such appointment. Such deputies, except as hereinafter provided, shall serve without compensation. Every probation officer and every assistant probation officer receiving an official salary shall, at the time that he files his oath of office, file with the county clerk of the county his official bond approved by the judge of the juvenile court. The judge of the juvenile court shall have authority by an order entered in the minutes of said court to determine and fix the amount of bonds of the probation officer of the county and of his assistants. If said bonds, or any of them, are furnished by any surety company licensed to transact business in the State of California, the premium thereon shall be paid out of the county treasury.

SEC. 14. The offices of probation officer and assistant probation officer are hereby created. The probation officers and assistant probation officers to serve hereunder in any county shall be nominated by the probation committee in such manner as the judge of the juvenile court in the respective counties shall direct, and the appointment of such probation officers and assistant probation officers shall then be made by the judge of the respective juvenile courts. The term of office of the probation officers and assistant probation officers shall be two years from the date of their said appointments. All probation officers and assistant probation officers receiving a salary of seventy-five dollars or more per month shall devote their entire time and attention to the duties of their offices, and no such probation officer or assistant probation officer, while holding such office and receiving salary therefor, shall be a candidate or seek the nomination for any other public office or employment, and no person shall be appointed to and receive the salary attached to such office of either probation officer or assistant probation officer who is related to the SEC. 14*x*. In every other county than those heretofore expressly enumerated the salary of the probation officer shall be thirty-five dollars per month.

SEC. 15. The salaries of all probation officers and assistant probation officers shall be paid out of the county treasury of the county for which they are appointed, respectively, in the same manner as the salaries of the county officers. The probation officers and assistant probation officers and deputy probation officers in all counties of the state shall be allowed such necessary incidental expenses incurred in the performance of their duties as required by any laws of the State of California as may be authorized by the judge of the juvenile court; and the same shall be a charge upon the county in which the court appointing them has jurisdiction, and said expenses shall be paid out of the county treasury upon a written order of the judge of the juvenile court of said county directing the county auditor to draw his warrant upon the county treasurer for the specific amount of such expenses. The probation officer and the clerk of the juvenile court shall each keep a classified list of expenses and file a duplicate copy with the county board of supervisors.

SEC. 16. It shall be the duty of the clerk of any court before which an alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person is brought under the provisions of this act, before hearing, to notify the probation officer of the county thereof.

SEC. 17. The probation officer shall inquire into the antecedents, character, family history, environment and cause of dependency or delinquency of every alleged neglected, dependent or delinquent person brought before the juvenile court, and shall make his report in writing to the judge thereof; it shall also be the duty of said probation officer, to be present in court in order to represent the interests of the neglected, dependent or delinquent person when the case is heard, and to furnish to the court such information and assistance as it may require and to make such report at such time; and to take charge of said neglected, dependent or delinquent person before and after the hearing as may be ordered. Whenever any person is declared neglected, dependent or delinquent under the provisions of this Act, and is placed in or committed to the care and custody of the probation officer, the case may be transferred to the juvenile court of any county of this state, in which such person resides or to which such person shall remove, and said court shall thereafter have entire jurisdiction over said case. Every probation officer, assistant probation officer and deputy probation officer shall have the powers of a peace officer. At any time the probation officer may bring any neglected, dependent or delinquent person placed in or committed to his care before the court for such further or other action as the court may deem proper. Before any neglected person is replaced, or any dependent or delinquent person is recommitted, the probation officer shall inquire into the reasons assigned for such action and shall be present in court in order to represent the interests of such person. Every probation officer shall have the powers of a school attendance officer, in such portions of the county, in which such probation officer has been appointed, as are not otherwise provided with a school attendance officer, and shall exercise such powers when not inconsistent with his other duties. Every probation officer, within fifteen days after the thirtieth day of June, and within fifteen days after the thirty-first day of December, of each year, shall make in writing and file as a public document a report to the judge of the juvenile court of the county in which such probation officer is appointed, and shall furnish to the county board of supervisors and to the secretary of the state board of charities and corrections of this state a copy thereof. Such report without giving names shall state separately the exact number of neglected, dependent and delinquent persons, segregating male and female, who have been committed by such juvenile court to the care and custody of such probation officer, and the exact number of such persons who are wards of such specified, he shall forthwith certify to the juvenile court of his county (a) that said person (quoting him) is charged with such crime (stating its nature), (b) that such person appears to be under the age of eighteen years, giving name of town where known, and (c) the substance of information against such person on such charge by reason of his age, with the date of such information, and immediately thereupon all proceedings against the said person on such charge shall be suspended until said juvenile court shall have disposed as hereinafter provided of the question as to whether such person is a delinquent child, and the court so suspending the proceedings shall forthwith issue such writs or take such other steps as may be necessary to bring such person before said juvenile court for the purpose of such disposition.

SEC. 28. Whenever a delinquent or complaint shall be filed in any court other than a superior court, charging a person with a crime and it shall be ascertained in the judge justice or assistant before whom such person is brought upon the original charge, in manner the case of ordinary pleas and trials, that such person is apparently under the age of eighteen years, said judge, justice or assistant shall immediately suspend all proceedings against such person on said charge and examine into the age of such person, and if from such examination it shall appear to the satisfaction of said judge, justice or assistant that such person is under the age of

Amendment offered by Senator Wilson of Hampden

Amend by striking out the words "he shall forthwith certify to the juvenile court of his county (a) that said person (quoting him) is charged with such crime (stating its nature), (b) that such person appears to be under the age of eighteen years, giving name of town where known, and (c) the substance of information against such person on such charge by reason of his age, with the date of such information, and immediately thereupon all proceedings against the said person on such charge shall be suspended until said juvenile court shall have disposed as hereinafter provided of the question as to whether such person is a delinquent child, and the court so suspending the proceedings shall forthwith issue such writs or take such other steps as may be necessary to bring such person before said juvenile court for the purpose of such disposition." and inserting in place thereof the following: "he shall forthwith certify to the juvenile court of his county that said person appears to be under the age of eighteen years, giving name of town where known, and the substance of information against such person on such charge by reason of his age, with the date of such information, and thereupon all proceedings against the said person on such charge shall be suspended until said juvenile court shall have disposed as hereinafter provided of the question as to whether such person is a delinquent child, and the court so suspending the proceedings shall forthwith issue such writs or take such other steps as may be necessary to bring such person before said juvenile court for the purpose of such disposition."

Which was adopted.

Thereupon, on motion of Senator Wilson of Hampden, the bill was further amended by striking out the words "he shall forthwith certify to the juvenile court of his county (a) that said person (quoting him) is charged with such crime (stating its nature), (b) that such person appears to be under the age of eighteen years, giving name of town where known, and (c) the substance of information against such person on such charge by reason of his age, with the date of such information, and immediately thereupon all proceedings against the said person on such charge shall be suspended until said juvenile court shall have disposed as hereinafter provided of the question as to whether such person is a delinquent child, and the court so suspending the proceedings shall forthwith issue such writs or take such other steps as may be necessary to bring such person before said juvenile court for the purpose of such disposition." and inserting in place thereof the following: "he shall forthwith certify to the juvenile court of his county that said person appears to be under the age of eighteen years, giving name of town where known, and the substance of information against such person on such charge by reason of his age, with the date of such information, and thereupon all proceedings against the said person on such charge shall be suspended until said juvenile court shall have disposed as hereinafter provided of the question as to whether such person is a delinquent child, and the court so suspending the proceedings shall forthwith issue such writs or take such other steps as may be necessary to bring such person before said juvenile court for the purpose of such disposition."

within the meaning of this Act, such order shall be made as is meet in the premises, as in this Act provided. If upon said hearing said court shall determine that a delinquent person is not a fit and proper subject to be dealt with under the reformatory provisions of this Act, said court may dismiss the petition hereunder and direct that such delinquent person be prosecuted under the general law. No delinquent or delinquent person under eighteen years of age shall be prosecuted for crime until the matter has first been submitted to the juvenile court by petition as herein provided, or by certificate of the lower court as provided in section eighteen hereof.

SEC. 20. Whenever any person over the age of eighteen years and under the age of twenty one years is accused of a felony, and the indictment or information has been filed in the superior court of the county wherein the crime was committed charging said person with the commission of said felony, the judge may, in his discretion, with the consent of the accused, or upon his request, arrest said proceeding at the time of arraignment or at any time previous to the impanneling of a jury, except where the crime charged is a capital offense, and may proceed to investigate the charge against the defendant, and all the facts and circumstances necessary to determine the proper disposition to be made of said person, and shall determine whether said person shall be dealt with as a delinquent under the provisions of this Act. If the court is satisfied upon such investigation that said person should be declared a delinquent and should be dealt with under this Act, it may make such order as herein provided for the disposition of delinquent persons. If such person thereafter grows not to be amenable to the discipline of the state school to which he may be committed, and the trustees thereof shall determine that said person should be committed to a state penitentiary, such person shall be returned to the custody of the sheriff of the county in which the crime was committed, and thereafter proceedings shall be had upon the indictment or information commencing at the point at which proceedings were arrested and said person shall be tried for the offense alleged in the information, and if convicted shall be sent to the penitentiary for such time as the court may determine, or otherwise dealt with in accordance with the law for dealing with persons convicted of a felony. If no request is made by the defendant for proceedings under this section, or if the defendant desires a trial by jury, or if the judge declines to consent to the application of the defendant for proceedings under this section, said cause shall proceed in the ordinary manner up to the verdict of guilty or not guilty as the case may be. If said person is convicted, the court may thereafter receive such evidence as may be offered, pending the question as to whether or not said person should be dealt with as a delinquent in the manner hereinbefore provided in case of the application and consent of the accused before trial, and may make such order of probation or commitment to said state schools, and may from time to time modify said probation orders, as is herein provided in the case of persons adjudged delinquent. If such person during the period of his commitment to said state institution, proves to be incorrigible, or not amenable to the discipline of such institution, and it shall be deemed advisable in the judgment of the trustees of such institution that said person be sent to the penitentiary, then said person shall be returned to the superior court in which the verdict was rendered, for sentence, and thereupon the court shall pronounce judgment.

SEC. 21. In the case of a person alleged to be delinquent within the meaning of this Act, the juvenile court may, pending the hearing, at any time before the person is adjudged delinquent or otherwise disposed of, order that said person be detained in any detention home provided for that purpose by any county or it may be otherwise temporarily provided for as to the court may seem fit in any manner provided herein for the care of a person after the termination of his delinquency.

SEC. 22. If the court find a person to be dependent or delinquent, then the court may commit such person to the care and custody of the probation officer and may allow the said person to remain in the home of said person, subject to the visitation of a probation officer, and said person shall report to the probation officer as often as may be required, and be subject to be returned to the court for further proceedings whenever such action may appear necessary or desirable, or the court may commit the person to the care and custody of the probation officer, to be placed in a suitable family home subject to the supervision of said probation officer and the further order of the court; or it may order the probation officer to board out the person in some suitable family home to case provision is made by voluntary contribution or otherwise for the payment of the board of said person until suitable provision may be made for said person in a home without such payment; or the court may commit said person for such time until such person arrives at the age of twenty one years as to the court may seem fit, to the care and custody of some association, society, or corporation that will receive it, embracing within its object the care of dependent or delinquent children, or the court may commit said person to a state school as hereinbefore provided, or to such other state institution as may be authorized by law to receive it; provided, further, that should the legislative body of the county provide a suitable place for the detention of dependent or delinquent persons which they are hereby authorized and required to do, such dependent or delinquent persons may be committed thereto after the adjudication of dependency or delinquency for a definite period to be specified in such order, at the end of which time said person shall be brought before the court for further order of court. The court may thereafter set aside, change or modify said order and provide for a further detention in said or delinquent under the provisions of this Act shall in no case be deemed to be a conviction of crime.

SEC. 26. No court, judge, magistrate or peace officer shall commit a person under sixteen years of age to any jail or prison, before trial and conviction, but if any such person is not released pending such hearing, he may be committed to the care and custody of a sheriff, constable or other peace officer, who shall keep such person in a detention home or some other suitable place outside of the enclosure of any jail or prison, as the court may direct. When any person under sixteen years of age shall be sentenced to confinement in an institution to which adult convicts or prisoners are sentenced or confined, it shall be unlawful to confine such person in the same room, yard or enclosure with such adult convicts or prisoners, or to permit such person to come or remain in contact with such adult convicts or prisoners.

SEC. 27. It shall be the duty of the legislative body of every county, or city and county, immediately upon this Act becoming effective, to provide and thereafter maintain, at the expense of such county, or city and county, or a part thereof approved by the judge of the juvenile court, a suitable house or place to be known as the "detention home" of said county, or city and county, for the detention of dependent and delinquent persons. Such detention home must not be in, or connected with, any jail or prison, and shall be conducted in all respects as nearly like a home as possible and shall not be deemed to be or treated as a penal institution. Such legislative body must also provide for a suitable superintendent and matron to have charge of such detention home, and for such other employees as may be needed in the efficient management of such detention home, and provide for the payment, out of the general fund of the county, or city and county, of suitable salaries for such superintendent and matron, and such other employees, such superintendent, matron and other employees to be appointed by said legislative body, upon the nomination of the probation committee and approval of the judge of the juvenile court. The superintendent of the detention home shall keep a classified list of expenses, and file a duplicate copy with the county board of supervisors. The superintendent, matron or other employee of such detention home may, at any time, be removed by the probation committee, in its discretion.

SEC. 28. Any person who shall commit any act or omit the performance of any duty, which act or omission causes or tends to cause, encourage or contribute to the dependency or delinquency of any person under the age of twenty one years as defined by any law of this state, or any person who shall, by any act or omission, threats or commands or persuasion, endeavor to induce any such person, under twenty one years of age, to do or to perform any act or follow any course of conduct, or to so live as would cause or manifestly tend to cause any such person to become, or to remain a dependent or delinquent person, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and the superior court, sitting as juvenile court, shall have original jurisdiction of all such misdemeanors; but no person shall be tried on the charge of contributing to the dependency and delinquency of any person under the age of twenty-one years, before the same judge who has heard or before whom is pending the case of the person under the age of twenty one years to whose dependency or delinquency such person is alleged to have contributed.

SEC. 29. This Act shall be liberally construed to the end that its purpose may be carried out, to wit: That the care, custody and discipline of a neglected, dependent or delinquent person as defined in this Act shall approximate as nearly as may be that which should be given by his parents, and in all cases where it can be properly done, the neglected, dependent or delinquent person as defined in this Act shall be placed in an approved family, with people of the same or similar religious belief, and become a member of the family, by legal adoption or otherwise, or if placed in the care of, or committed to, an association, society, corporation, school or institution, then to one of the same or similar religious belief. No neglected, dependent or delinquent person as defined in this Act shall be taken from the custody of his parent or legal guardian, without the consent of such parent or guardian, unless the court shall find such parent or guardian to be incapable of providing, or to have failed or neglected to provide proper maintenance, training and education for said person; and in no case unless the parent or guardian has been duly notified to be present in court before or at the time of placement or commitment or recommitment, or unless said person if dependent or delinquent has been tried on probation in said custody, and has failed to reform. In this Act words used in any gender shall include all other genders, and the word "county" shall include "city and county," the plural shall include the singular and the singular shall include the plural.

SEC. 30. An appeal to the district court of appeal shall lie from any decision and judgment of the juvenile court. The party appealing shall serve on the opposite party and file a notice of such appeal within fifteen days from the day of rendition of the judgment from which the appeal is taken. It is hereby made the duty of the judge of the juvenile court when such an appeal is taken, to find the facts of the case based upon a preponderance of evidence in the form of a special finding and the appellate court must pass upon the sufficiency of the evidence to support the judgment rendered. In case the party dissatisfied considers the sufficiency of the evidence to warrant the findings made by the court, such evidence should be presented as a bill of exceptions prepared by the appellant within fifteen days after the entry of record shall have been served on the adverse party and filed as provided by law. The opposite party shall within ten days thereafter, and within a limited time fixed thereafter by the judge, propose amendments which appellant shall be entitled to have the judge settle and allow. Within the time fixed for the presentation of bills of exceptions, the appellant shall prepare the same and serve a copy on the opposite party and also on the attorney general, and for the purpose thereof the [illegible] shall be served on [illegible] thereof. Within ten days after the filing of the bill of exceptions, the appellee may propose amendments thereto, which shall be settled by the judge and allowed as in the case of the bill of exceptions proposed by the appellant. Within the time allowed by the judge for the settlement of the bill of exceptions, the attorney general may file with the clerk of the court a statement of the points on which he intends to rely on the appeal, and the appellant shall be entitled to have the bill of exceptions corrected so as to include such statement. At the hearing of the appeal the appellant shall be confined to the points so specified by the attorney general, unless the court shall for good cause shown allow the appellant to rely on other points. The decision of the appellate court in reversing or affirming the judgment and sufficiency of the evidence to support the findings. Appeals from the appellate court shall have precedence in the order in which they appear in the docket of the supreme court. The jurisdiction and duties of such courts shall be governed by the laws now in force governing appeals from the district courts to the supreme court, so far as the same are applicable thereto.

SEC. 31. This Act shall supersede all provisions of the Act entitled "An Act to establish a state reform school for juvenile offenders and to define an appropriation therefor," approved March 17, 1903, and all amendments thereto, and all provisions of the Act entitled "An Act to establish a school of industry and to provide for the maintenance and management of same, and to define an appropriation therefor," approved March 17, 1903, and all amendments thereto, relating to the work of reformation in the institutions therein named; but shall not affect appeals or be of anything concerning the management of said institutions heretofore commenced.

SEC. 32. An Act entitled "An Act defining and providing for the suitable punishment and treatment of incendiaries and abettors thereof; preventing the carrying and display of arms with unlawful intent; regulating the employment of convict labor; providing for the suppression of combinations and conspiracies; providing for the suppression of riots; providing for the appointment of commissioners to investigate the conditions of penitentiaries, reformatories and other penal institutions; providing for the appointment of boards of prison inspectors and prescribing their duties; providing for the appointment of boards of parole and prescribing their duties; providing for the appointment of boards of pardons and prescribing their duties; providing for the appointment of boards of visitors and prescribing their duties; providing for the appointment of boards of trustees and prescribing their duties; providing for the appointment of boards of managers and prescribing their duties; providing for the appointment of boards of directors and prescribing their duties; providing for the appointment of boards of commissioners and prescribing their duties; providing for the appointment of boards of supervisors and prescribing their duties; providing for the appointment of boards of control and prescribing their duties; providing for the appointment of boards of regents and prescribing their duties; providing for the appointment of boards of governors and prescribing their duties; providing for the appointment of boards of inspectors and prescribing their duties; providing for the appointment of boards of examiners and prescribing their duties; providing for the appointment of boards of [illegible] and prescribing their duties; providing for the appointment of boards of [illegible] and prescribing their duties; providing for the appointment of boards of [illegible]

On pages 1 to 3, strike out all of lines 4 to 24, inclusive, on page 1, and all of pages 2 and 3, of the printed bill, and in lieu thereof insert the following: "duly hereafter on a motion of the court or an accusation or indictment of the district attorney of conviction be dismissed or discharged but the person from the crime with which he was charged was either not committed at all, or if committed, was not committed by him or who shall hereafter be granted a pardon for the commission of that crime for either of the foregoing reasons, or who, being innocent of the crime with which he was charged for either of the foregoing reasons shall have served the time for which he was imprisoned, may, under the conditions hereinafter provided, present a claim against the state to the state board of control for the pecuniary injury sustained by him through such erroneous conviction and imprisonment"

SEC. 2. Such claim, accompanied by a statement of the facts constituting the claim, verified in the manner provided for the verification of complaints in civil actions, must be presented by the claimant to the board of control within a period of six months after judgment of acquittal or discharge given, or after pardon granted, or after release from imprisonment, and at least four months prior to the next meeting of the legislature of this state; and no claim not so presented shall be considered by the board of control.

SEC. 3. Upon presentation of any such claim, the board of control shall fix a time and place for the hearing of the claim, and shall mail notice thereof to the claimant and to the attorney general of this state at least fifteen days prior to the time fixed for such hearing.

SEC. 4. On such hearing the claimant shall introduce evidence in support of the claim, and the attorney general may introduce evidence in opposition thereto. The claimant must prove the facts set forth in the statement constituting the claim, including the fact that the crime with which he was charged was either not committed at all, or, if committed, was not committed by him, the fact that he did not, by any act or omission on his part, either intentionally or negligently, contribute to the bringing about of his arrest or conviction for the crime with which he was charged, and the pecuniary injury sustained by him through his erroneous conviction and imprisonment.

SEC. 5. If the board of control shall be satisfied from the evidence that the crime with which the claimant was charged was either not committed at all, or, if committed, was not committed by the claimant, and that the claimant did not, by any act or omission, either intentionally or negligently, contribute to the bringing about of his arrest or conviction, and that the claimant has sustained pecuniary injury through his erroneous conviction and imprisonment, it shall, with the sanction of the governor of this state, report the facts of the case and its conclusions to the next legislature of this state, with a recommendation that an appropriation be made by the legislature for the purpose of indemnifying the claimant for such pecuniary injury, but the amount of the appropriation so recommended shall not exceed, in any case, the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000).

SEC. 6. The board of control shall make up its report and recommendation and shall give to the controller of this state a statement showing its recommendations for appropriations under the provisions of this Act, as provided by the law in cases of other claimants against this state for which no appropriations have been made.

SEC. 7. The board of control is hereby authorized to make all needful rules and regulations consistent with the law for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

During second reading of the bill, the following amendment was offered by the committee:

Strike out all after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof the following:

SECTION 1. Section four thousand one hundred forty-seven of the Revised Code of the State of Colorado is hereby amended to read as follows:

4147. In counties of the fourteenth class, the county officers shall receive as compensation for the services rendered of them by law or by virtue of their office the following salaries, to-wit:

1. The county clerk, four thousand two hundred dollars per annum; provided that in cases where a grand duplicate of values is required by law to be made, the county clerk shall receive in addition to his regular salary the sum of twelve hundred dollars per annum.

2. The county treasurer, three thousand dollars per annum, and shall receive and collect said deputy clerk hire therein provided. The salary of each deputy clerk is hereby fixed at twelve hundred dollars per annum, said salary to be paid at the same time and in the same manner as the salaries of county officers are paid.

3. The sheriff, six thousand dollars per annum.

4. The assessor, three thousand two hundred dollars per annum. The assessor shall also be allowed one assistant to be appointed by the assessor at a salary of seventy-five dollars per month, to be paid at the same time and in the same manner as the salaries of county officers are paid.

5. The coroner, one thousand dollars per annum.

6. The surveyor, one thousand dollars per annum.

7. The county judge, thousand per annum, and the fees and costs in criminal cases as heretofore provided by law. The assessor shall also be allowed the following deputies to be appointed by him, viz.: Between the first Tuesday in March and the fifteenth day of April, each year, if the assessor shall deem it necessary, he may appoint one deputy assessor at a salary of seventy-five dollars per month, to be paid at the same time and in the same manner as the salaries of county officers are paid.

8. The assessor shall also be allowed one assistant to be appointed by the assessor at a salary of seventy-five dollars per month, to be paid at the same time and in the same manner as the salaries of county officers are paid.

9. The treasurer, one thousand dollars per annum.

10. The county judge, three thousand dollars per annum, and the fees and costs in criminal cases as heretofore provided by law. The assessor shall also be allowed the following deputies to be appointed by him, viz.: Between the first Tuesday in March and the fifteenth day of April, each year, if the assessor shall deem it necessary, he may appoint one deputy assessor at a salary of seventy-five dollars per month, to be paid at the same time and in the same manner as the salaries of county officers are paid.

11. The superintendent of schools, one thousand dollars per annum, and his actual traveling expenses while visiting schools not to exceed one hundred and fifty dollars per annum; provided, that the said superintendent of schools shall appoint one deputy superintendent of schools, whose office of deputy superintendent of schools is hereby created, and such deputy shall receive compensation for his or her services the sum of seventy-five dollars per month, to be paid in equal monthly installments on the same warrant, at the same time and out of the same fund as the salaries of other county officers are paid.

12. The surveyor, such fees as are now or may be hereafter allowed by law.

13. In counties of this class the township officers shall receive the following compensation, to wit:

(a) In townships having a population of forty-five hundred, or more, each justice of the peace shall receive a salary of one thousand seven hundred dollars per month, and each constable a salary of ninety dollars per month.

(b) In townships having a population of one thousand, or more, and less than forty-five hundred, each justice of the peace shall receive a salary of fifty dollars per month and each constable a salary of sixty dollars per month.

(c) In townships having a population of two thousand seventy-five, or more, and less than two thousand, each justice of the peace shall receive a salary of forty dollars per month, and each constable a salary of fifty dollars per month.

(d) In townships having a population of eighteen hundred, or more, and less than two thousand seventy-five, each justice of the peace shall receive a salary of thirty dollars per month, and each constable a salary of forty dollars per month.

(e) In townships having a population of seven hundred fifty, or more, and less than eighteen hundred, each justice of the peace shall receive a salary of twenty dollars per month, and each constable a salary of thirty-five dollars per month.

(f) In townships having a population of less than seven hundred fifty each justice of the peace shall receive a salary of ten dollars per month, and each constable a salary of twenty-five dollars per month.

The above named salaries shall be in full compensation for all services of said justices of the peace and constables in criminal cases: provided, that each constable shall be allowed and paid the actual expense of transporting prisoners, after conviction, to the county jail, which said expense shall be audited and allowed by the board of supervisors and paid out of the county treasury.

Said justices of the peace and constables may receive and retain for their own use such fees as are now or may hereafter be allowed by law for and services rendered by them in civil actions.

The salaries of township officers as herein provided for shall be paid in the same manner, at the same time, and out of the same fund that county officers are paid.

For the purposes of this subdivision the population of the several incorporated townships is hereby determined to be the population of said townships as shown by the federal census taken in the year A. D. nineteen hundred and ten.

14. Each member of the board of supervisors, twelve hundred dollars per annum, and mileage when acting as road commissioner, twenty-five cents per mile one way; provided, the amount of mileage shall not exceed the sum of three hundred dollars in any one year.

15. Members of the board of education, each the sum of five dollars per day for actual service, together with mileage at ten cents per mile.

16. In counties of this class grand jurors and trial jurors in criminal cases in the superior court shall each receive for each day's attendance the sum of three dollars, and the mileage allowed by law.

17. Sections eight, eleven, thirteen and sixteen hereof shall become operative as soon as this Act takes effect and shall apply to incumbents in office.

Amendment adopted.

Senate Bill No. 1132—An Act to provide for an Irrigation Commission and for the organization and supervision thereby of irrigation districts; for the organization and government of such irrigation districts, for the acquisition or construction thereby of irrigation works; for the irrigation of lands embraced therein, for the distribution of water for irrigation purposes, for the dissolution thereof, and providing for the issuance of bonds and that the said bonds shall be a legal investment for insurance and trust companies, banks and banking institutions.

During second reading of the bill, the following amendments were offered by the committee:

SENATE COMMITTEE AMENDMENTS TO SENATE BILL NO. 1132.

AMENDMENT No. 1.

On page 1, amend title by striking out all after "An Act", and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Providing for the organization of water districts by the board of supervisors of the different counties of the state upon petition therefor by the landowners, providing for the notice required and conduct thereof by the landowners thereof and the board of supervisors of the county in which the same are located; providing for the duties in connection therewith of the county officials of each county in which any of the lands contained in said district are located; providing for the acquisition and construction by said district of irrigation works, for the irrigation of the lands embraced therein and for the distribution thereby of water for irrigation purposes; providing for the payment of the debts thereof by a tax levied on the lands embraced therein; providing for the issuance and sale of bonds thereby; providing that said bonds may be investigated by an appointive board of three hydraulic engineers, providing for the approval of said bonds by the state superintendent of banks in case said investigation is favorably reported and that thereafter said bonds may be lawfully purchased, or received in pledge as security for any money or deposits or for the performance of any act, by banks, banking institutions, insurance companies, trust companies, guardians, executors, administrators and special administrators; providing in certain cases for the transfer of districts from the supervision of one county board of supervisors to another; and providing for the dissolution of said districts for non-user of corporate power."

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT No. 2

On page 1, line 1, of the printed bill after the words and figures "Section 1." insert the following: "That the territory of the State of Texas is hereby divided into [illegible]

The location of [illegible] is a matter of [illegible] and [illegible] are [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] meeting, unless, prior thereto, by-laws shall have been adopted and filed with the secretary of the district by the written assent of the holders of title or evidence of title, including such aforesaid possessory rights, to a majority in area of the lands embraced in said district. The records of the United States land office for the district in which said lands are located; the records of the state land office; and the records in the office of the county recorder of the county in which said lands are situated shall be conclusive evidence of ownership for the purposes of this section. The by-laws shall provide for: the manner of calling, and the time, place and manner of conducting, all elections and the manner of giving notice thereof; the mode of voting in person or by proxy; the qualifications and duties of officers, the tenure of their office, the time and manner of their appointment or election; their compensation; the place at which the principal business of the district is to be transacted and the mode of changing the same; the mode of amending or repealing the by-laws and suitable penalties for the violation of the by-laws not to exceed in any one case two hundred dollars for any one offense. The by-laws may be repealed or amended, or new by-laws may be adopted by the assent of two thirds of the total vote of the district given either in writing or by ballot cast at an election of the district. The by-laws in their original form, and any repeal thereof, or amendment or addition thereto, must, together with the approval of the board of supervisors and the resolution of the directors, or the written assent thereto or a memorandum of the returns of the election at which the assent was given, be certified by a majority of the directors and the secretary of the district and must be filed for record with the county recorder of each county in which any of the lands contained in said district are located and by him recorded in a book kept by him for the purpose of recording instruments and writings relating to said district. Until so recorded, no by-law, addition thereto, amendment or repeal thereof, can be enforced against any person not having actual notice of the same.

SEC. 5. The officers of the district shall be a board of five directors, a secretary, and an assessor all of whom shall, except as herein otherwise provided, be elected by ballot, except the secretary who shall be appointed by the board of directors. No person shall be qualified to hold any of said offices, except that of secretary, unless he is a holder of title or evidence of title, including such aforesaid possessory rights, to lands contained in the district. Each appointee to office or all elected shall forfeit his office unless within ten days after he has notice of his election, or appointment or before the expiration of ten days from the commencement of his term of office, when no such notice is given, he shall have filed for record with the county recorder of each county in which any of the lands contained in said district are located, a written acceptance of his office which shall be recorded in a book kept for the purpose of recording instruments and writings relating to the district. If any office shall become vacant by forfeiture, death, resignation, or from any other cause, the same shall be filled by appointment—by the board of directors in case of vacancy in the office of secretary, and by the board of supervisors of the county in which the district was organized in all other cases. Until such time as their salaries shall have been fixed by the adoption of by-laws, the officers of the district shall receive the following compensation for their services: the secretary and assessor such sum each as shall be fixed by the board of directors; and the directors five dollars each for each directors' meeting attended or for each day's service rendered as a director by order of the board of directors, together with any expenses incident to such service, except expenses incurred in traveling between his place of residence and the place at which directors' meetings are held.

SEC. 6. The board of directors shall choose from among its members a president; shall appoint the secretary of the district; shall select and maintain an office for the district in the principal place of business thereof and shall hold regular meetings therein at such time and place as may be agreed upon by resolution adopted, and shall hold therein such other meetings as, from time to time, may be deemed advisable; provided, that no meetings, except regular meetings, shall be valid unless prior thereto each director shall have filed with the secretary his written consent to the same, or unless the president, or three members of the board of directors, shall have called the same by giving each of said directors five days' written notice thereof, or unless said directors shall have authorized the same by resolution adopted at a former meeting and shall have caused five days written notice thereof to be given by the secretary to each director not joining therein. A majority of the board of directors shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The vote of a majority of those present at any meeting where a quorum is had shall be necessary to determine any proposition or resolution presented. The secretary shall keep a record of all the proceedings had at meetings of the board of directors. The books, maps, papers, contracts, records and other documents pertaining to the affairs of the district shall be filed in the office of the district with the secretary and must be open to inspection at all times by any persons interested.

SEC. 7. It shall be the duty of the board of directors to manage and conduct the affairs of the district and to that end it shall, in the name of the district, have power to plan, construct, maintain and keep in repair the irrigation works necessary or proper to supply the lands contained therein with sufficient water for irrigation purposes; to acquire by purchase, condemnation or other legal means all water rights, lands, properties or rights as reasonably necessary or proper therefor; to lease or sell for a reasonable consideration any property, or rights therein, belonging to the district and no longer necessary to the use and purposes of said corporation; provided, however, all other provisions for compensation for the district under the provisions of this Act, in respect to the franchises and property of all corporations, municipal corporations and other governmental agencies to which and the duties and powers specified therein, the exercise, modification and delegation of power, or by agreement, all persons, governmental or otherwise, or any of the district's contracts or powers to carry out the provisions of this Act, or to enforce, maintain, protect or preserve the rights, privileges and franchises created by or granted to the district hereunder; to establish, print and distribute among the land owners of the district reasonable rules and regulations for the distribution of water; to enter, for the above purposes, either in behalf of or by agents or employees, on such lands and premises in the district, or adjacent thereto, as may be necessary or proper to fully carry out the purposes of this Act; provided, however, that the board of directors shall not let, or enter into, a contract for the construction of irrigation works and shall incur no obligation, except the same be necessary or proper to carry out the provisions of this Act, until all of the bonds provided for shall have been issued and sold by the district, and no bonds of the district shall be issued or executed in pursuance of this Act, nor shall any bonds be issued until subscriptions for the total amount of bonds authorized have been paid and the money derived therefrom as provided in section eighteen hereof.

SEC. 8. Between thirty and ninety days after the organization of the district and between said dates annually thereafter, the board of directors must file with the clerk of said board an engineering report showing the lands which have been irrigated during the preceding year, the lands which are then irrigable, and an estimate of the costs required for the district to discharge the general bonding obligations of the district and the obligations thereof that will mature or become due or payable during the ensuing year, and the estimated amount of money necessary to be raised by the district for the ensuing year for the payment of such obligations, and for the purposes of the district, and for the operation and maintenance of the irrigation works and the other necessary expenses of the district, and the estimated amount of water necessary for the irrigation of the lands in the district during the ensuing year, and the estimated amount of water which will be required for the irrigation of each of the several tracts of land and charge in the assessment book in a place provided therefor in the record of each parcel or tract of land assessed the amount of the tax due thereon and shall file each said separate part of the assessment book with the county tax collector of the county in which the lands therein assessed are located and thereafter the charges therein taxed shall be due and payable to the county tax collector of the county in which the lands on which they are taxed are situated. The various orders of the board of supervisors made at the hearing shall be final and when indorsed on or attached to the assessment book shall be conclusive evidence that the assessment was made and the tax levied in accordance with the law; provided, however, that any person interested in lands of the district and aggrieved by the decision of the board of supervisors may, in order to have said assessment, or the tax levied thereon, corrected, modified, or annulled, institute an action therefor in the superior court of the county in which said district was organized. No action to determine the validity in any respect of any assessment, or tax levied thereon, shall be maintained unless the same shall have been commenced within thirty days after the assessment book, or each separate part thereof, is filed with said county tax collector as above provided, and no objection to the assessment shall be considered by said board of supervisors or allowed in any other action, or proceeding, unless such objection shall have been made in writing, verified and presented to the clerk of the board of supervisors in the manner herein required.

SEC. 9. From and after the filing of the assessment book, or separate part, thereof, with said county tax collector, as provided in section eight of this Act, the charges therein taxed upon any tract or parcel of land within the county for which he is the tax collector and any penalties added thereto as hereafter provided shall constitute a lien thereon and shall impart notice thereof to all persons.

SEC. 10. Within ten days after each tax shall have become due and payable, the assessor shall publish in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county in which the district was organized, a notice stating that the same became due and payable on (inserting date) to the county tax collector of the county in which the lands on which the charge therefor is a lien are located and that unless paid within six calendar months from said date the same will become delinquent, an additional charge of ten per cent thereof added thereto and the delinquent property sold at public auction. The tax must be paid in United States gold coin, and the tax collector must mark the date of payment in the assessment book opposite the name of the person paying, and must give to such person a receipt, specifying the property taxed, the amount of the charge thereon and the amount paid, and thereafter must pay the moneys so received to the county treasurer of said county who must pay the same to the county treasurer of the county in which said district was organized, and he shall place the same to the credit of the district. As soon as possible after the tax shall become delinquent the assessment book and each separate part thereof shall be returned to the secretary of the district and the board of directors thereof shall publish once a week for three weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county in which said district was organized a notice containing: a description of the delinquent property; the name, if known, and, if unknown, stating that fact, of the person to whom it is assessed; the amount of the taxes and penalties due thereon; and a statement that the delinquent property will be sold therefor in front of the court house of said county on a date therein stated, which must be not less than twenty-one or more than twenty-eight days from the first publication, unless an error is made in the publication and discovered prior to the sale, in which case the notice shall be republished in the same manner, specifying the sale for a date not less than twenty-one or more than twenty-eight days from the first republication.

SEC. 11. At the time and place stated in said notice or at such other time (written notice whereof has been posted at the place of sale) to which the board of directors may have postponed it, not exceeding thirty days in all from the original date of sale, that person is the purchaser who will immediately pay in gold coin of the United States the delinquent tax and the penalty thereon for the smallest portion of the delinquent property, or in case an undivided interest is taxed, then the smallest portion of the interest. In case there is no purchaser in good faith for the same the whole amount of the delinquent property shall, for the amount of the tax and penalty thereon, be struck off to the district as the purchaser. A certificate of sale shall be executed in duplicate by the board of directors, one of which shall be delivered to the purchaser or to the district, if the property shall have been struck off to the district, and the other of which shall be recorded in the office of the county recorder of the county in which the property sold is located. The certificate shall be dated the day of the sale and shall specify—the description of the property sold; the name, if known, and if not, stating that fact, of the person to whom it was assessed; the fact that it was sold for the amount of the tax and penalty thereon, giving the amount and year of said tax; and the date on which the purchaser will be entitled to a deed. The recorder upon receiving the certificates of sale must, when he records the same, enter, in a book provided for that purpose and kept with the book provided for the purpose of recording instruments and writings relating to the district, a description of the land sold, corresponding with the description in the certificate, the date of sale, the name of the purchaser, and the amount paid. The entries in said book shall be numbered consecutively on the margin thereof and a corresponding number shall be for the election to be executed and delivered to the county treasurer of the county in which said district was organized.

SEC. 14. Bonds of the district, when issued, shall be payable in gold coin of the United States in twenty series as follows, five per cent of the whole amount of said bonds at the expiration of eleven years and at the expiration of each succeeding year to and including the expiration of thirty years from the date of execution thereof; they shall be of the denomination of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars each; and they shall be signed by the president of the board of directors and attested by the county auditor of the county in which the district was organized. Each bond must be made payable at a given time for its entire amount and not for a percentage; shall bear interest at a rate not in excess of seven per cent per annum, payable semiannually on the dates therein named at the office of said county treasurer upon the presentation and surrender of the proper coupons therefor, and the principal thereof shall be payable when due upon the presentation and surrender thereof to said county treasurer by the holder of the same. Each issue shall be numbered consecutively and the bonds of each issue shall be numbered consecutively and bear date at the time of their issue. Coupons for each installment of interest shall be attached to the bonds and shall be numbered the same as the bonds, and attested by the facsimile signature of the county auditor of the county in which said district was organized.

The bonds shall be substantially in the following form:

Issue _____ No._____. For value received, _____ Water District situated in the county of _____, State of California, promises to pay the holder hereof at the office of the treasurer of said county, on the _____ day of _____, 19____, the sum of _____ dollars in gold coin of the United States with interest in like gold coin at the rate of _____ per centum per annum, payable at the office of said treasury semi-annually, on the _____ day of _____ and the _____ day of _____ in each year, on presentation and surrender of the interest coupons hereto attached. This bond is issued pursuant to an election held by said district on the _____ day _____, 19____, authorizing its issuance, and by authority of an Act entitled (specifying the title and date of approval of this Act).

In witness whereof, the said district, by its board of directors, has caused this bond to be signed by the president of said board and attested by the auditor of said county, with his seal of office attached, this _____ of _____, 19____.

President of said Board.

Attest:

_____
Auditor of _____county."

The interest coupons shall be substantially in the following form:

No. _____.

The treasurer of _____ county, State of California, will pay the holder hereof, on the _____ day of _____, 19____, at his office in _____, _____ dollars, gold coin of the United States, out of the funds of _____ Water District for interest on bond numbered _____ of said district.

Attest:

County Auditor."

The county treasurer of the county in which said district was organized shall, when he receives the same, place the said bonds to the credit of the district and he shall, in a book provided for that purpose, keep a record of said bonds and of the payment thereof and the interest thereon. When filed with said county treasurer, as above provided, the bonds of the district and the interest thereon shall be and remain until paid a lien on the lands of the district, and a lien for the bonds of any issue shall be a preferred lien to that of any subsequent issue.

SEC. 15. As soon as said bonds shall have been delivered to said county treasurer, the board of directors, or any board of title, or evidence of title, including such adverse and possessory rights, to lands contained in the district, may, in order to determine that said bonds are a legal obligation of the district, institute a proceeding therefor in the superior court of the county in which the district was organized by filing with the clerk of said county a complaint setting forth that on a day therein named bonds of said district were delivered to the said treasurer stating the amount of such bonds, and praying that such bonds be adjudged to be a valid legal obligation of such district. The summons in such proceeding shall be served by publishing a copy thereof once a week for four weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in each county in which any of the lands contained in said district are located. Within thirty days after the last publication thereof shall have been completed and proof thereof filed with the court, any person interested may appear and answer said complaint, in which case said answer shall set forth the facts relied upon to show the invalidity of said bonds. If no answer shall be filed within said time, the court must render judgment as prayed for in the complaint. If an answer be filed the court shall proceed as in other civil cases. Said proceeding is hereby declared to be a proceeding in rem and the judgment rendered therein shall be conclusive against all persons whomsoever and against the State of California.

SEC. 16. For the purpose of completing the irrigation works and of acquiring the lands, property, property rights, water and water rights appurtenant or supplemental thereto and to supply the lands contained in the district with additional water for irrigation purposes, or for the purpose of making additions to said irrigation district or for the purpose of paying for said works and lands of lands previously made, the district may, when it is necessary and proper therefor, issue additional bonds in the same manner as is hereinbefore provided for the original issue of bonds.

SEC. 17. The board of directors shall provide, and may annually for the sale of said bonds or for the exchange thereof under the terms and conditions of this Division. Said board shall in no event sell or exchange, or dispose of, any of said bonds for less than the par value thereof plus the accrued interest thereon. Said sale of said bonds to said or exchange and shall said treasurer collect and all the water across the said property thereof, within the said area or any part thereof in favor of the State of California or their use, unless said be of their application and payment of the total amount of said bond taken part thereof, such bonds shall have been registered as provided in section eighteen of this Act. If the sale of said bonds was prior to the board of directors the county treasurer of the county in which the district was organized shall transfer the bonds purchased to the purchaser upon receiving the purchase price, and the moneys received therefrom shall be placed to the credit of the district, and in a similar manner bonds of the State of California shall may be received for bonds of the district shall be placed to the credit thereof to be paid to the board of directors from time to time, however, for less than par value thereof.

SEC. 18. When approved as provided in the preceding section the bonds of any district issued in pursuance of this Act shall be printed, lithographed or engraved in order as nearly full and correct as may be for the performance of duty as to the bonds, banking institutions, commercial companies and bond companies and, when necessary duly authorized by the board, the president, secretary, attorney and special administrative. When requested thereof by the holder of or purchaser of the board of directors of any water district formed hereunder, the governor upon refusal and support the approving engineer, who, with the said engineer appointed by said board of directors and two such engineers nominated by said board, shall constitute to the governor and said board of directors shall constitute a board of investigation or examination whether or not the said board of directors of said district has complied with the provisions of this Act in the issuance of said bonds and whether or not the said bonds are valid obligations of said district. Said board of investigation or examination shall have power to administer oaths, issue subpoenas, and compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of papers, books, records and documents before it, and may examine any officer of said district, and any witness whom it believes to have information concerning the validity of said bonds, and shall report in writing to the governor and said board of directors its findings as to the validity of said bonds. Said report, when approved by the governor and said board of directors, shall be conclusive as to the validity of said bonds, and thereafter no court shall have jurisdiction to inquire into the validity of said bonds, and said bonds shall be incontestable for any cause whatsoever. Said bonds, when so approved by the governor and said board of directors, shall be delivered to the purchaser thereof and the proceeds of the sale thereof paid over to the treasurer of said district, and shall be by him placed to the credit of said district, and shall be paid out only upon the warrants of the board of directors of said district, countersigned by the president and secretary thereof, for the purposes for which said bonds were issued. Said bonds shall be payable at the office of the treasurer of said district, or at the office of the county treasurer of the county in which said district is situated, or at such other place as may be designated in said bonds, and shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding six per cent per annum, payable annually or semi-annually, as may be provided by said board of directors. Said bonds shall be payable in not more than forty years from their date, and shall be redeemable at the option of said district after ten years from the date of their issue, on any interest paying date, upon giving notice of such intention to redeem for such period, not less than thirty days prior to the date fixed for such redemption, in such manner as may be provided by said board of directors. Said bonds shall be signed by the president of the board of directors and countersigned by the secretary thereof, and the coupons thereto attached shall be signed by the secretary of said board of directors, and the seal of said district shall be affixed to each bond. In case any officer whose signature or a facsimile of whose signature shall appear on any of said bonds or coupons shall cease to be such officer before the delivery of such bonds, such signature or facsimile shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes the same as if he had remained in office until such delivery.

SEC. 19. Whenever there remains of the funds in the treasury of the board of directors of any district formed hereunder, after the completion of the irrigation works and the payment of all indebtedness incurred in the construction thereof, any surplus funds, such surplus funds shall be applied to the payment of the bonds issued by said district, and the board of directors shall call in such bonds for payment in the order of their number, and shall give notice of such call by publication in a newspaper published in the county in which the principal office of the district is situated, or if no newspaper is published in said county, then in a newspaper published in the county nearest to the district, for a period of not less than thirty days prior to the date fixed for the payment of said bonds, and shall designate in said notice the bonds called for payment, and the place where they will be paid. Interest on said bonds shall cease from the date designated for their payment, if sufficient funds are provided for the payment thereof, and if upon presentation payment is refused, the bonds shall continue to draw interest until paid.

SEC. 20. Whenever the funds of any district, including moneys of the proceeds necessary to complete the construction of the irrigation works or to acquire the all the lands contained in the district with sufficient water for irrigation purposes and in addition thereto to pay every obligation of the district that is due and payable or that will become due and payable or that it is probable will become due and payable before the expiration of two years from the date on which the next preceding tax of the district was levied, the board of directors may direct the treasurer of the county in which said district was organized to pay with said excess (specifying the amount thereof) such an amount of the said bonds of the district as said excess sum of money will redeem at the lowest value at which they may be obtained for liquidation, in no case for more than the par value thereof.

SEC. 21. The county treasurer of the county in which the district was organized shall receive to the credit of the district and in trust for the uses and benefits thereof all the funds thereof, and all such funds or moneys belonging to the district, or to which the district is entitled, shall, when received, except as herein otherwise provided, be paid by the person so receiving them to the said treasurer. The said treasurer shall establish for the district two funds, to wit, a bond fund and a general fund, and shall apportion the moneys of the district to said funds, as follows: to the bond fund that portion of the moneys received from the collection of taxes or from the sale of property for delinquent taxes which bears the same proportion to the total amount so received from the collection of taxes or from the sale of property for delinquent taxes as that portion of the estimate of the board of directors (on which said tax was based) which is required for the payment of bonds and of the interest on bonds bears to the whole amount of said estimate; to the general fund, the balance of all moneys or funds so received. In case lands of the district, when sold for delinquent taxes, are struck off to the district as the purchaser, the tax collector of the county in which said lands are located shall, in making his accounting with the treasurer of said county, furnish a statement of the lands so sold to the district and of the amount for which the same were sold, and said treasurer shall deliver the same to the treasurer of the county in which said district was organized and said last named treasurer shall thereupon estimate that portion of said amount belonging to the bond fund and said charge the general fund with said portion and shall pay the same from the general fund into the bond fund. The moneys placed in the bond fund shall be used for the payment of bonds and of the interest thereon, and, until the total bonded indebtedness of the district is discharged, shall not be used for any other purposes. The funds of the district shall not exist for the payment of bonds and the interest thereon, be paid out by the treasurer of the county in which said district was organized, unless a warrant therefor shall have been drawn and executed, by the board of directors and approved by the board of supervisors of said county. Such warrants are, and shall be considered as contracts in writing for the payment of money, and the period prescribed for the commencement of an action based thereon, or connected therewith, is and shall be the term of four years from the date of their issuance. In any proceedings for a writ of mandate to compel the board of directors to issue a warrant, the court must determine the controversy in the manner provided for determining controversies to either said orders, and shall compel said to issue for such sum as may be found to be due.

SEC. 22. Except as herein otherwise provided, every holder of title or evidence of title (including the aforesaid possessory rights) to land contained in said district, and no other, shall be qualified and entitled to vote either in person or by proxy at any election held by said district. Each person entitled thereto shall have one vote for each dollar's worth of land, the title to which is held by him as above provided. The next preceding assessment book of said district shall, for the purposes of this section, be conclusive evidence of ownership and of the value of the property so owned.

SEC. 23. The [illegible] provided, all elections held under the provisions of this Act shall be called, held and conducted at the time, place and in the manner provided by the by-laws of the district: provided, however, that no such election shall be valid unless the place at which the same is held is at the principal place of business of the district and unless notice thereof shall first have been given in the following manner: by publication thereof once a week for at least two weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in each county in which any of the lands contained in said district are located. The said notice of election shall state the time, place and purposes thereof. At least ten days before any election, the board of directors must appoint from among those persons qualified and entitled to vote at said election an inspector and two judges, who shall constitute a board of election, and three alternates who shall, in the order in which they are appointed, fill any vacancies on said board if any members elect or do not appear at the opening of the polls. Each member of such board of election, or his successor, must, before entering upon his duties as such, take an oath or affirmation as such member of the board of election, which may be administered by any officer authorized to administer oaths or by any land holder in the district. The inspector is chairman of the election board and shall appoint the necessary clerks, and if during the progress of the election any judge or clerk shall cease to act, he shall appoint his successor. The polls shall be kept open for the reception of votes from ten o'clock a.m. until five o'clock p.m., when the same must be closed. The election board shall, before the opening of the polls, post in a conspicuous place thereat a list of all persons entitled to vote at said of like character belonging to any district organized under this Act shall not be taxed for state and county or municipal purposes.

SEC. 27. In case of condemnation proceedings, the board of directors shall proceed in the name of the district under the provisions of Title VII, Part III of the Code of Civil Procedure.

SEC. 28. No officer of the district shall in any manner be interested, directly or indirectly, in any contract awarded or to be warded, or in the profits to be derived therefrom; and for any violation of this provision such officer shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and such conviction shall work a forfeiture of his office, and he shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 29. It is hereby expressly provided that all waters distributed for irrigation purposes shall be apportioned ratably to each land owner upon the basis of the ratio which the last assessment of such owner for district purposes within said district bears to the whole acreage assessed upon the district. When the equitable rules and regulations for the distribution of water have been provided by the board of directors and published once a week for two weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in each county in which any of the lands contained in said district are located, any violation thereof shall be and is hereby declared to be a misdemeanor, and the person committing the same shall, upon conviction thereof, be subject to a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 30. No supervisor, recorder, tax collector, treasurer, auditor or clerk of any county shall receive any fee for any service required to be performed by him under the provisions of this Act; provided, however, that the tax collector of each county in which any of the lands contained in the district are located, during the time for the collection of the taxes of the district, may require the board of directors to provide and pay for a deputy tax collector whose duty it shall be to care for the matters relating to the collection of the said taxes of the district.

SEC. 31. If at any time after the organization of any district hereunder, the boundaries of the county in which the same was organized shall be so changed or modified as to exclude therefrom all of the lands contained in said district, then in that event the records and documents of said district in the possession and care of the board of supervisors of said county, together with a certified copy of the proceedings had by the district under the jurisdiction of said board of supervisors, shall be transferred and filed with the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county in which the greater portion of the lands contained in said district are located. All proceedings, petitions, orders or other documents which have been filed with the recorder of the county in which said district was organized, and which, or a certified copy thereof, have not been recorded in the county to which said district is transferred, shall be certified to by said county recorder and filed for record with the county recorder of the county to which said district has been transferred, and by him recorded in a book kept by him for the purpose of recording instruments and writings relating to said district. The treasurer and the auditor of the county in which said district was organized shall draw their warrant upon said treasurer for all of the funds of such district in the treasury of said county and the said treasurer shall pay such warrant and said funds, together with all unsold bonds of the district and the bond record kept by him, shall be transferred by him to the treasurer of the county to which the district has been so transferred. From and after the transfer in the manner above specified the board of supervisors of the county to which the district is transferred shall have and exercise all of the jurisdiction, power and authority over said district as was theretofore exercised by the board of supervisors of the county wherein such district was originally formed and thereafter any act or duty which is herein required to be done by the board of supervisors or any officer of the county in which said district was organized shall be performed by the corresponding board of supervisors or other officials of the county to which said district has been transferred, and in general the said district shall thereafter conduct and manage its affairs through its proper officials and in connection with the proper officials of each county in which any of the lands contained in said district are located as though said district was originally organized in the county to which it was transferred.

SEC. 32. An action may be brought by the attorney general in the name of the people of this state, upon his own information, or that of a private party, for the dissolution of any district formed hereunder for a non-user of its corporate powers. In such action the complaint and summons shall be personally served upon said district by delivery of a copy thereof to either the president of the board of directors or the secretary of the district. When service has been made upon the defendant and an appearance has been entered on behalf of the defendant served, the court, upon the application of any of the parties, shall thereupon enter an order fixing a day for a hearing, which shall not be less than twenty-five days from the date of the order and shall, also, enter an order directing notice by publication to be given by the clerk to all persons interested in said district either as the owners of land or interests in land in said district or as creditors of said district, or otherwise, requiring them to be and appear on the day fixed for the hearing and show cause, if any they have, why the district named in the complaint as defendant should not be dissolved. The notice shall be published in some newspaper of general circulation published in said county in which any of the lands included in said district are located, for a period of not less than twenty days. On the day fixed for a hearing, or some day prior thereto to which the same may be continued, the court may proceed with the hearing, and proof having been made of the service of the notice by publication for the length of time required by the order, any person interested in the district may appear and present any matter pertinent to the question whether the petition for the dissolution of the district and the petitioners should be allowed to file an amended petition for the dissolution of the district and their names be stricken from the list of such persons so subscribing thereto, or whether the district should be dissolved in accordance with the prayer of the petition. If upon the hearing of such petition it be determined by the court that the dissolution of the district is not for the best interests of the owners of the lands included therein, or that all the debts and liabilities incurred by the district cannot be paid thereby, or that sufficient provision has not been made for the payment of all the debts and liabilities incurred by the district, the petition shall be denied, and the court may, by order, direct the manner in which such debts and liabilities shall be paid, and may continue the hearing from time to time for that purpose. If it appears to the court that the dissolution of the district will be for the best interests of the owners of the lands included therein, and that sufficient provision has been made for the payment of all the debts and liabilities incurred by the district, the court shall make an order dissolving the district, and declaring that the same is dissolved, and that the corporate existence thereof shall cease, except for the purpose of winding up the affairs of the district and paying its debts and liabilities. The court shall also make such orders and decrees as may be necessary to protect the rights of all persons interested.

SEC. 23. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this Act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Act. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this Act and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more other sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional.

SEC. 24. This Act shall be known and may be cited as the [illegible] Act of 1913.

MEMORIAL

The following memorial was presented by Senator Beban:

To the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House, California General Assembly:

GENTLEMEN: The Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Associations (The Chinese Six Companies), the Chinese Merchants' Association and Chamber of Commerce, beg, respectfully to present against the [illegible] before your honorable bodies.

The Chinese now in California are here by virtue of treaties that guarantee them the common rights of man as enjoyed under the laws or rights of your State Constitution. We have prospered, and desire to promote wider and more abundant trade and commercial relations between this State and China. We have participated in the great movement that has caused China to lessen the rigours of past customs by the adoption of a progressive form of government. We believe that the aims, objects in our government will promote the happiness and prosperity of the Chinese people, and China's welcome their trade with the western nations.

As declared California, we protest that the Chinese are aliens of such class cannot be secured by legislation that hereafter may tend to work the extinction infinitely, and shame us before the nations.

Your proposed legislation touching the property of our countrymen to acts a blow here, and to encourage by the commonwealth to treat them with contempt, and we assert that it is unfriendly and inhospitable on the part of the peoples' republic of the hands of the greatest republic of the world.

The very fact of our resident foreigners should suggest to us the need of justice of the people of California. It is said by friendly among the great and powerful nations that California will establish itself, but rather by a just respect for the rights of those who have no protection, except the protection of humanity and by the principles of Christian equity.

We respectfully ask that this protest be made of record, and that your honorable bodies will give it careful consideration and that action be taken by which you have the power so to do.

CHINESE CONSOLIDATED BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION,
By YEE TONG FUEY, President.
By GEE KONG SAM, Secretary.

CHINESE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE,
By TOM YOCK, President.
By M. S. YUEN, Secretary.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were received:

THE WHITE HOUSE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 23, 1913.

The President of the Senate, Sacramento, Cal.:

We find it so difficult from this distance to understand fully the situation with regard to the sentiments and circumstances lying back of the pending proposition concerning the ownership of land in the State, that I venture to inquire whether it would be agreeable to the Legislature to have the Secretary of State visit Sacramento for the purpose of counseling with the members of the Legislature and co-operating with them in the framing of a law which would meet the views of the people of the State, and yet leave untouched the international obligations of the United States.

WOODROW WILSON.

RESOLUTION—(OUT OF ORDER).

The following resolution was introduced by Senator Boynton:

WHEREAS, The President of the Senate of the State of California has this day received from the President of the United States the following telegram:

THE WHITE HOUSE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 23, 1913.

The President of the Senate, Sacramento, Cal.:

We find it so difficult from this distance to understand fully the situation with regard to the sentiments and circumstances lying back of the pending proposition concerning the ownership of land in the State, that I venture to inquire whether it would be agreeable to the Legislature to have the Secretary of State visit Sacramento for the purpose of counseling with the members of the Legislature and co-operating with them in the framing of a law which would meet the views of the people of the State, and yet leave untouched the international obligations of the United States.

WOODROW WILSON.

Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That while this Senate respectfully maintains the right of the Legislature of the State of California to legislate on the subject of land ownership within the State, it will be entirely agreeable to this Senate to have the Secretary of State of the United States visit Sacramento for the purposes indicated in the President's telegram; and be it further

Resolved, That in view of the probable early adjournment of the Legislature the Secretary of the Senate be, and he is hereby, instructed to transmit forthwith these resolutions by telegraph to the President.

Senator Wright moved to strike from the resolution the following words:

"While this Senate respectfully maintains the right of the Legislature of the State of California to legislate on the subject of land ownership within the State,".

TIME OF RECESS EXTENDED.

At one o'clock p.m., on motion of Senator Kehoe, the hour of recess was extended until one o'clock and thirty minutes p.m.

Senator Campbell moved to amend the resolution as follows:

After the comma after the word "state," in line 23 of the resolution, insert the following: "under the constitutional guarantees and limitations respecting treaty rights,".

TIME OF RECESS EXTENDED.

At one o'clock and thirty minutes p.m., on motion of Senator Thompson, the hour of recess was extended until two o'clock p.m.

The question being on the amendment of Senator Campbell.

The roll was called and amendment lost by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Campbell, Cobb, Curtis, Grant, Hatfield, Owens, Shepherd, Stephens, and Wright—9.

NOES—Senators Anderson, Ayer, Belshaw, Bryant, Caminetti, Chandler, Cogswell, Cutten, Flint, Gerdes, Gerlach, Hare, Harris, Hayes, Holohan, Jones, Kehoe, Larkins, Lyon, Mott, Regan, Roseberry, Saylor, Strobridge, and Thompson—20.

TIME OF RECESS EXTENDED

At two o'clock p.m., on motion of Senator Thompson, the hour of recess was extended until two o'clock and ten minutes p.m.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution

The roll was called and the resolution adopted by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Anderson, Ayer, Belshaw, Bryant, Caminetti, Chandler, Cogswell, Cutten, Flint, Gerdes, Gerlach, Hare, Harris, Hayes, Holohan, Jones, Kehoe, Larkins, Lyon, Mott, Regan, Roseberry, Saylor, Strobridge, Thompson, and Wright—23.

NOES—Senators Campbell, Cobb, and Curtis—3.

[illegible]

I voted for the amendment to the resolution under consideration because I believe that either all the amendments if adopted would relieve the constitutional objection that should not be made in connection with the resolution and exercise control of Democratic Whips. I voted for the resolution, as the final passage notwithstanding the defect of the amendment because to have voted otherwise would have been representing myself in opposition to the proposed Code of Mr. Perry, the Secretary of State, which I strongly favor.

T. W. H. SHEARER.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Kehoe addressed the Senate on a question of personal privilege.

SPECIAL ORDER RESET

plans as relate to channel excavation, enlargement, rectification and control in the Sacramento river and the construction of weirs; it being the intent of this Act that all work and control in the said stream and the construction of weirs shall remain with the United States and the State of California, concurrently, but this exception does not apply to the San Joaquin river and its tributaries. This Act and every part thereof shall be liberally construed to promote its objects and to carry out its intents and purposes.

SEC. 8. It shall be unlawful for a member of the board to vote upon any contract or other matter in which he may have an interest or share, or for any employee of said board to receive directly or indirectly for his own use or benefit any portion or share of the money or other thing paid under any contract; but having an interest in lands within said drainage district shall not disqualify a member for voting to execute any part of said plans of flood control, or carrying out the objects of this Act.

SEC. 9. The reclamation board shall have its office at the city of Sacramento, and shall elect one of its number as president. The regular meetings of said board shall be held on such dates as shall be fixed by the board, and a majority of the board shall constitute a quorum, but no action of said board shall be effective unless the same shall be concurred in by a majority of the members thereof. Special meetings may be called at any time by the president or by a majority of the members after twelve hours' notice by mail to the members. It shall be the duty of the reclamation board to keep full and correct minutes of all proceedings and transactions of all meetings of the board, which minutes shall be open for public inspection during office hours. Any other meeting of the board, at its office, when all of the members are present, shall be considered a legal meeting at which any business may be transacted. Each member of the board shall receive the necessary expenses incurred by him in the performance of his duties, and twenty dollars for each day attending the meetings of the board, but such per diem shall not exceed one thousand dollars in any one year.

SEC. 10. The reclamation board shall require the owners of any railroad, electric railroad, wire line, wagon road or other structure crossing any of the by-passes or overflow channels herein provided for, to provide and maintain one or more suitable draws or other appliances within any such by-passes or overflow channels to permit the passage of water craft, dredgers or other machines used in the construction of reclamation works and to open said draws or appliances upon reasonable notice given by any person desiring to pass the same. Said draws or appliances shall be located at such points as shall be designated by said board. A failure of the owner of any of said structures to comply with this section shall render such owner liable to any person for the damages caused to such person by such failure.

SEC. 11. Any plan of reclamation, drainage or other improvement that includes or contemplates the construction of any new levee, embankment, canal or other excavation along or near the banks of the said rivers or their tributaries or connected therewith, or upon any lands adjacent thereto or within any of the overflow basins thereof, or upon lands subject to overflow therefrom, must, unless approved by said board prior to the taking effect of this Act, be approved by the reclamation board before such plan shall have been adopted by the trustees of any reclamation, levee, protection or drainage district or by any person, corporation or association. Any such plan shall be void unless first approved by said board, and the construction of any levee, embankment, canal or other works of reclamation at any of the places hereinbefore mentioned, without such approval, is hereby declared to be a public nuisance, and the reclamation board is hereby empowered to prosecute any suit or suits in the name of the people of the State of California for the prevention or abatement of such nuisance. This provision shall not apply to the enlargement of existing levees. No levee, embankment or other structure within any by-pass or overflow channel adopted by said board shall be raised or altered without the permission of the reclamation board, and any person who shall raise or alter any such levee, embankment or other structure without such permission, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 12. The reclamation board shall have power to acquire either within or without the boundaries of the district by purchase, condemnation or by other lawful means in the name of the district, from private persons, corporations, reclamation, swamp land, levee, protection or drainage districts, or other organizations or associations, all lands, rights of way, easements, property or material necessary or requisite for the purpose of by-passes, weirs, cuts, canals, levees, overflow channels and other necessary purposes; to construct, clear and maintain by-passes, levees, canals and overflow channels; to make contracts to indemnify or compensate any owner of land or other property for any injury or damage necessarily caused by the exercise of the powers by this Act conferred, or arising out of the use, taking or damage of any property for any of such purposes; to maintain actions to restrain the doing of any act or thing that may be injurious to any of the works necessary to said plan of flood control or that may interfere with the successful execution of said plan or for damages for injury thereto; to establish a standard of levee construction; to do any and all things necessary or incident to the powers hereby granted or to carry out the objects specified herein; to compel by injunction, the owner or owners of any bridge, trestle, wire line, viaduct, or embankment or other thereafter said assessment list shall be conclusive evidence, except in the suit hereinafter provided that the said assessment has been levied and apportioned according to law. Any person aggrieved by the decision of the board approving said assessment may commence an action against the district in the superior court of the county in which said land or the greater part thereof is situated, to have said assessment modified or annulled. Such action must be commenced within thirty days after the confirmation board has approved such assessment and shall have preference over all civil actions in fixing the time of trial. No objection to said assessment shall be considered by the court unless such objection shall have been made in writing to the confirmation board as hereinbefore prescribed, and, excepting in the action above mentioned, no action or defense shall ever be maintained attacking the said assessment in any respect.

SEC. 14. After such hearing has been had by the board in any county, said assessment list shall be certified by the secretary of the board to be correct, and said list shall be deposited in the office of the county treasurer of said county, and such assessment shall thereafter constitute a lien upon the lands so assessed and shall impart notice to all subsequent purchasers or incumbrancers or other person acquiring any interest in or lien upon said land, and all unpaid assessments shall bear interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum, and shall be paid to the county treasurer in separate installments of such amounts, and at such times, respectively, as the board, from time to time, in its discretion, may, by order entered in its minutes, direct; if any such installment shall remain unpaid at the expiration of thirty days from the date of the order, then said installment shall become delinquent, together with the accrued interest thereon, and ten per cent of the amount of said installment and interest shall be added thereto, and collected for the use of the district; provided, that if an action is pending in any court to have the assessment on any tract of land revised, modified or annulled, as provided herein, such assessment, if not annulled in said action, shall become delinquent thirty days after any judgment rendered therein shall become final. Immediately after the said installment has become delinquent, the board must publish a notice at least once a week for three weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county where the land is situated which notice shall contain a description of the property assessed, the name of the person to whom it is assessed or a statement that it is assessed to unknown owners, if such is the fact, the amount of the delinquent installment, the amount of the interest at the date of delinquency, the amount of the penalty that has been added as above provided, and notice that the property assessed will be sold on a day therein stated, in front of the court house of said county, to pay said installment with accrued interest and the penalty hereinbefore specified. At the time stated in said notice or such other time to which said sale may have been postponed, the board must cause said property to be sold to the highest bidder for gold coin of the United States. Out of the proceeds of said sale the board must pay the amount of said installment with accrued interest thereon and the penalty herein provided for to the county treasurer of such county, and the board must pay to the owner of said property any surplus remaining after such payment to the county treasurer. The board may postpone said sale from time to time by a written notice posted at the place of sale. If no bid is made for said property equal to the amount of said installment, accrued interest and penalty, the district shall become the purchaser, and the said property must be struck off to the district for the amount of said installment, accrued interest and penalty. A certificate of such sale shall be executed by the president of the board to the purchaser or to the district, if the property shall have been struck off to the district, and said certificate of sale shall be recorded in the office of the county recorder of the county in which the land is situated. Any person interested in said property may redeem the same at any time within one year after the date of said sale, by paying to the county treasurer the amount for which said property was sold, and interest on the said sum at the rate of ten per cent per annum from the date of said sale. If no redemption shall be made within said one year, the purchaser, or the district if said property shall have been sold to the district, shall be entitled to a deed executed by the president of said board, after notice to any incumbrancer of said land whose incumbrance is of record, and the right of such incumbrancer to redeem said land shall continue for a period of thirty days after such notice. The effect of such deed shall be to convey said property free of all liens and incumbrances, excepting state, county and municipal taxes, assessments levied or assessed by statutory authority and the unpaid balance of assessments made by said drainage district, which said balance must be called in and collected in the same manner as other assessments; provided, that where property shall have been deeded to the district and shall not have been sold, the same shall not be offered for sale for subsequent installments of assessments so long as the district shall remain the owner of said property, but the board may sell said property at any time at public auction after notice given for the same period and in the same manner as herein provided for sale for delinquent installments, but not for a sum less than all delinquent unpaid installments with accrued interest and penalties, and the deed executed in pursuance of such sale shall convey said property free of all incumbrances, except state, county and other municipal taxes, assessments, levied or assessed by statutory authority and the unpaid balance of said assessments of said drainage district, which balance must be called in and collected in the same manner as other assessments.

SEC. 15. All moneys collected upon sales or otherwise shall be paid to the county treasurer of the county in which the land is situated and said moneys, together with all other moneys collected for the assessment shall be deposited to the credit thereof to the credit of said drainage district in a fund which is hereby created and known as the Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage district fund, excepting the interest of the department from which such money was derived, and which shall be paid upon warrants of the state controller, and the controller is hereby empowered to draw warrants upon said funds whenever duplicate of the assessment herein shall be presented to him, and the state treasurer is hereby directed to pay such warrants; provided, when there is sufficient money in the funds of such drainage district, provided, that all moneys collected from assessments, other than said sale or purchase money of the works of other engineering projects for the improvement from which such moneys were derived, which assessments must be credited respectively to the part that all moneys raised by assessment upon any of the lands included in said drainage district shall be expended only for works of improvement or other expenses incurred in the lands so assessed, and for the payment of warrants issued for the construction of the works and other expenses for which such assessment was levied and such warrant must designate the moneys of the appropriation from which it is to be paid. In case there are two different funds for such purpose, the state treasurer shall endorse on such warrants the fund of appropriation and register the same, and thereafter such warrants shall bear interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum, and must be paid in the order of their presentation. Such warrants must be endorsed as continued in waiting for the payment of money to said district and the period presented for the endorsement of the warrant must not exceed six months to four years from the date thereof. Said warrants shall be received in payment of any assessment for work or expenses for which such warrants were issued. The endorsement hereof must extend the period for payment of said assessment for an additional period of four years upon application of the owner of such warrant. All moneys thus collected and paid to the treasurer of said district for the purpose of any assessment levied by said board upon the property of any municipality, county, city and county, city, town, reclamation district, public district or other public corporation, or of any person, firm or corporation, shall be with reasonable diligence, the reclamation board is hereby empowered to let a contract or contracts for the construction or repair of said levee or the completion thereof, if construction has been previously commenced and the board shall cause an assessment to be levied to pay the cost of such levee, to be assessed upon the lands within said drainage district and apportioned upon the lands directly and indirectly benefited by such levee according to such benefits; said assessment shall be levied, equalized and collected in the same manner as other assessments are levied, equalized and collected pursuant to the provisions of this Act. If in the opinion of the board a case of emergency exists, requiring immediate action to preserve life or property, the board may cause necessary work to be done immediately without giving the notice herein mentioned, and may cause an assessment to be levied as above prescribed to pay the cost thereof, and to pay for any damage that may have been done by the performance of such work.

SEC. 18. Notwithstanding any provision in this Act, any reclamation district, levee district, drainage district or municipal corporation within the said drainage district, now or hereafter existing shall have the right with the permission of the reclamation board to acquire by grant or eminent domain or otherwise, any right of way or other easement included in the plans of the California débris commission, hereinbefore referred to or any amendment thereto or any modification thereof for control of the floods of the Sacramento river or included in any plan for the flood waters of said river adopted by the board, and required by the plans of any such reclamation, levee or drainage district or municipal corporation for the consummation of its purpose as authorized by law, together with the right to construct such levees as may be required to complete any by-pass, and the title to any such right of way or other easement or levees shall be conveyed to the said drainage district upon compensation being made at the actual reasonable cost thereof.

If any reclamation district, levee district, drainage district, municipal corporation, private corporation, association, or person within said drainage district, with the consent of the reclamation board, has provided or left, or shall hereafter provide or leave, any land for a by-pass or waterway for the purpose of complying with the plans, as set out in the report of the California débris commission, referred to in Section 1 of this Act, any amendment thereto, or any modification thereof, or shall hereafter erect any levee or levees along said by-pass or waterway, the said by-pass and levees shall be considered as a part of the work to be done pursuant to the provisions of this Act and proper compensation shall be made for the right of way or easement through such by-pass and for the actual reasonable cost of construction of said levees. When such compensation shall have been made, such reclamation district, levee district, drainage district, municipal corporation, association, private corporation or person shall convey to the said drainage district a perpetual easement in said by-pass and levees for all purposes necessary to accomplish the objects of said report of California débris commission. In the event that any such reclamation district, levee district, drainage district, municipal corporation, private corporation, association, or person shall, with the consent of the reclamation board expend any sum of money in the acquisition of such right of way or other easement, or in the construction of such levees, and shall convey the same to the district, or in the event that it, he or they has or have allowed, or shall allow, any land to be used for the purpose of a by-pass or waterway to comply with the plans of said California débris commission herein referred to, or shall construct levees along any line of any such by-pass, and shall convey a perpetual easement therein to said drainage district, he or they shall have a claim against the said drainage district for the reasonable cost of such right of way or other easement or of such levees, and an assessment shall be levied upon the lands in said drainage district benefited thereby so that the same may be paid, or such cost may be included as one of the items in any assessment that may be levied in the said drainage district.

SEC. 19. The sum of one hundred thousand dollars, in addition to the sums heretofore appropriated, is hereby appropriated for the use of the reclamation board, at least twenty thousand dollars of which shall be used by the board to pay the expenses of the state engineer in carrying out the directions of this Act. The controller is hereby directed to draw warrants upon the state treasurer whenever drafts of the reclamation board are presented to him, and the treasurer is hereby directed to pay said controllers warrants. In the first assessment levied in said district the sum of fifty thousand dollars shall be levied, collected and paid to the state treasurer as reimbursement of one half of the above appropriation.

Committee substitute read and adopted.

Bill read second time, and ordered to print, engrossment and third reading.

Senate Bill No. 1621. An Act to authorize the Controller of State to appoint an inheritance tax attorney and an inheritance tax clerk, fixing their salaries, prescribing their duties, providing for necessary assistants thereto, and making an appropriation therefor; and to repeal an Act entitled "An Act to authorize the Controller of State to appoint an inheritance tax deputy, prescribing his duties and making an appropriation therefor," approved March 20, 1909.

During second reading of the bill, the following committee substitute was offered by the committee:

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE FOR SENATE BILL NO. 1053

An Act to amend the Political Code of the State of California by adding thereto a new section to be known as Section 4Hb, authorizing the appointing of agents or assistants to inheritance tax department and to prescribe the powers, duties and qualifications of such agents or assistants; also amending Section 3785 of said Political Code, relating to inheritance tax clerk and assistant inheritance tax appraisers, and to repeal an act entitled "An Act to authorize the appointing of agents or assistants to the inheritance tax department, prescribing his duties and making an appropriation therefor," approved March 20, 1909.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Political Code of the State of California is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to be numbered Section 4Hb, and to read as follows:

4Hb. The controller shall appoint, subject to the provisions of the civil service law, such agents or assistants as the inheritance tax department, with the approval of the governor, may deem necessary for the purpose of supervising and assisting in the administration of the inheritance or transfer tax laws of this state. Said appointees shall perform such duties, examine such witnesses, and have all the powers with regard to the inheritance or transfer tax cases given to the controller by this act, as the controller may direct. In connection with said inheritance tax department the controller may employ, in addition to other assistants provided for by statute, a chief deputy, whose office shall be in the city of Sacramento, two assistant inheritance tax attorneys, one of whom shall have his office in the city of Los Angeles and the other in the city and county of San Francisco, and an inheritance tax clerk. Said attorneys and said clerk shall be civil service employees. Said chief deputy shall be appointed and removed in the manner provided for the appointment and removal of other deputies of the controller, subject to the approval of the governor. Said chief deputy shall, in addition to other duties prescribed by the controller, have charge of the inheritance tax department of the controller's office, and shall be the chief of the inheritance tax attorneys, and all of said attorneys shall perform such duties as the controller may direct. The said chief deputy and said attorneys shall be learned in the law. The said chief deputy shall receive a salary of three thousand dollars per annum, and said attorneys shall each receive a salary of two thousand four hundred dollars per annum. Said chief deputy and said attorneys shall be entitled to their necessary traveling expenses when traveling on business connected with said department. The said chief deputy shall, under the direction of the controller, have general supervision of said department. He shall have immediate charge of the legal work connected with said department and shall perform such other duties as the controller may direct. Said attorneys shall perform such legal and other services relative to the administration and enforcement of said inheritance or transfer tax laws as the controller may direct, and shall appear for the controller in the superior courts of the various counties in which such cases may be pending, and shall perform such other duties as the controller may direct. The said clerk shall perform such clerical services as may be required of him by the controller in connection with said inheritance tax department. He shall keep a record of all inheritance and transfer tax cases, and proceedings in connection therewith, and of moneys and property received and disbursed on account of any such tax or taxes. He shall make proper entry upon appropriate records of actions and shall perform such other duties as the controller may direct. He shall have his office at the city of Sacramento. The salary of said inheritance tax appraiser shall be three thousand dollars per annum. The salary of each of said deputy inheritance tax appraisers shall be three thousand dollars per annum. The salary of said inheritance tax clerk shall be one thousand eight hundred dollars per annum. Said appraisers and said clerk shall be entitled to their necessary traveling expenses. Said salaries and said expenses shall be paid out of such moneys as may be appropriated by the controller for the use of said inheritance tax department. Out of the moneys so appropriated the controller shall have power to employ and purchase such stenographic books, reports, stationery or printing of every such other reasonable character as he may deem necessary and proper in the conduct of said inheritance tax department.

SEC. 2. An Act entitled "An Act to authorize the controller of state to employ an additional tax deputy, prescribing his duties and making an appropriation therefor," approved March 20, 1909, is hereby repealed.

Committee substitute read and adopted.

Bill read second time, and ordered to print, engrossed and third reading.

CONSIDERATION OF SPECIAL ORDER—(RESUMED).

The following resolution was offered:

By Senator Wright:

Resolved, That Senate Bill No. 905 be and the same is hereby recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Capital, with instructions to strike out of said bill all of paragraphs 51 to 72, inclusive, relating to an inspection department and to recommend to the Senate in lieu thereof a separate and distinct Act creating a department of safety, to read as follows:

AN ACT

To establish and maintain a department of safety in and for the State of California; providing for the appointment of a director of said department and subordinate officers and employees thereof; prescribing their duties, providing for the payment of their salaries and wages, and appropriating money to carry out the provision of the Act.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. A department to be known as the California state bureau of safety is hereby created.

SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of the director, officers and employees hereinafter named to study the causes of industrial accidents, assist employers and employees to eliminate these causes, to report to the governor from time to time the result of their investigations, to make to him recommendations regarding such legislation on the subject as may be deemed advisable and to disseminate knowledge on the subject of accident prevention throughout the State of California. To maintain in the cities of San Francisco and Los Angeles museums of safety and hygiene in which shall be exhibited in operation safety devices and safeguards for the protection of the life, limb and health of employees which in the judgment of the said director are practicable and beneficial. To cause lectures to be delivered illustrated by stereopticon or other views, diagrams or pictures for the information of employers and their employees and the public generally in regard to the causes and prevention of industrial accidents, occupational diseases and related subjects.

SEC. 3. It shall further be the duty of the director, officers and employees hereinafter named to work jointly and co-ordinately with any and all agencies, which are now or which may hereinafter be established or maintained for the purpose of presenting industrial accidents in this state, whether such agencies are operated by private, public or municipal institutions.

Sec. 4. Said department or bureau shall be under the management and control of a director to be appointed by the governor, who shall be a practical safety engineer. The said director shall receive a salary of [$4,000] four thousand dollars per annum, payable in monthly installments. The said director is hereby authorized to appoint not more than four (4) deputies and such additional employees as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act. Each of said deputies shall receive a salary of [$3,000] three thousand dollars ($3,000) per annum, payable monthly. Said director is hereby authorized to employ such additional assistants as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of the Act, whose compensation shall be fixed by the said director, but no such assistant employee shall be paid more than [one hundred dollars ($100)] per month. Said director, officers and employees shall devote their entire time to the services of the State in the performance of the duties required of them under this Act. The said director shall have an office at the principal of the governor and said deputies and employees shall have offices at the pleasure of the said director.

Sec. 5. The said director shall employ legal and medical advisers and assistants with suitable training, necessary office furniture, instruments and other supplies and shall also have authority to issue queries to San Francisco and Los Angeles for the exhibition of said accidents. All expenses incurred pursuant to the provisions of this Act, including necessary traveling and other expenses and disbursements of said director and said other officers and employees shall be paid from the funds appropriated by this Act upon claims thereof to be audited by the board of control.

Sec. 6. The sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) is hereby appropriated to be used in carrying out the provisions of this Act, and the controller is hereby directed to draw his warrant on the general fund from time to time upon approval of the director of the said director and other officers and employees together with all other expenses hereby authorized to be incurred, and the treasurer of the state is hereby directed to pay the same.

SENATOR STRADLEY ON THE FLOOR

At four o'clock and twenty-five minutes p.m. Senator Stradley of the Thirteenth District, in the chair.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL NO. 905—[RECAST]

The second reading of Senate Bill No. 905 was resumed.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution of Senator Wright, to re-refer with instructions to amend.

The roll was called and the resolution refused adoption by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Campbell, Caminetti, Curtin, Gerdes, Lukens, Sharkey, Stradley, Thompson, and Tyrrell—9.

NOES—Senators Anderson, Ballard, Benson, Bennett, Boynton, Brandt, Breed, Bryant, Burnett, Chandler, Cox, Cogswell, Finn, Flint, Hatch, Hayes, Hewitt, Holohan, Inman, Jones, Kehoe, Leahy, Lee, Lewis, Lyon, Mahan, Owens, Rigdon, Roseberry, Rush, Saylor, Shearer, Stetson, Strobridge, Thomasson, and Wright—30.

MOTION TO SUBSTITUTE MINORITY REPORT

Senator Wright moved that the following minority report be substituted for the report of the committee:

MR. PRESIDENT: The following is submitted as a minority report on Senate Bill No. 905, entitled "An Act to amend the penal code of the State of California by creating and defining a liability on the part of employers to compensate their employees, etc."

It is the opinion of the minority of the Committee on Labor and Capital that Senate Bill No. 905 in its present form is unconstitutional and that it violates Section 24 of Article II of the constitution, which provides that every Act shall embrace but one subject, which subject shall be expressed in the title. The title of the Act and the text of the bill deal with three subjects to wit: Compensation to be paid employees by employers in the event of accident, regulation of the fault of either, second the creation of an insurance department on the part of the State of California to insure employees against loss growing out of accidents to employees and, third, the creation of a safety department for the purpose of preventing accidents.

The minority further realizes that many members of the Senate are in favor of compulsory compensation to employees and also of increasing the safety of employees, but do not approve of the State engaging in the business of insurance, and, therefore, the minority recommend that Senate Bill No. 905 be divided into three separate and distinct bills, one dealing with the compensation feature, the other with insurance, and the last with the safety of employees.

In view of the fact that the present bill, however, is likely to pass the Senate, and in order that it may be put in as workable form as possible, the minority recommend the adoption of the following amendments to Senate Bill No. 905:

AMENDMENT No. 1.

Amend title by substituting "an accident fund" for "a state compensation insurance fund", after the word "creating", in line 8.

AMENDMENT No. 2.

Amend Section 1 by substituting "accident fund" for "state compensation insurance fund", in lines 19 and 20, page 2.

AMENDMENT No. 3.

Amend Section 7 by striking out subsection (c) and subsection (d), lines 31 to 37, inclusive, on page 4, and lines 1 to 8, inclusive, on page 5.

AMENDMENT No. 4.

Amend Section 7 (c) by striking out the words "officers, experts, statisticians, actuaries, accountants, inspectors," in lines 9 and 10, on page 5.

AMENDMENT No. 5.

Amend Section 12*a*, page 7, by striking out lines 14 and 15, and substituting the following in lieu thereof:

"(1) Where, at the time of the accident, the employer shall not have filed with the industrial accident commission notice in writing electing not to become subject to the compensation provisions of this Act. Such election, on the part of an employer, shall be made by filing with the industrial accident commission a written statement to the effect that such employer does not accept the provisions of this Act; provided, however, that such election may, at any time, be withdrawn by an employer by filing a written statement with the Industrial Accident Commission to the effect that such employer desires to accept the provisions of this Act."

AMENDMENT No. 6.

Amend Section 12*a*, by adding after the word "such", in line 19, on page 7, the following:

"Where the employer charged with such liability is subject to the provisions of this Act, whether the employer has actual notice thereof or not, and such employee shall not, at the time of entering into his contract of hire, express or implied, with such employer, have given to his employer notice in writing that he elects not to be subject to the provisions of this Act, or, in the event that such contract of hire was made before such employer became subject to the provisions of this Act, such employee shall have given to his employer notice in writing that he elects not to be subject to such provisions, or without giving either of such notices shall have remained in the service of such employer for thirty days after the employer has become subject to the terms of this Act. An employee who has given notice to his employer in writing as aforesaid that he elects not to be subject to the provisions of this Act, may waive such claim by a notice in writing, which shall take effect five days after it is delivered to the employer or his authorized agent."

AMENDMENT No. 7.

Amend Section 12*b* by striking out lines 23 to 36, inclusive, on page 7, and lines 1 and 2, on page 8, and substituting the following in lieu thereof:

"Where such conditions of compensation exist, the right to the recovery of such compensation pursuant to the provisions of this Act shall be the exclusive remedy against the employer for the injury, or death, except that when the injury or death was caused by reason of the intentional or wilful misconduct of the employer, or if such injury or death be so caused by any person regularly entrusted with and exercising the powers of superintendence for such employer, then the amounts of compensation to be paid by the employer shall be doubled."

AMENDMENT No. 8.

Amend Section 12*c*, on page 8, line 3, by adding after the word "passed", in line 5, the following:

"Except, however, in an action against his employer for damages, brought by an employee, who has given such notice to his employer, electing not to be subject to the provisions of this Act, the defendant employer, who is subject to the provisions of this Act, may and shall have the benefit of all defenses known to the common law and all employees, of every grade, of such employer, shall, in such action, be held to be fellow servants of such injured or deceased employee."

AMENDMENT No. 9

Amend Section 15, (b) 2 (c), line 20, page 9, by striking out "fifty" and substituting "fifty". Strike out "five" in line 27, page 9. Substitute "five" for "five" in line 24, page 9. Substitute "fifty" for "fifty" in lines 9, 11, 13, 15, 17, 20, 24, 30 and 32, page 10. Substitute "fifty" for "fifty" in line 29, page 11.

AMENDMENT No. 10

Amend Section 32 by striking out the [illegible] in the [illegible] and [illegible] in lines 14 to 17, inclusive, on page 24.

AMENDMENT No. 11

Amend Section 33 (c) by striking out the following: "or the [illegible] may order the [illegible]" in lines 10 and 11, on page 2.

AMENDMENT No. 12

Amend Section 35 by striking out subsection (b) [illegible]

AMENDMENT No. 13

Amend Sections 36 to 48, inclusive, by striking out [illegible] and substituting the following in lieu thereof:

SEC. 36. Whenever [illegible] and the same are declared [illegible] of industry [illegible] subject to the provisions of this Act, and after [illegible] there [illegible] to this end, [illegible] of not less than [illegible] employees, shall in writing request the [illegible] to [illegible] to be the small [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible] shall [illegible] promptly and [illegible] as such, [illegible] to [illegible] and the [illegible] which shall [illegible] due to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] organization under the provisions of this Act, but the [illegible] and shall dissolve the same to any [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] however, that neither the [illegible] [illegible] nor the State of California shall become in [illegible] or responsible for the payment of [illegible] the compensation [illegible] the provisions of this Act beyond the [illegible] of the funds [illegible] and received by him as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 37. The [illegible] commissioner shall, immediately upon [illegible] the administration of the [illegible] [illegible] of the moneys provided in the preceding section, [illegible] to be known as the [illegible] "accident fund." Into such [illegible] shall [illegible] to be paid all [illegible] of such [illegible] or [illegible] by the [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SEC. 41. The insurance commissioner, annually, on the first day of January or within thirty days thereafter, shall prepare under oath, and file in his office, a statement of the condition of such accident fund on the thirty-first day of December, next preceding, exhibiting therein such facts as may be applicable to the business of operating, maintaining, investigating and disbursing said accident fund, together with such other information as is necessary to reveal the true financial condition of such accident fund and its liabilities.

SEC. 42. Any employer subject to the provisions of Sections 36 to 48, inclusive, of this Act, who has complied with all the rules, regulations and demands of the industrial accident commission and the insurance commissioner may withdraw from said accident fund at the expiration of the period of one year from the date upon which he became subject to the provisions of Sections 36 to 48, inclusive, of this Act: provided, however, that he shall give written notice of such withdrawal to said insurance commissioner at least thirty days before the expiration of such period; and provided, further, that if at the time of such withdrawal liability may exist against such employer for any contribution, premium or assessment as provided in Section 39 hereof, such employer shall either pay into said accident fund such contribution, premium, or assessment in cash, or shall otherwise protect and indemnify said insurance commissioner against such liability in such reasonable manner as he may require. If there be not, at any time, in said accident fund, in cash over and above the unearned premium on undetermined risks, sufficient money for the payment of accrued losses and expenses, said insurance commissioner shall make an assessment for the amount needed to pay such losses and expenses upon the subscribers to said fund liable to assessments therefor, in proportion to their several liabilities. In determining the unearned premium and the accrued losses and expenses for the purpose of Sections 36 to 48, inclusive, of this Act, said insurance commissioner shall be subject to and governed by the provisions of law applicable to stock companies engaged in furnishing and providing insurance against loss under the terms and provisions of this Act.

SEC. 43. Said insurance commissioner shall invest and keep invested the funds in said accident fund, excepting such cash as may be required in the transaction of his business therein, in bonds and other property in the same manner as is provided by the laws of this state, with respect to investment of the funds and properties of companies, stock companies, corporations and other associations engaged in the business of insuring against loss from liability on account of damages obtained for personal injury and against loss on account of the compensation benefits provided for by this Act.

SEC. 44. In case any controversy shall arise between the insurance commissioner and any employer subject to the provisions of Sections 36 to 48, inclusive, of this Act, relative to any rule or regulation adopted by said insurance commissioner, or any decision made by him in respect to the collection, administration and disbursement of such funds, or in case any controversy shall arise between any employer claiming compensation under the provisions of this Act and said insurance commissioner, all such controversies of every kind and nature shall be subject to review by the industrial accident commission in like manner and with the same force and effect in all respects as are claims for compensation under this Act.

SEC. 45. The books, records and payrolls of each employer subject to the provisions of Sections 36 to 48, inclusive, of this Act shall always be open to inspection by the insurance commissioner, or his duly authorized agent or representative, for the purpose of ascertaining the correctness of the amount of the pay roll reported, the number of men employed, and such other information as the commissioner may require in the administration of said fund. Refusal on the part of any such employer to submit said books, records and pay rolls for such inspection shall subject the offending employer to a penalty of fifty dollars for such offense, to be collected by civil action in the name of the insurance commissioner, and paid into the accident fund, and the individual who shall personally give such refusal shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 46. The insurance commissioner shall issue proper receipts for all moneys so collected and received from employers, as aforesaid, and shall take receipts for all sums paid to employees for compensation under the provisions of this Act, and shall keep full and complete records of all business transacted by him in the administration of such funds. He may employ such deputies and assistants and clerical help as may be necessary for the proper administration of said fund and the performance of the duties imposed upon him by the provisions of this Act, and may also remove them. The insurance commissioner and such deputies and assistants shall be entitled to receive their actual and necessary expenses while traveling on the business of the fund, but all such salaries and all expenses so authorized by the provisions of this Act shall be charged to and paid out of said accident fund.

SEC. 47. Disbursements from said accident fund shall be made promptly when due, but only upon warrants approved by the state board of control upon vouchers therefor transmitted to it by the insurance commissioner. (b) 1. If the accident causes disability, a disability indemnity which shall be payable for one week in advance as wages on the fifteenth day after the injured employee leaves work as a result of the injury, and thereafter on the employer's regular payday, but not less frequently than twice in each calendar month, unless otherwise ordered by the commission, subject, however, to the following limitations:

(1) If the period of disability does not last longer than two weeks from the day the employee leaves work as the result of the injury, no disability indemnity whatever shall be recoverable.

(2) If the period of disability lasts longer than two weeks from the day the employee leaves work as the result of the injury, no disability indemnity shall be recoverable for the first two weeks of such disability.

2. The disability indemnity payable shall be as follows:

(1) If the accident causes temporary total disability, sixty-five per cent of the average weekly earnings during the period of such disability;

(2) If the accident causes temporary partial disability, sixty-five per cent of the weekly loss in wages during the period of such disability;

(3) If the temporary disability caused by the accident is at times total and at times partial, the weekly disability indemnity during the periods of each such total or partial disability shall be in accordance with paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subdivision respectively;

(4) Paragraphs (1), (2) and (3) of this subdivision shall be limited as follows: aggregate disability indemnity for a single injury causing temporary disability shall after forty per cent of such weekly earnings during the remainder of life.

[illegible]

be paid during the remainder of life.

[illegible]

taken of the nature of the physical injury or disfigurement, [illegible] and sixty-six cents.

(3) If the deceased employee leaves no person dependent upon him for support, the death benefit shall consist of the reasonable expenses of his burial not exceeding one hundred dollars and such further death benefit as may be provided by law.

(d) Payment of compensation in accordance with the order and direction of the commission shall discharge the employer from all claims therefor.

SEC. 16. (a) Unless compensation is paid or an agreement for its payment made within the time limited in this section for the institution of proceedings for its collection, the right to institute such proceedings shall be wholly barred.

(b) The periods within which proceedings for the collection of compensation may be commenced are as follows:

(1) Proceedings for the collection of the benefit provided by subsection (a) of section fifteen or for the collection of the disability indemnity provided by subsection (b) of said section fifteen must be commenced within six months from the date of the accident, except as otherwise provided in this Act.

(2) Proceedings for the collection of the death benefit provided by subsection (c) of said section fifteen must be commenced within one year from the date of death, and in any event within two hundred forty weeks from the date of the accident, and can only be maintained when it appears that death ensued within one year from the date of the accident, or that the accident causing death also caused disability which continued to the date of the death and for which a disability indemnity was paid, or an agreement for its payment made, or proceedings for its collection commenced within the time limited for the commencement of proceedings for the recovery of the disability indemnity.

(c) The payment of the disability indemnity or death benefit, or any part thereof, or agreement therefor, shall have the effect of extending the period within which proceedings for its collection may be commenced, six months from the date of the agreement or last payment of such disability indemnity or death benefit or any part thereof.

(d) If an injured employee, or in case of his death, one or more of his dependents shall be a minor or incompetent at any time when any right or privilege accrues to such person under the provisions of this Act, a general guardian, appointed by the court or a guardian ad litem or trustee appointed by the commissioner of a commissioner may, on behalf of any such person, claim and exercise any such right or privilege with the same force and effect as if no such disability existed, and no limitation of time provided by this Act shall run against any such minor or incompetent unless and until such guardian or trustee is appointed.

(e) No compensation shall be payable in respect of the death or disability of an employee if his death is caused, or if and so far as his disability is caused, continued, or aggravated by an unreasonable refusal to submit to medical or surgical treatment, the risk of which is, in the opinion of the commission, inconsiderable in view of the seriousness of the injury.

(f) The fact that an employee has suffered a previous disability, or receives compensation therefor, shall not preclude him from compensation for a later injury, or his dependents from compensation for death resulting therefrom, but in determining compensation for the later injury, or death resulting therefrom, his average annual earnings shall be fixed at such sum as will reasonably represent his annual earning capacity at the time of the later injury.

(g) Any payment, allowance or benefit received by the injured employee during the period of his incapacity, or by his dependents in the event of his death, which by the terms of this Act was not then due and payable, or when there is any dispute or question concerning the right to compensation, shall not, in the absence of any agreement, be construed to be an admission of liability for compensation on the part of the employer, or the acceptance thereof as a waiver of any right or claim which the employee or his dependents may have against the employer, but any such payment, allowance or benefit may be taken into account by the commission in fixing the amount of the compensation to be paid.

SEC. 17. (a) The average weekly earnings referred to in section fifteen hereof shall be one fifty-second of the average annual earnings of the employee; in computing such earnings his average annual earnings shall be taken at not less than three hundred and three-three dollars and thirty-three cents, nor at more than one thousand six hundred and sixty-six dollars and sixty-six cents and between said limits shall be arrived at as follows:

(1) If the injured employee has worked in the same employment, whether for the same employer or not, during substantially the whole of the year immediately preceding his injury, his average annual earnings shall consist of three hundred times the average daily earnings, wage or salary which he earned as such employee during the days when so employed.

(2) If the injured employee has not so worked in such employment during substantially the whole of such immediately preceding year, his average annual earnings shall consist of three hundred times the average daily earnings, wages or salary which an employee of the same class, working substantially the whole of such immediately preceding year in the same or a similar kind of employment, in the same or a neighboring place, earned during the days when so employed.

(3) In every case where for any reason the foregoing methods of arriving at the average annual earnings of the injured employee can not reasonably and fairly be [illegible] such [illegible] shall be taken by such [illegible] further [illegible] to the [illegible] of the injured employee, and of other [illegible] of the public at [illegible] [illegible] to the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] was no intention to mislead or prejudice the employer, and that he was not in fact misled or prejudiced thereby.

SEC. 21. (a) Whenever in case of injury the right to compensation under this Act would exist in favor of any employee, he shall, upon the written request of his employer, submit from time to time to examination by a practicing physician who shall be provided and paid for by the employer, and shall likewise submit to examination from time to time by any physician selected by the commission or any member or referee thereof.

(b) The request or order for such examination shall fix a time and place therefor, due regard being had to the convenience of the employee and his physical condition and ability to attend at the time and place fixed. The employee shall be entitled to have a physician provided and paid for by himself present at any such examination. So long as the employee, after such written request of the employer, shall fail or refuse to submit to such examination or shall in any way obstruct the same, his right to begin or maintain any proceeding for the collection of compensation shall be suspended, and if he shall fail or refuse to submit to such examination after direction by the commission, or any member or referee thereof, or shall in any way obstruct the same his right to the weekly indemnity which shall accrue and become payable during the period of such failure, refusal or obstruction, shall be barred. Any physician who shall make or be present at any such examination may be required to testify as to the results thereof.

SEC. 22. Upon filing with the commission by any party in interest of an application in writing stating the general nature of any dispute or controversy concerning compensation, or concerning any right of liability arising out of, or incident thereto, jurisdiction over which is vested by this Act in the commission, a time and place shall be fixed for the hearing thereof, which shall be not less than ten days nor more than forty days after the filing of such application. The person filing such application shall be known as the applicant and the adverse party shall be known as the defendant. A copy of said application, together with a notice of the time and place of hearing thereof, shall forthwith be served upon all adverse parties and may be served either as a summons in a civil action or in the same manner as any other notice that is authorized or required to be served under the provisions of this Act. A notice of the time and place of hearing shall also be served upon the applicant.

SEC. 23. If any defendant desires to disclaim any interest in the subject matter of the claim in controversy, or considers that the application is in any respect inaccurate or incomplete, or desires to bring any fact, paper or document to the attention of the commission as a defense to the claim, or otherwise, he must within five days after the service of the application upon him, file with or mail to the commission his answer setting forth the particulars in which the application is inaccurate or incomplete, and the facts upon which he intends to rely. A copy of such answer must be forthwith served upon all adverse parties.

SEC. 24. (a) No pleadings, other than the application and answer, shall be required. The hearing on the application may be adjourned from time to time and from place to place in the discretion of the commission. Either party shall have the right to be present at any hearing, in person or by attorney or by any other agent, and to present such testimony as shall be pertinent under the pleadings, but the commission may, with or without notice to either party, cause testimony to be taken, or inspection of the premises where the injury occurrred to be made, or the time-books and payroll of the employer to be examined by any commissioner or any referee appointed by the commission, and may from time to time direct any employee claiming compensation to be examined by a regular physician; the testimony so taken and the results of any such inspection or examination to be reported to the commission for its consideration.

(b) The parties to a controversy may stipulate the facts relative thereto in writing and file such stipulation with the commission. The commission may thereupon make its findings and award based upon such stipulation, or may in its discretion set the matter down for hearing and take such further testimony or make such further investigation as may be necessary to enable it to completely determine the matter in controversy.

(b) The commissioner may fix and determine and allow as a part thereof such amount to be paid as compensation.

(c) A reasonable compensation for the legal services pertaining to and under the supervision of mediators shall likewise fixed and determined by the commissioner, and paid by the party or parties to the controversy as he shall direct.

(d) The reasonable expenses incurred by or on behalf of the injured employee and for which the employee is liable under the provisions of subdivision (a) of section [illegible] hereof.

(e) The reasonable funeral expenses of the deceased employee, not to exceed the sum of one hundred dollars.

(f) If notice as required be given to the employer setting forth the person and cause of such injury, and if he be informed of it, the said notice shall be in a form and contain such matters as to such reasonable details to the understanding of the employer and sufficient thereof be the commissioner. The commissioner may in the discretion excuse the absence of such notice or defect and amendment by in good character or the person entitled thereto as a being may be immaterial.

(g) No person or corporation for the legal services or otherwise rendered to persons [illegible] of subdivision (a) hereof, or for the services rendered by attorneys [illegible] and subdivision (b), in excess of a reasonable amount, shall be paid or [illegible] to any person.

(h) A claim for compensation for the injury or death of any employee, or any award or settlement agreed thereto, shall have the same preference and the other essential duties of the employee as is given by law to claims for wages. Such claim upon shall be the entire amount of compensation to be paid and such section shall not impair the rate of any previous award.

SEC. 20. The liabilities of principals and contractors for compensation under this Act, when other than the immediate employer of the injured employee, shall be as follows:

(a) The principal, any general contractor and each intermediate contractor who undertakes to do or contracts with another to do, on or upon them any work, shall be liable to pay to any employee injured while engaged on the contracted [illegible] work, or to his dependents as the case of his death, any compensation which the immediate employer engaged is liable to pay.

(b) The person entitled to such compensation shall have the right to recover the same directly from his immediate employer, but no person shall be entitled to exercise at the same time the recourse provided by the Act against more than one person by reason of the same injury unless prior to the making such other person parties to the original application or to bring a separate application [illegible] hereof. That payment be made on account of such compensation, no matter the proceedings pending or other person shall, in the interest of such payment, be a bar to recovery against the other for any moneys received in such compensation.

(c) Where any person other than the immediate employer shall have paid such compensation for which he would not have been liable independently of this section, he shall succeed to the rights of the employee to recover the full amount or any part from any person primarily liable therefor.

(d) The liability imposed by this section upon such principal, general contractor and intermediate contractor shall be subject to the following limitations:

(1) Such liability shall exist only in cases where the injury occurred on or in or about the premises on which the principal, general contractor or intermediate contractor has undertaken to execute the work or where such premises or ways are otherwise under his control or management.

(2) Such liability shall not exist in the event that the immediate employer, or other person primarily liable for the compensation, shall, previous to the happening of such accident, have taken out, and maintained in full force and effect, compensation insurance with any insurance carrier, covering his full liability for compensation to the injured person or his dependents.

(3) The commission may, in its discretion, order that execution against the principal, general contractor and any intermediate contractor, be stayed until execution against the immediate employer shall be returned unsatisfied.

SEC. 31. The making of a lawful claim against an employer for compensation under this Act for the injury or death of his employee shall operate as an assignment to the employer of any right to recover damages which the injured employee, or his personal representative, or other person, may have against any other party for such injury or death, and such employer shall be subrogated to any such right and may enforce it, in his own name the legal liability of such other party. The amount of compensation paid by the employer, or the amount of compensation to which the injured employee or his dependents is entitled, shall not be admissible in evidence in any action brought to recover damages, but any amount collected by the employer, under the provisions of this section, in excess of the amount paid by the employer, or for which he is liable, shall be held by him for the benefit of the injured employee or other person entitled.

SEC. 32. (a) No contract, rule or regulation shall exempt the employer from liability for the compensation fixed by this Act, but nothing in this Act contained shall be construed as impairing the right of the parties interested to settle, subject to the provisions herein contained, any liability which may be claimed to exist under this Act on account of such injury or death, or as conferring upon the dependents of any injured employee any interest which such employee may not divert by such settlement or for which he, or his estate, shall, in the event of such settlement by him, be accountable to such dependents or any of them.

(b) The compensation herein provided shall be the measure of the responsibility which the employer has assumed for injuries or death that may occur to employees in his employment when subject to the provisions of this Act, and no release of liability or settlement agreement shall be valid unless it provides for the payment of full compensation in accordance with the provisions of this Act or until it shall be approved by the commission.

(c) A copy of any such release or settlement agreement signed by both parties shall forthwith be filed with the commission. When such release or settlement agreement is filed with the commission and approved by it, the commission may of its own motion, or on the application of either party, without notice, enter its award based upon such release or settlement agreement.

(d) Every such release or settlement agreement shall be in writing, duly executed and attested by two disinterested witnesses, and shall specify the date of the accident, the average weekly wages of the employee, determined according to section seventeen hereof, the nature of the disability, whether total or partial, permanent or temporary, the amount paid or due and unpaid to the employee up to the date of the release or agreement or death, as the case may be, and, if any, the amount of the payment or benefits then or thereafter to be made, and the length of time that such payment is to continue. In case of death there shall also be stated in such release or settlement agreement the date of death, the name of the widow, if any, the names and ages of all children, if any, and the names of all other dependents, if any, and whether such dependents be total or partial, and the amount paid or to be paid as a death benefit and to whom such payment is to be made.

SEC. 33. (a) At the time of making its award or at any time thereafter the commission on its own motion, either with or without notice, or upon application of either party with due notice to the other, may in its discretion, commute the compensation payable under this Act to a lump sum, if it appears that such commutation is necessary for the protection of the person entitled thereto, or for the best interest of either party, or that it will avoid undue expense or hardship to either party, or that the employer has sold or otherwise disposed of the greater part of his assets, or is about to do so, or that the employer is not a resident of this state, and the commission may order such compensation paid forthwith or at some future time.

(b) The amount of the commuted payment shall be determined in accordance with the following provisions:

(1) If the accident causes temporary disability, the commission shall estimate the probable duration thereof and the probable amount of the temporary disability indemnity payable therefor in accordance with the provisions of section fifteen hereof and shall fix the lump sum payment at such amount so determined.

(2) If the accident causes permanent disability or death, the commission shall fix the total amount of the permanent disability indemnity or death benefit payable therefor in accordance with the provisions of said section fifteen and shall estimate the present value thereof, assuming interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, disregarding the probability of the beneficiary's death in all cases except where the percentage of permanent disability is such as to entitle the beneficiary to a life-person, and then taking into consideration the probability of the beneficiary's death by estimating the present value of such payments.

(c) The compensation so determined under this Act, and payments determined as hereinafter provided, shall directly to the injured employee or to his dependents, or deposited with any savings bank or trust company authorized to transact business in this state, shall not exceed or deduct the sum of one dollar, having interest at not less than four per cent per annum, to the credit of such person under the same deposited with the state compensation insurance fund. Any such account or deposit together with all interest thereon shall thereafter be held in trust for the interest therein, or to the credit of the depositor, but the depositor may shall have no further control over the account. Payments from such fund when so deposited shall be made by the proper order in the same manner and at the same times as fixed by the order of the commissioner, and with such rate and interest thereon shall be authorized. In the appointment of the proper guardian shall be given to the discretion of the commissioner, to the choice of the injured employee or his dependents. Upon the making of such payments the employer shall present to the commissioner a proper receipt evidencing the same, executed either by the injured employee or his dependents as the case requires, and the commissioner shall thereupon have the authority to prepare from evidence the same and such testimony, upon file with the clerk of the superior court in which any proceeding upon an award may have been entered, shall constitute a satisfaction of such award and shall fully discharge the employer from any further liability on account thereof.

SEC. 34. (a) Nothing in this Act shall affect the organization of any mutual or other insurance company or any existing contract for insurance of the right of the employee to recover in actual compensation, by means or in part, against liability for the compensation provided for in this Act, or to prohibit by mutual or other insurance, or by arrangement with the employee, for the payment to such employee, his dependents, beneficiaries or representatives of such accident or death benefits in addition to the compensation provided for by this Act.

(b) Liability for compensation shall not be enforced or allowed by any contract, consideration or other benefit whatsoever, but it is provided by this section, however, that such compensation, except as otherwise provided in this Act, and the power to contract shall, irrespective of any consideration, or other contract, or otherwise provided in this Act, have the right to recover such compensation against both the employer and in addition thereto any right to redress in his own name, for the matter provided in this Act, either by making the insurance carrier a party to the original application or by filing a separate application, but failure to join insurance carrier a party shall not be a bar to any action against employer for such compensation, provided however, that payment by either of such compensation by either the employer or the insurance company shall, to the extent thereof, be a bar to recovery against the other of the amount so paid and provided further, that as between the employer and the insurance company, payment by either directly to the employee or to the person entitled to compensation, shall be credited to the credit of the insurance carrier between them.

(c) Every contract issued against liability for compensation, or insurance policy or bond, shall contain a clause to the effect that the insurance carrier shall be directly and primarily liable to the employee and in the event of his death, to his dependents, to pay the compensation, if and for which the employer is liable; that, as between the employee and the insurance carrier, the notice to and knowledge of the occurrence of the injury on the part of the employer shall be deemed notice or knowledge, as the case may be, on the part of the insurance carrier; that jurisdiction of the employer shall for the purposes of this Act, be jurisdiction of the insurance carrier and that the insurance carrier shall be bound by and subject to the orders, decisions or awards rendered against the employer under the provisions of this Act.

(d) Such policy must also provide that the employer shall have a first lien upon any amount which shall become owing to the employer by such carrier in the event of the insurance carrier's bankruptcy, and that in case of the legal incapacity or inability of the employer to receive the said amount and pay it over to the employee or his dependents, the said insurance carrier may and shall pay the same directly to the said employee or his dependents, without intervention of the employer to the extent of such payment the obligations of the insurance carrier and such policy shall not contain any provision relieving the insurance carrier from payment when the employer becomes insolvent or is discharged in bankruptcy or otherwise during the period that the policy is in operation or the compensation remains unpaid.

(e) If the employer shall be insured against liability for compensation with any insurance carrier, and if after the happening of any accident such insurance carrier shall cease to be solvent then any person entitled to compensation against such employer or insurance carrier may proceed against the one then in possession, if any, for which the employer is liable and shall be a party of with power with the commission, shall constitute shall thereupon be subrogated to such claimant and the insurance carrier shall succeed against be subrogated in place of the employer to any proceeding theretofore or thereafter instituted by such person to recover such compensation, and the pleadings shall be dismissed therefrom. Such proceeding shall not abate on account of such substitution but shall be continued against such insurance carrier.

2. If at the time of the happening of an accident for which compensation is claimed, or may be claimed, the employer shall be insured against liability for the full amount of compensation payable, or that may become payable, the employer may serve or cause to be served upon any person claiming compensation on account of the happening of such accident and upon the insurance carrier a notice that the insurance carrier has, in its policy contract or otherwise, assumed and agreed to pay the compensation, if any, for which the employer is liable, and may file a copy of such notice with the commission. If it shall thereafter appear to the satisfaction of the commission that the insurance carrier has, through the issuance of its contract of insurance or otherwise, assumed such liability for compensation, such employer shall thereupon be relieved from liability for compensation to such claimant and the insurance carrier shall, after notice, be substituted in place of the employer in any proceeding theretofore or thereafter instituted by such person to recover such compensation, and the employer shall be dismissed therefrom. Such proceeding shall not abate on account of such substitution, but shall be continued against such insurance carrier.

(f) Where any employer is insured against liability for compensation with any insurance carrier and such insurance carrier shall have paid any compensation for which the employer was liable, or shall have assumed the liability of the employer therefor, it shall be subrogated to all the rights and duties of the employer and may enforce any such rights in its own name.

SEC. 35. (a) If any insurance policy shall be issued covering liability for compensation, which policy shall contain any limitation as to the compensation payable, such limitation shall be printed in the body of such policy in boldface type and in addition thereto the words 'limited compensation policy' shall be printed on the top of the policy in bold-faced type not less than eighteen point in size.

(b) No insurance carrier shall insure against the liability of the employer for damages recoverable at law by the injured employee under the optional provisions contained in section twelve hereof, and any insurance carrier liable to any such injured employee for compensation upon the payment of the same shall have the same option given by said section twelve to such employee and shall be fully subrogated to his rights, and may enforce such liability for damages against the employer in its own name, anything in the insurance contract to the contrary notwithstanding."

SEC. 50. Any person who willfully misrepresents any fact in order to obtain insurance at less than the premium rate for such employment or in order to prevent payments out of such fund shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 51. The following persons are not entitled to the benefits of [compensation] insurance of this Act, shall mean as follows [applicable to persons employed by any employer] [as follows]:

(a) The [proper terms of employment] which [must be] [under which] [where] or [or] [or] [or] thereto, where, either temporarily or permanently, any industry, trade, work or business, is carried on, or where any process or operation directly or indirectly related to any industry, trade, work or business, is carried on, and where any person is directly or indirectly employed by another for direct or indirect gain or profit, but shall not include any place where persons are employed solely in farm, dairy, agricultural, viticultural, or horticultural labor, in poultry raising or in household domestic service.

(2) The term 'employment' shall mean and include any trade, work, business, occupation or process of manufacture, or any method of carrying on such trade, work, business, occupation or process of manufacture in which any person may be engaged, except where persons are employed solely in farm, dairy, agricultural, viticultural, or horticultural labor, in poultry raising or in household domestic services.

(3) The term 'employer' shall mean and include every person, firm, voluntary association, corporation, officer, agent, manager, representative or other person having control or custody of any employment, place of employment or of any employee.

(4) The term 'employee' shall mean and include every person who may be required or directed by any employer, in consideration of direct or indirect gain or profit, to engage in any employment, or to go to work or be at any time in any place of employment.

(5) The term 'order' shall mean and include any decision, rule, regulation, direction, requirement or standard of the commission or any other determination arrived at or decision made by such commission under the safety provisions of this Act.

(6) The term 'general order' shall mean and include such order made, under the safety provisions of this Act, as applies generally throughout the state to all persons, employments or places of employment, or all persons, employments or places of employment of a class under the jurisdiction of the commission. All other orders of the commission shall be considered special orders.

(7) The term 'local order' shall mean and include any ordinance, order, rule or determination of any board of supervisors, city council, board of trustees or other governing body of any county, city and county, city or of any school district or other public corporation, or an order or direction of any other public official or board or department upon any matter over which the industrial accident commission has jurisdiction.

(8) The terms 'safe' and 'safety' as applied to an employment or a place of employment shall mean such freedom from danger to the life or safety of employees as the nature of the employment will reasonably permit.

(9) The terms 'safety device' and 'safeguard' shall be given a broad interpretation so as to include any practicable method of mitigating or preventing a specific danger.

SEC. 52. Every employer shall furnish employment which shall be safe for the employees therein and shall furnish a place of employment which shall be safe for employees therein, and shall furnish and use such safety devices and safeguards, and shall adopt and use such practices, means, methods, operations and processes as are reasonably adequate to render such employment and place of employment safe, and shall do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees.

SEC. 53. No employer shall require, permit or suffer any employee to go or be in any employment or place of employment which is not safe, and no such employer shall fail to furnish, provide and use safety devices and safeguards or fail to adopt and use methods and processes reasonably adequate to render such employment and place of employment safe, and no such employer shall fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees, and no such employer shall occupy or maintain any place of employment that is not safe.

SEC. 54. No employer, owner or lessee of any real property in this state shall construct or cause to be constructed any place of employment that is not safe.

SEC. 55. No employee shall remove, displace, damage, destroy or carry off any safety device or safeguard furnished and provided for use in any employment or place of employment, or interfere in any way with the use thereof by any other person, or interfere with the use of any method or process adopted for the protection of any employee in such employment, or place of employment, or fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees.

SEC. 56. The commission is vested with full power and jurisdiction over, and shall have such supervision of, every employment and place of employment in this state as may be necessary adequately to enforce and administer all laws and all lawful orders requiring such employment and place of employment to be safe, and requiring the protection of the life and safety of every employee in such employment or place of employment.

SEC. 57. The commission shall have power, after a hearing had upon its own motion or upon complaint, by general or special orders, rules or regulations, or otherwise:

(11) To declare and prescribe what safety devices, appliances or other means or methods of protection are and shall be used to insure the employment of safety appliances and generally to promote the safety of employees and travelers upon railroads.

(12) To fix and prescribe penalties and to prescribe methods and procedure for recovering the same for the violation of any provision of law, or of any order, rule, or regulation of the commission, and to prescribe the time within which and the manner in which complaints may be made and prosecutions had for violations of law, or of orders, rules, or regulations of the commission.

(13) To do and perform such incidental, supplemental, and ancillary acts and things as may be necessary or proper in the exercise of the powers herein enumerated, or in the discharge of the duties imposed upon it by this Act.

(14) To require the performance of any other duty with which the operation of the Panama Canal or any of the transportation lines connected therewith may be charged.

(15) To investigate and determine the actual value of railroad and other property owned or used by any railroad corporation subject to the provisions of this Act, in whole or in part, as the commission may deem necessary or expedient in the performance of its duties, and to make a record of the physical facts developed by such investigation, and to report the same to Congress from time to time with such recommendations as the commission may deem necessary or expedient.

(16) To investigate, ascertain, and report the value of all lands, rights of way, and other property now held or hereafter acquired by any railroad corporation subject to the provisions of this Act which may be necessary or useful for the purposes of common carriers, the original cost thereof, the cost of improvements thereon and the cost of maintaining the same, and how much has been contributed to the construction thereof by the United States, by States, by municipalities, or by private persons or corporations.

(17) To ascertain and report from time to time the additional property which should be added to the valuation of railroads in order to represent the present value thereof fairly and reasonably, and the additional revenue from operation which will be required to pay a fair return upon such additional value.

(18) To make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 48. That the powers of the commission shall be exercised by the commissioners appointed under the provisions of this Act, and the commissioners shall have an official seal which shall be judicially noticed. Any three commissioners shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, but no commissioner shall participate in the hearing or decision of the commission in any case in which he is interested, or in case he is related to any person or corporation interested therein within such degree as may be prescribed by the commission. The commission shall have an office at the city of Washington, where its principal sessions shall be held, but whenever the convenience of the public or the parties may be promoted or delay or expense prevented thereby, the commission may hold sessions at any other place designated by it. The commission may make such expenditures (including expenditures for rent and personal services at the seat of government and elsewhere, for office supplies, for the purchase, exchange, operation, and repair of motor-propelled passenger-carrying vehicles, for law books, periodicals, and books of reference, for printing and binding, and for the purchase of lawbooks, periodicals, and books of reference authorized by this Act) as may be necessary for the execution of the functions vested in the commission and for the accomplishment of the duties imposed upon it by this Act, and as may be provided for by the appropriations from time to time made for its maintenance. All of the expenditures of the commission, including all expenses of hearings, and all expenses of every character incurred under its direction, shall be allowed and paid upon the presentation of itemized vouchers therefor approved by the chairman of the commission.

SEC. 49. That the commission may conduct its proceedings in such manner as will best conduce to the proper dispatch of business and to the ends of justice. A majority of the commissioners shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, but no commissioner shall participate in any hearing or proceeding in which he has a pecuniary interest. The commission may, from time to time, make or amend such general rules or orders as may be required for the orderly conduct of its business and the performance of its duties. Any commissioner may administer oaths and affirmations and sign subpœnas. Any member of the commission may suspend or debar, for contumacy or misbehavior in its presence, any attorney admitted to practice before it. Process issued by the commission may be served anywhere in the United States. Depositions may be taken in any proceeding or investigation pending before the commission at any place within the United States, in the manner prescribed by law for depositions in actions at law in the courts of the United States. Witnesses whose depositions are taken and the persons taking the same shall severally be entitled to the same fees as are paid for like services in the courts of the United States.

SEC. 50. That the commission may call upon the Attorney General of the United States to prosecute any violations of law or failure or refusal to obey or comply with any order of the commission or with any requirement of this Act, and may call upon the several United States attorneys to prosecute under the direction of the Attorney General any such violations, failures, or refusals in the several districts in which they occur. It shall be the duty of the several United States attorneys to whom the commission may apply to institute the proper suits and proceedings and to represent the commission before the courts, and it shall be the duty of the Attorney General to prosecute all appeals taken by the commission to the Supreme Court of the United States.

SEC. 51. That the commission may employ such attorneys, special agents, examiners, clerks, and other employees as it may find necessary for the proper performance of its duties and as may be provided for by the appropriations from time to time made for its maintenance, and may prescribe their duties and fix their reasonable compensation. The commission may employ and fix the compensation of such special agents, examiners, clerks, and other employees as it may find necessary for the proper performance of its duties, without regard to the provisions of law regulating appointments and compensation in the civil service.

SEC. 52. That the commission may make such expenditures for the purchase of lawbooks and books of reference, and for printing and binding, as may be necessary for the transaction of its business, and all such books and all publications of the commission shall be furnished to the commission at the expense of the United States.

SEC. 53. That the commission shall have an official seal which shall be judicially noticed, and may alter the same at pleasure. Until otherwise ordered by the commission, its principal office shall be in the city of Washington, but any of its powers and jurisdiction may be exercised and all of its duties performed in any part of the United States.

SEC. 54. That the commission shall make an annual report to Congress, copies of which shall be delivered to the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House of Representatives on the first day of December in each year, if Congress be in session, or, if not in session, then to the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House of Representatives of the next session of Congress. Said report shall contain such information and data collected by the commission as may be considered of value in the determination of questions connected with the regulation of commerce, together with such recommendations as to additional legislation relating thereto as the commission may deem necessary, with a view to the enforcement of the provisions of this Act and the promotion of safety of railroad operation for the protection of railroad employees and the public. The commission may also make such recommendations as to additional legislation relating to the issues of stocks and bonds by railroads subject to this Act, and as to the raising of revenue for railroad purposes, as it may deem necessary or expedient.

SEC. 55. That the commission is hereby authorized to employ a secretary, who shall receive a salary at the rate of $5,000 per annum, and a clerk, who shall receive a salary at the rate of $2,000 per annum, and the commission may employ such other clerks, stenographers, and messengers as may be provided for by the appropriations from time to time made for the maintenance of the commission.

SEC. 56. That the commission shall have authority to employ and fix the compensation of such special agents, examiners, clerks, and other employees as it may find necessary for the proper performance of its duties and as may be provided for by the appropriations from time to time made for its maintenance, without regard to the provisions of law regulating appointments and compensation in the civil service.

SEC. 57. That the commission shall have an official seal which shall be judicially noticed, and may alter the same at pleasure. Until otherwise ordered by the commission, its principal office shall be in the city of Washington, but any of its powers and jurisdiction may be exercised and all of its duties performed in any part of the United States.

SEC. 58. That the terms of the three commissioners first appointed under this Act shall begin immediately upon their appointment and qualification, and shall expire, as designated by the President at the time of appointment, one at the end of two years, one at the end of four years, and one at the end of six years from the first day of January in the year in which they are appointed; but their successors shall be appointed for terms of six years, except that any person chosen to fill a vacancy occurring prior to the expiration of the term for which his predecessor was appointed shall be appointed only for the unexpired portion of such term. Not more than two commissioners shall be appointed from the same political party. Not more than one commissioner shall be appointed from any one State. Any commissioner may be removed by the President for inefficiency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office. Any commissioner may be appointed by the President to fill a vacancy caused by the death or removal of a commissioner, and if appointed to fill a vacancy occurring prior to the expiration of the term for which his predecessor was appointed shall be appointed only for the unexpired portion of such term. Any commissioner may be appointed by the President to fill a vacancy caused by the death or removal of a commissioner, and if appointed to fill a vacancy occurring prior to the expiration of the term for which his predecessor was appointed shall be appointed only for the unexpired portion of such term.

SEC. 59. That the commission shall have an official seal which shall be judicially noticed, and may alter the same at pleasure. Until otherwise ordered by the commission, its principal office shall be in the city of Washington, but any of its powers and jurisdiction may be exercised and all of its duties performed in any part of the United States.

SEC. 60. That the commission shall have an official seal which shall be judicially noticed, and may alter the same at pleasure. Until otherwise ordered by the commission, its principal office shall be in the city of Washington, but any of its powers and jurisdiction may be exercised and all of its duties performed in any part of the United States.

SEC. 61. That the commission shall have an official seal which shall be judicially noticed, and may alter the same at pleasure. Until otherwise ordered by the commission, its principal office shall be in the city of Washington, but any of its powers and jurisdiction may be exercised and all of its duties performed in any part of the United States.

SEC. 62. That the commission shall have an official seal which shall be judicially noticed, and may alter the same at pleasure. (2) The term 'employment' shall mean and include any trade, work, business, occupation or process of manufacture, or any method of carrying on such trade, work, business, occupation or process of manufacture in which any person may be engaged, except where persons are employed solely in farm, dairy, agricultural, viticultural or horticultural labor, in poultry or stock raising, or in household domestic service.

(3) The term 'employer' shall mean and include every person, firm, voluntary association, corporation, officer, agent, manager, representative or other person having control or custody of any employment, place of employment or of any employee.

(4) The term 'employee' shall mean and include every person who may be required or directed by any employer, in consideration of direct or indirect gain or profit, to engage in any employment, or to go to work or be at any time in any place of employment.

(5) The term 'order' shall mean and include any decision, rule, regulation, direction, requirement or standard of the commission or any other determination arrived at or decision made by such commission under the safety provisions of this Act.

(6) The term 'general order' shall mean and include such order made, under the safety provisions of this Act, as applies generally throughout the state to all persons, employments or places of employment, or all persons, employments or places of employment of a class under the jurisdiction of the commission. All other orders of the commission shall be considered special orders.

(7) The term 'local order' shall mean and include any ordinance, order, rule or determination of any board of supervisors, city council, board of trustees or other governing body of any county, city and county, city or of any school district or other public corporation, or an order or direction of any other public official or board or department upon any matter over which the industrial accident commission has jurisdiction.

(8) The terms 'safe and safety' as applied to an employment or a place of employment shall mean such freedom from danger to the life or safety of employees as the nature of the employment will reasonably permit.

(9) The terms 'safety device' and 'safeguard' shall be given a broad interpretation so as to include any practicable method of mitigating or preventing a specific danger.

SEC. 52. Every employer shall furnish employment which shall be safe for the employees therein and shall furnish a place of employment which shall be safe for employees therein, and shall furnish and use such safety devices and safeguards, and shall adopt and use such practices, means, methods, operations and processes as are reasonably adequate to render such employment and place of employment safe, and shall do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees.

SEC. 53. No employer shall require, permit or suffer any employee to go or be in any employment or place of employment which is not safe, and no such employer shall fail to furnish, provide and use safety devices and safeguards or fail to adopt and use methods and processes reasonably adequate to render such employment and place of employment safe, and no such employer shall fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees, and no such employer shall occupy or maintain any place of employment that is not safe.

SEC. 54. No employer, owner or lessee of any real property in this state shall construct or cause to be constructed any place of employment that is not safe.

SEC. 55. No employee shall remove, displace, damage, destroy or carry off any safety device or safeguard furnished and provided for use in any employment or place of employment, or interfere in any way with the use thereof by any other person, or interfere with the use of any method or process adopted for the protection of any employee in such employment, or place of employment, or fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees.

SEC. 56. The commission is vested with full power and jurisdiction over, and shall have such supervision of, every employment and place of employment in this state as may be necessary adequately to enforce and administer all laws and all lawful orders requiring such employment and place of employment to be safe, and requiring the protection of the life and safety of every employee in such employment or place of employment.

SEC. 57. The commission shall have power, after a hearing had upon its own motion or upon complaint, by general or special orders, rules or regulations, or otherwise:

(1) To declare and prescribe what safety devices, safeguards or other means or methods of protection are well adapted to render the employees of every employment and place of employment safe as required by law or lawful order.

(2) To fix such reasonable standards and to prescribe, modify and enforce such reasonable orders for the adoption, installation, use, maintenance and operation of safety devices, safeguards and other means or methods of protection, to be as nearly uniform as possible, as may be necessary to carry out all laws and lawful orders relative to the protection of the life and safety of employees in employments and places of employment.

(3) To fix and order such reasonable standards for the construction, repair and maintenance of places of employment as shall render them safe.

(4) To require the performance of any other act which the promoting of the life and safety of employees in employments and places of employment may demand.

(5) To devise and prescribe the general form of individual accident reports, the accidents to be reported and the information to be furnished in connection therewith, and the time within which such reports shall be filed. Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to prevent the commission from requiring supplemental accident reports.

SEC. 58. Upon the filing of a bill and upon the hearing of a petition for the purpose of considering and passing a general safety order or ordering an application by section 9(1) or sub-head (2) of section 63 of this Act, a notice of such hearing to be given

MOTION TO REFER TO SPECIAL COMMITTEE OF ONE.

Senator Gerdes moved to refer Senate Bill No. 122 to Senator Kehoe, as a special committee of one, to amend as follows:

AMENDMENT No. 1.

Amend the title by striking out the period at the end thereof and inserting in lieu thereof a comma and the following: "providing for the filing of rating schedules, the establishment of rating bureaus, defining their powers and method of conducting their business, providing for the supervision of the insurance commissioner over such rating bureaus and rating schedules, prohibiting deviation from such rating schedules and providing a penalty for a violation of the provisions of this Act."

AMENDMENT No. 2.

Amend Section 1 of said Act by adding at the end of said section the following: "Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent a company from becoming a member of or subscribing to a rating bureau operating under and in accordance with the provisions of this Act."

AMENDMENT No. 3.

Amend Section 4 of said Act by striking out the whole of said section and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"SEC. 4. Every fire insurance company authorized to do business in this state must, on or before December 31st, 1913, file in the office of the insurance commissioner a copy of its rating schedule, and all fire insurance companies thereafter authorized shall, before receiving a license to transact the business of fire insurance, file in the office of the insurance commissioner a copy of its rating schedule. All such rating schedules must embrace the formulas for ascertaining the rate charged for fire insurance written on property located in this state and shall contain the basis rate of the class of risk to be rated, and the exposure and deficiency charges, with modification for location, climatic conditions, construction, use, occupancy, improvements, betterments, protection and policy conditions. Such rating schedules and the charges and credits must be in detail and nothing contained therein shall be optional or discretionary with the company or rating bureau filing such rating schedules. Every such company and its agents shall observe such rating schedules so filed and in force and shall not deviate therefrom in making insurance. Amended or corrected rating schedules may be filed at any time but shall not become effective until thirty days after such filing. Any company which shall do a fire insurance business in this state, according to the advisory rates furnished by a rating bureau as provided in the following section, may receive a license to transact the business of fire insurance in this state without filing a rating schedule by filing a written notice in the office of the insurance commissioner of its adoption of such advisory rates."

AMENDMENT No. 4.

Amend Section 5 by striking out the whole of said section and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"SEC. 5. Any person, firm or association, resident of this state, or any domestic corporation, may organize and maintain a rating bureau for the purpose of inspecting and surveying the various municipalities and fire hazards in this state and the means and facilities for preventing, confining and extinguishing fires, and for the purpose of establishing fair and equitable rates for insurance, and to furnish municipalities, owners of properties, insurance companies, agents, solicitors and brokers, advice as to measures to be adopted for the reduction of fire hazards on property within this state and lessening the cost of insurance thereon. The business of conducting a rating bureau in this state shall be conducted without profit to any party except that fair and reasonable compensation shall be paid for all services actually rendered and necessary to the business. The service of such rating bureau shall be available equally and in proportion to the services rendered to any and all insurance companies, agents, brokers and property owners. Every rating bureau, before publishing or furnishing any rates, shall file in the office of the insurance commissioner its rating schedules, embracing the formulas specified in section one of this Act, and shall not deviate therefrom. Amended or corrected rating schedules may be filed in the office of the insurance commissioner by such rating bureau, but the same shall not become effective until thirty days after such filing. Each rating bureau shall keep an accurate record of all services performed by it and of its receipts and disbursements and the same shall be open at any time to the examination and inspection of the insurance commissioner."

AMENDMENT No. 5.

Amend Section 6 by striking out the whole of said section, and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"SEC. 6. To secure uniformity in such rating schedules, it shall be the duty of the insurance commissioner to furnish each company and each rating bureau a classification of risks and table of hazards which shall be used as a basis of such rating schedules. All risks shall be classified by the bureau as provided by the insurance commissioner and the insurance commissioner may refuse to approve the filing any rating schedule upon a different classification or adopt as exceptions any which may permit discrimination in favor of particular properties. No insurer shall use more than one rating schedule in the determination of its rates.

AMENDMENT No. 6

Amend Section 7 of said Act by striking out the whole of said section, and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

SEC. 7. Any rate or change in rate filed hereunder shall be subject to review before the insurance commissioner upon the application of any authorized insurer or other interested party. Upon such application the insurance commissioner shall, if practicable, fix a time and place for hearing which shall be given the insurer making the application or the bureau and shall fix a reasonable time and place for hearing which shall be given the insurer making the application or the bureau if such insurer has adopted the rate of such bureau. Notice of such hearing shall be given to such other parties interested as the insurance commissioner shall in each case direct. Such hearing must be set within ten days after receipt by the commissioner of the application for such hearing unless the applicant consents to a later date. After such hearing and within thirty days after the close thereof the commissioner shall give written notice of his decision to the insurer making the application or the bureau then notice shall also be given to such rating bureau. Notice shall also be given to such other parties interested as the commissioner may in each case direct. Such hearing must be set within ten days after receipt by the commissioner of the application for such hearing unless the applicant consents to a later date. After such hearing and within thirty days after the close thereof the commissioner shall give written notice of his decision to the insurer making the application or the bureau of such action upon the application and rating bureau. At the hearing of such application the questions to be passed upon and determined shall be whether the schedule has been correctly applied to the risk in accordance with the rules of the schedule, including any basis used for making rates in accordance with provisions hereof, whether within the state. If it be found that the rate has not been correctly applied to the risk, or that the rate of schedule filed is discriminatory, the commissioner shall indicate in his order wherein such rate is unreasonable, improper or unjustly schedule discriminatory, and a rate shall be forthwith put into effect by the company or rating bureau as directed in such order and shall meet the requirements thereof specified and as shall comply with the general rate provisions of this Act. Any interested person, company or rating bureau may commence an action in the superior court in the county in which the office of the insurance commissioner is situated against the insurance commissioner for the purpose of reviewing the decision and order pertinent to the controversy. In any such action the court shall have full power to investigate all the facts de novo without regard to the determination previously made by the commissioner. In the trial of such actions all the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure not inconsistent herewith, shall be applicable.

AMENDMENT No. 7

Amend Section 8 by striking out the whole thereof, and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

SEC. 8. Any person, firm or corporation who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this Act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars. Each violation shall be punished as a separate offense. In addition to the punishment prescribed above the insurance commissioner may in his discretion revoke the license of any fire insurance company doing business in this state for violation of any of the provisions of this Act, and no further license shall be issued to such company for a period of one year.

JONES, Chairman.

CONSIDERATION OF BILL—NOTICE OF AMEND

On motion of Senator Jones, the Senate took up for consideration the second reading of Senate Bill No. 1043, and it was

Senate Bill No. 1043—An Act to amend an Act entitled "An Act for the regulation of the practice of medicine and surgery, osteopathy, and other systems or modes of treating the sick or afflicted, in the State of California, and for the appointment of a board of medical examiners in the matter of said regulation," approved March 14, 1907, as amended by a certain Act approved March 19, 1909, as amended by a certain Act approved May 1, 1911, by amending section 20 of said Act by striking out therefrom the provisions heretofore contained therein for the issuance of a certificate to any person who has practiced a system or mode of medicine and surgery for the period of forty-five years, fifteen years of which time shall have been within the State of California, and by inserting therein a further requirement that any applicant to practice medicine and surgery, osteopathy, or other systems or modes of treating the sick or afflicted, whose application to practice shall be subsequent to the first day of January, 1918, shall prove to the satisfaction of the board that, at the time such applicant matriculated with the legally chartered college, the diploma from which he has his application as in said Act provided, he did then possess the requirements as to preliminary education and qualifications in no particular less than those prescribed at such time by the Association of American Medical Colleges for the matriculation of students of colleges which are members of said association.

During second reading of the bill, the following amendments were offered by the committee:

AMENDMENT NO. 1.

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out all after the words "An Act" and insert in lieu thereof the following:

To amend the title of an Act entitled "An Act for the regulation of the practice of medicine and surgery, osteopathy, and other systems or modes of treating the sick or afflicted, in the State of California, and for the appointment of a board of medical examiners in the matter of said regulation," approved March 14, 1907.

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NO. 2.

Strike out all after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof the following:

SECTION 1. The title of an Act entitled "An Act for the regulation of the practice of medicine and surgery, osteopathy, and other systems or modes of treating the sick or afflicted, in the State of California, and for the appointment of a board of medical examiners, in the matter of said regulation," approved March 14, 1907, is hereby amended to read as follows:

An Act to regulate persons licensed to treat diseases, injuries, deformities, or other physical or mental conditions of human beings; to establish a board of medical examiners, to provide for their appointment and prescribe their powers and duties, and to repeal all Acts and parts of Acts inconsistent with this Act.

SEC. 2. A board of medical examiners to consist of nine members, and to be known as the "board of medical examiners of the State of California," is hereby created and established. The governor shall appoint the members of the board, each of whom shall have been a citizen of this state for at least two years next preceding his appointment. Each of the members shall be appointed from among persons who hold licenses under any of the medical practice Acts of this state.

The governor shall fill by appointment all vacancies on the board. The term of office of each member shall be four years; provided, that of the four board appointed, three members shall be appointed for one year, two for two years, two for three years and two for four years, and that thereafter all appointments shall be for four years, except that appointments to fill vacancies shall be for the unexpired term only. No person in any manner owning any interest in any college or institution engaged in medical instruction shall be appointed on the board, nor shall more than one member of the board be appointed from the faculty of any one university, college, or other educational institution. The governor shall have power to remove from office any member of the board for neglect of duty required by this Act, for incompetency, or for unprofessional conduct.

Each member of the board shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, take the constitutional oath of office.

SEC. 3. The board shall be organized on or before the first Tuesday of September, 1913, by electing from its number a president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, who shall hold their respective positions during the pleasure of the board. The board shall hold one meeting annually beginning on the second Tuesday in January in the city of Sacramento and at least two additional meetings annually, one of which shall be held in the city of Los Angeles and the other in the city of San Francisco, with power of adjournment from time to time until its business is concluded; provided, however, that examinations of applicants for certificates may in the discretion of the board, be conducted in any part of the state designated by the board. Special meetings of the board may be held at such time and place as the board may designate. Notice of each regular or special meeting shall be given twice a week for two weeks next preceding each meeting in one daily paper published in the city of San Francisco, one published in the city of Sacramento, and one published in the city of Los Angeles, which notice shall also specify the time and place of holding the examination of applicants. The board shall receive through its secretary applications for certificates provided to be issued under this Act and shall, on or before the first day of January of each year, transmit to the governor a full report of all its proceedings together with a report of its receipts and disbursements. The board shall, on or before the first day of January of each year compile a complete directory, giving the addresses of all persons within the State of California who hold unrevoked licenses to practice under any medical practice Act of the State of California, which license shall in any manner authorize the treatment of human beings for diseases, injuries, deformities, or any other physical or mental conditions. The board is hereby authorized to require said persons to furnish such information as it may deem necessary to enable it to compile the directory. The directory shall contain in addition to the names and addresses of said persons, the names and numbers indicating the title, name or names, school or schools, which such person has attended and from which graduated, the date of issuance of the license, the present residence of said person and a statement of the class of certificate held. The directory shall be prima facie evidence of the right of the person or persons named therein to practice as permitted in said form of license. It shall be the duty of every person holding a license to practice under any medical Act of this state, or who may hereafter be so licensed to practice, to report immediately each and every change of residence, giving both the old and the new address.

SEC. 4. The office of the board shall be in the city of Sacramento and in all legal proceedings against the board said city shall be deemed to be the residence of the members thereof.

SEC. 5. The board may from time to time adopt such rules as may be necessary to enable it to carry into effect the provisions of this Act. Any member of the board may administer oaths in all matters pertaining to the duties of the board, and the board shall have authority to take evidence in any matter cognizable by it. The board shall keep an official record of all its proceedings, a part of which record shall consist of a register of all applicants for certificates under this Act, together with the action of the board upon each application.

SEC. 6. The board is authorized to prosecute all persons guilty of violation of the provisions of this Act. It shall have the power to employ legal counsel for such purpose, and may also employ such clerical assistance as it may deem necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this Act. The board may fix the compensation to be paid for such service and may incur such other expenses as it may deem necessary. It shall also fix the salary of the secretary, not to exceed the sum of eighteen hundred dollars ($1800) per annum, and the sum to be paid to other members of the board, not to exceed ten dollars ($10) per diem each, for each and every day of actual service in the discharge of official duties; and the board may, in its discretion, add to said sum necessary traveling expenses.

SEC. 7. All fees collected on behalf of the board of medical examiners, and all receipts of every kind and nature, shall be reported at the beginning of each month, for the month preceding, to the state controller, and at the same time the entire amount of such collections shall be paid into the state treasury, and shall be credited to a fund to be known as the board of medical examiners' contingent fund, which fund is hereby created. Such contingent fund shall be for the uses of the board of medical examiners and out of it shall be paid all salaries and all other expenses necessarily incurred in carrying into effect the provisions of this Act. An amount not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1000) may be drawn from the contingent fund herein created, to be used as a revolving fund where cash advances are necessary; but expenditures from such revolving fund must be substantiated by vouchers and itemized statements at the end of each fiscal year, or at any other time when demand therefor is made by the board of control.

SEC. 8. Every applicant for a certificate shall pay to the secretary of the board a fee of twenty-five dollars ($25), which shall be paid to the treasurer of the board by and secretary. In case the applicant's credentials are insufficient or in case the board desires to take the examination the fee of ten dollars ($10) shall be required of the candidate at the time of filing credentials and application.

SEC. 9. Every applicant must pay to the board the fee fixed by the board not to exceed twenty dollars ($20) for examination or reexamination, and a diploma issued by some legally organized school approved by the board, and showing that the applicant has attended three courses of study of three separate years, and several courses before that, and has since then been practicing dental dentistry, and is of good moral character, the requirements as stated above have been met at the time of granting such diploma in no degree less than those required under this Act as hereinbefore set forth or satisfactory evidence of having completed such studies, and must also have a diploma stating that he or she passed examination for said diploma and that he or she has been practicing dentistry for a period of not less than three years, and that the same was granted by the regular faculty of said school, and that the said school is in good standing. The said applicant must also present to said board a legal document to such board that he or she is over the age of twenty-one years, and a diploma from a high school or academy, and a certificate from the proper officer of the county in which the applicant resides, showing that such applicant has received a common school education, or information concerning the medical instruction and the preliminary education of applicant as the board may by rule prescribe. No diploma by this section required shall be issued to any person who has not been engaged in the study of dentistry for a period of not less than three years, and shall present to said board at the time of making such application a diploma from an accredited high school, accredited normal school or an accredited academy, together with satisfactory proof that he is the lawful holder of such diploma, and that the same was granted to the regular course of instruction. No fee of any applicant for examination shall be returned. Any person who shall practice dentistry without a license as required by this Act, or who shall obtain or attempt to obtain practice, money or fee, by means of any false representation or pretense, or who shall impersonate any other practitioner of like or similar name, or who shall use in connection with his name any letters, figures or words or any other sign indicating or implying that he is a graduate of dentistry, or that he is a graduate of any school of dentistry, or that he has been in practice for any specific time, which any person using the same does not in fact possess, or who shall in any way or manner represent himself as a graduate of dentistry, or as one practicing dentistry under the laws of this State, who has not received such a diploma as aforesaid, or who shall use any false or forged diploma or certificate or certificate of registration, or who shall make any false statement or give any false information in connection with an application for a license, or who shall practice dentistry under a name other than that which is set forth in the license issued to him, or who shall violate any of the provisions of this Act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50) nor more than two hundred dollars ($200), or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than thirty days nor more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

After January 1, 1914 every applicant for a "Physician and Surgeon" certificate shall, in addition to the foregoing requirements, present to the board satisfactory evidence that before beginning the study of dentistry he has completed the following course of at least two years' preliminary school including physics, chemistry and biology.

SEC. 10. Each license of certificate shall be issued by said board under the seal thereof and signed by the president and secretary. Each certificate issued by the board shall show the name in full of the person to whom it is issued, and shall be numbered in the order in which it is issued, and shall be recorded by the secretary of the board in a book kept for that purpose, and the certificate of registration shall be prima facie evidence of the holder's right to practice dentistry in this State. Every person holding a certificate of registration shall conspicuously display the same in his office or place of business. Whenever any person shall lose his certificate of registration he may obtain a duplicate thereof upon application to the board and payment of a fee of five dollars ($5). Every person who shall change his place of business shall notify the secretary of the board of such change of address within thirty days thereafter. Every person who shall change his name shall notify the secretary of the board of such change of name within thirty days thereafter. Every person who shall change his name shall notify the secretary of the board of such change of name within thirty days thereafter. Every person who shall change his name shall notify the secretary of the board of such change of name within thirty days thereafter.

SEC. 11. Applicants for proper form of certificate shall file satisfactory evidence of having passed [illegible] examination, conducted by the board, a course of instruction covering and including the following minimum requirements, provided that no applicant shall be required to have more than twelve hundred hours of work in any one year:
